Contradictory Testimony Offered In Estes Hearing

Dallas Lawyer Says Wheeler's Story Is False

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of a House subcommittee investigating Billie Sol Estes said Tuesday he would ask the Justice Department to check "diametrically opposed" testimony of two witnesses for possible perjury prosecution.

Chairman L. H. Fountain, D-N. C., made the statement to newsmen after his committee was unable to resolve two versions of what happened at a Sunday morning meeting in Estes' Pecos, Texas, home.

The Senate investigations subcommittee, meanwhile, prepared to start another probe of Estes' tangled get-rich-quick operations. Informed Senate sources said Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman would be among the opening day witnesses.

Difficult Assignment

The assignment Fountain will turn over to hte Justice Department was made difficult by lack of a disinterested witness to the Pecos meeting. The session was attended by Estes, Dallas lawyer Frank Cain and Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., New York.

Cain told the subcommittee on Tuesday that Wheeler "just did not tell the truth" about the meeting. He referred to testimony two weeks ago by Wheeler, whose firm lent Estes more than $5 million.

In that testimony, Wheeler denied ever making "the statement attributed to me by Cain." The statement he referred to was made by Cain originally before a Texas court of inquiry in April. Most of Cain's testimony Tuesday was a repeat of what he told the Texas court.

Point Of Contention

Fountain told reporters that it was "obvious that one or the other is telling falsehoods."

The major point of contention between the two witnesses is Cain's claim that Wheeler offered to use Estes as a consultant in Switzerland "if matters got too bad for Billie Sol . . ."

Cain said Wheeler made the offer and Estes replied "I think Brazil would be better."

Selecting Estes Jury Slow Job

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes' trial on charges he defrauded a farmer of $162,144 slowed Tuesday with questioning of prospective jurors.

The judge ordered a night session.

Of 47 summoned, only 32 prospective jurors remained after preliminary questioning by attorneys.

Dist. Court Judge L. H. Starley dismissed four talesmen after defense attorneys objected to a line of questioning by Dist. Atty. R. B. McGowen.

The defense contended McGowen's questions as to whether the veniremen had heard or read President Kennedy's remarks on the case and Estes' reply were prejudicial.

Estes Monday asked an immediate trial on felony charges that he bilked Thomas A. Bell in liquid fertilizer tank contracts.

Hume Cofer, one of Estes' attorneys, said the defense will show Bell was aware of the fertilizer tanks transaction, and that there was no fraud on the part of Estes.

Lofty Protest

Convict Robert Payne, 29, greets the new day after spending the night atop an 80-foot water tower at the Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh. Payne, serving time for parole violation and facing further terms of 10-24 years, climbed the tower in protest against conditions in the prison's solitary confinement block. Prison officials said they would ignore him until he comes down on his own. Last night, nine more inmates joined Payne on the narrow catwalk. (AP Photofax)

Amendment Drive Opens To Offset Ban On School Prayers

Supreme Court Ruling Denounced

WASHINGTON (AP) —, Amidst an avalanche of bitter criticism of the Supreme Court, members of Congress proposed Tuesday that the Constitution be changed to knock down the tribunal's ban on prayers in public schools.

First to introduce a constitutional amendment to permit schoolroom praying was Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., a Baptist deacon who lists evangelist Billy Graham among his constituents.

A short time later a similar measure was introduced in the Senate by Sens. John Stennis, D-Miss., and A. Willis Robertson, D-Va. Others said they planned to offer such proposals.

Rep. Frank Chelf, R-Ky., said he is sounding out members of the House Judiciary Committee about such a constitutional change and the few members he has talked to are pretty burned up about the court's ruling.

But doubts that a constitutional amendment would get far were expressed by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"The proposition of separation of church and state is so ingrained into our people that I doubt that such an amendment would be adopted. Perhaps there can be some voluntary agreement worked out locally by which prayers could be said in the schools," Dirksen told newsmen.

For a constitutional amendment to become law, it must win two-thirds approval of both the House and Senate and ratification by the state legislatures of three-fourths of the states. The process usually requires years.

Much of the criticism of Monday's 6-1 Supreme Court decision centered on fears about how far-reaching it might be eventually.

Specifically, the decision declared unconstitutional a 22-word prayer prescribed for opening classes in New York's public schools. But the words of Justice Hugo L. Black, speaking for the majority, left no doubt that the ruling would touch schools in many other states.

He said it didn't matter that the prayers were nondenominational and brief or that the pupils could remain silent during the prayer recitals.

One broad question left unanswered was whether a teacher on her own could lead her class in prayer. Some groups viewed the court's ruling as challenging such school practices as Bible reading, reciting the Lord's Prayer, Christmas carols and plays and Easter pageants.

Small Atmospheric Atom Shots In Nevada Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disclosed Tuesday it may explode a few small nuclear devices slightly above or below the surface of the Nevada desert to gain information on their effect upon a large area of dry land.

The Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission, announcing the blasts are under study, emphasized "no firm decision has been made to go forward with these tests."

Those under consideration were described as of very low yields—perhaps the equivalent of 1,000 to 3,000 tons of TNT at the most. The announcement said they would be set off "slightly above ground or at depths shallow enough to form craters."

If above-ground tests are conducted they would be the first atmospheric shots at the AEC's Nevada test site since 1958. Both agencies said all necessary precautions would be taken to hold radiation within established safety levels.

Besides providing the Defense Department information on the blasts' effect on dry land, it was understood consideration is being given to underground tests that would be part of Project Plowshare.

It is designed to provide additional knowledge on the use of atomic explosives for peaceful purposes, possibly in construction.

The United States is currently conducting both underground nuclear testing at Nevada and in the atmosphere in the Johnston and Christmas Island areas of the Pacific. It has announced 38 Nevada underground tests and 22 in the Pacific.

Britain Cool To A-Weapon Partnership

Macmillan Asserts British Deterrent To Be Maintained

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan displayed reserve Tuesday toward Dean Rusk's ideas for a far-reaching nuclear weapons partnership within a strengthened, wider-based Atlantic community.

Britain possesses an independent nuclear deterrent and for the present intends to keep it, Macmillan told the House of Commons.

"What may be the ultimate development of European defense is a matter for consideration in accordance with the changing circumstances," he said.

Adenauer Enthusiastic

This was the latest in a mixed reception accorded the touring U.S. secretary of state on a proposed new political and military strategy which could involve a sharing of nuclear responsibilities between the New World and the old under American leadership.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported enthusiastic. In view of Bonn's postwar pledges to keep out of the nuclear weapons business, he sees a European H-force—multilaterally manufactured, manned and managed — as a container for German ambitions.

Even French President Charles de Gaulle slammed no doors. The word he gave was that when France has developed a nuclear strike force she will be ready to discuss its coordination with her partners. That is expected about 1964.

Financial Problem

Macmillan attempted in his statement to clear up arguments that have developed in British debate over whether this hard-up nation still can afford to finance nuclear weapons production.

He said that in practice the United States and Britain have an understanding in which neither would think of using a nuclear weapon in any part of the world without consulting the other.

"But that does not take away the independent right of both the American government and the British government," he said.

Laos Coalition Not In Harmony

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Rightist-leftist discord showed up openly Tuesday in the coalition government that took office only three days ago to steer Laos to neutrality and unity.

Antagonists were Information Minister Phoumi Vongvichit, a representative of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao; and Deputy Premier Phoumi Nosavan, a conservative holdover from the royal government the coalition succeeded.

The issue was a statement with anti-American overtones issued by Vongvichit at a news conference Sunday.

Explaining policies of the new Cabinet and claiming to speak for it, he denounced the presence of U.S. armed forces in neighboring Thailand as a threat to Laos' peace and security.

"The government of National Union protests against the American troop landings in Thailand," he said.

Phoumi said Vongvichit was speaking strictly on his own.

This troop question "has not been discussed and the government of National Union has never made any protest whatever," he said in an interview with a correspondent of the department's Lao Presse bulletin.

U.S. Warns China Against Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Tuesday the United States has warned Communist China directly that the United States is pledged to defend Nationlist China in the event of a Communist attack.

The warning was delivered Saturday at a meeting in Warsaw between U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan. It was understood that Wang reminded Cabot of Communist China's military alliance with the Soviet Union.

Minimum Wheat Quotas Proclaimed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced "with greatest reluctance" Tuesday a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres for 1963 and a minimum national average price support rate of $1.82 per bushel.

Freeman proclaimed marketing quotas for the 1963 crop for the 10th consecutive year. Marketing quotas are required when the wheat supply is above normal.

The acreage allotment of 55 million acres was the minimum permitted by existing law.

Freeman said he was making the announcement now to comply with existing law in the event that Congress does not enact new wheat legislation so that adequate time will be given to prepare for a marketing quota referendum on 1963-crop wheat prior to July 24.

McClellan, Head Of AGVA Trade Angry Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comedian Joey Adams accused the Senate Investigations subcommittee Tuesday of smearing the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Adams and subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., faced each other in blazing anger at a stormy semiwindup of hearings on alleged involvement of the guild in prostitution rackets.

Adams is president of the guild, an AFL-CIO labor union which bargains collectively for variety entertainers in the United States and Canada.

In their shouting, table-thumping exchange, McClellan accused Adams and the union of failing to protect women dancers from enforced prostitution and other indignities at the hands of hoodlum owners of honky tonk night clubs.

Adams contended the union lacks the power to enforce its labor contract provisions forbidding the practices the subcommittee has denounced.

McClellan said he could hardly believe what Adams was saying.

"I resent that," Adams snapped.

"I don't care what you resent," McClellan said, and charged that, "everybody knows the power of unions" to strike, if necessary, to redress wrongs for their members.

Adams insisted that McClellan was heaping on the union blame for failure of federal, state and local police to do their law enforcement jobs.

"I'm starting with you," McClellan told him. He said a later round of hearings will bring the Treasury and Justice departments, and other government agencies, before the subcommittee to tell what they are doing about nightclub racketeers.

Adams said AGVA and its membership "measure up to the highest standards of decency, morality and patriotism."

Jackie Bright, operating head of the union, said he was amazed to learn that subordinates had turned the other way when girl members needed protection. He announced he is going to try to clean up conditions "or bust," and put in a good word for the striptease profession.

Blast Rips Hole In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — An explosion late Tuesday night ripped a hole in the Communist wall that East German labor brigades have been strengthening in an effort to block refugee escapes to the West.

The blast occurred at Kochstrasse, a few hundred yards from Checkpoint Charlie, the international crossing point into East Berlin.

Police said the blast created a sizable hole in the wall and knocked out more than 20 windows in a nearby West Berlin office building.

Authorities said they did not know who engineered the blast or what type of bomb was used.

Two weeks ago, a similar hole was blown into the wall near Potsdamer Platz, formerly Berlin's busiest intersection.

Congo Reunity Talks Collapse

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Negotiations begun last March for Katanga's reunification with the Congo broke down Tuesday.

Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula parted in discord after a night of futile bargaining. They were served sandwiches and beer during the session.

Tshombe returned to Elisabethville, his secessionist capital. He said he wanted to think things over, but has every intention of meeting again with Adoula sometime, in Leopoldville or elsewhere.

"Much remains to be done," he told newsmen before taking off in a plane of the U.N. Congo Command.

Adoula declared, however, he had proof that Tshombe decided long ago to refuse any accord, no matter what terms were discussed. The premier called on the United Nations for more effective measures to restore unity to the Congo.

French Officials Strive To Bring Peace To Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — French government officials worked tirelessly Tuesday to negotiate peace between Secret Army Organization terrorists and Moslem nationalists at Oran, the last major trouble spot in Algeria.

Officials at the nearby Algerian administrative capital, Rocher Noir, expressed optimism that a deal could be worked out and destruction halted in the west Algerian port city before Moslem-dominated Algeria votes on independence Sunday.

If not, many fear Oran could become the scene of bloody Moslem vengeance on Europeans who stay behind after the self-determination vote.

The negotiations continued as fire fighters fought flames from a spectacular blaze at a dockside fuel dump. The fire was touched off Monday by European terrorists' bombs.

In late afternoon, flames still shot out from the oil reservoir sabotaged by desperate right-wing commandos obeying an order of fugitive ex-Gen. Paul Gardy to turn Oran into scorched earth before independence.

French troops closed the harbpr where the reservoirs are located, but Europeans were assured that mass evacuation by ship to France would be resumed when the flames are under control. The last-ditch terrorism and the fear of Moslem reprisals has brought near panic to Oran's European population.

Authorities estimated three million gallons of fuel were set ablaze in the most spectacular arson attack since the secret army launched its mass destruction campaign last month.

In the city, military loudspeaker vans toured the streets, assuring the population the French army would not abandon Europeans.

18-20 Chinese Divisions, 300 Jets Face Quemoy

By FORREST EDWARDS

QUEMOY (AP) — Communist China in the past three weeks reportedly has poured six to eight new infantry divisions and 120 more jet fighters into a quarter-moon crescent facing this tiny Nationalist fortress only five miles from the Red mainland.

That was the report Tuesday from a top Nationalist commander. He said the Reds now had 18 to 20 infantry divisions, more than 300 fighter planes, and at least 800 artillery pieces massed in the area.

It is a considerably heavier massing of Communist military power than existed before the 1958 crisis, when the Reds pounded Quemoy with half a million high explosive artillery shells in a six-week bombardment, officials say.

Military experts say that bombardment was designed to soften up the Quemoy defenses preparatory to a Red invasion attempt. It failed mainly because, even then, the bulk of the Quemoy defenses were carved out of solid rock. The Communist shells killed or wounded 400 civilians and shattered 3,000 homes but killed only a relatively few military personnel and did little damage to military positions.

This island is in far better position now to withstand an artillery attack and repulse a Red invasion attempt than four years ago.

Headquarters and command posts are imbedded in granite tunnels many feet below the surface. This reporter saw a score of underground storage areas piled high with food, weapons and ammunition. There are hundreds more scattered throughout the 50-square mile island.

Court Order Is Extended For 10 Days

Flight Engineers' Attorney Planning To Appeal New Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge, in a compromise move, extended Tuesday for 10 days a ban against flight engineers striking Pan American World Airways. The original restraint was laid down last Saturday on a temporary basis.

The order signed in Brooklyn federal court by Judge George Rosling had no effect on the engineers' strike against Eastern Air Lines, now in its fourth day.

Daniel Kornblum, attorney for the flight engineers union, said he will appeal Rosling's extension in an effort to clear the way for a renewed walkout of Pan American's 500 engineers. They struck for three hours Saturday before the original restraining order sent them back to work.

Crew Makeup At Issue

The issue in the engineers' deadlock with both Pan American and Eastern is the elimination of one crew position in jet airliners. Crews now number four and the engineers union wants the third cockpit seat for its members when the cutback is made.

The engineers union went into court late in the day, hopeful of an end to the Pan American strike ban. In that event, engineers were poised for an immediate walkout.

On the other hand, Pan American sought a full-fledged injunction that would insure uninterrupted service on the nation's largest overseas airline. It carries four million passengers a year, and the company said a strike would cost it $1 million a day.

Judge Straddles Issue

Judge Rosling deliberately straddled the issue. He explained that he did so because he needed time in an orderly, extensive hearing to take testimony that would aid him in reaching his decision.

He ordered both sides back into court Wednesday when he will hear arguments from Pan American in favor of an antistrike injunction.

When its 575 flight engineers quit work, Eastern closed down operations, making no attempt to obtain a court order against the strike. The shutdown idled 18,000 employes of the nation's third largest air carrier.

The strike against Eastern forced cancellation of 1,424 daily flights on other airlines, but some of the 115 communities served by Eastern were left without commercial air service.

Living Costs Remain Stable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The up-and-down cost changes against the family budget balanced out in May to leave average national living costs unchanged at their peak April level.

The Labor Department announced Tuesday its consumers price index remained at 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the same level as the record set a month earlier.

After-tax earnings of factory workers edged up to a record because of more working time and somewhat higher pay rates. The worker heading a family of four averaged $86.05 a week after federal tax deductions. The prior record was $85.70 last December.

From the Commerce Department came a report saying that business activity rose in May despite somewhat mixed trends of major economic indexes and the month-end tailspin of the stock market.

The department reported employment, income, and industrial output all moving higher and home-building activity picking up strongly.

House Passes Mass Immunization Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sent to the Senate by voice vote Tuesday a bill to set up a three-year program of mass immunization against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. It is backed by $36 million in federal funds.

The program to be administered at the state and community level, emphasizes immunization of children under 5, although persons of all ages would be eligible.

Federal grants based largely on population and need would be given to states to purchase vaccine and pay for planning, promotional and organizational work.

Minimum Wheat Quotas Proclaimed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced "with greatest reluctance" Tuesday a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres for 1963 and a minimum national average price support rate of $1.82 per bushel.

Freeman proclaimed marketing quotas for the 1963 crop for the 10th consecutive year. Marketing quotas are required when the wheat supply is above normal.

The acreage allotment of 55 million acres was the minimum permitted by existing law.

Freeman said he was making the announcement now to comply with existing law in the event that Congress does not enact new wheat legislation so that adequate time will be given to prepare for a marketing quota referendum on 1963-crop wheat prior to July 24.

McClellan, Head Of AGVA Trade Angry Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comedian Joey Adams accused the Senate Investigations subcommittee Tuesday of smearing the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Adams and subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., faced each other in blazing anger at a stormy semiwindup of hearings on alleged involvement of the guild in prostitution rackets.

Adams is president of the guild, an AFL-CIO labor union which bargains collectively for variety entertainers in the United States and Canada.

In their shouting, table-thumping exchange, McClellan accused Adams and the union of failing to protect women dancers from enforced prostitution and other indignities at the hands of hoodlum owners of honky tonk night clubs.

Adams contended the union lacks the power to enforce its labor contract provisions forbidding the practices the subcommittee has denounced.

McClellan said he could hardly believe what Adams was saying.

"I resent that," Adams snapped.

"I don't care what you resent," McClellan said, and charged that, "everybody knows the power of unions" to strike, if necessary, to redress wrongs for their members.

Adams insisted that McClellan was heaping on the union blame for failure of federal, state and local police to do their law enforcement jobs.

"I'm starting with you," McClellan told him. He said a later round of hearings will bring the Treasury and Justice departments, and other government agencies, before the subcommittee to tell what they are doing about nightclub racketeers.

Adams said AGVA and its membership "measure up to the highest standards of decency, morality and patriotism."

Jackie Bright, operating head of the union, said he was amazed to learn that subordinates had turned the other way when girl members needed protection. He announced he is going to try to clean up conditions "or bust," and put in a good word for the striptease profession.

Blast Rips Hole In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — An explosion late Tuesday night ripped a hole in the Communist wall that East German labor brigades have been strengthening in an effort to block refugee escapes to the West.

The blast occurred at Kochstrasse, a few hundred yards from Checkpoint Charlie, the international crossing point into East Berlin.

Police said the blast created a sizable hole in the wall and knocked out more than 20 windows in a nearby West Berlin office building.

Authorities said they did not know who engineered the blast or what type of bomb was used.

Two weeks ago, a similar hole was blown into the wall near Potsdamer Platz, formerly Berlin's busiest intersection.

Congo Reunity Talks Collapse

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Negotiations begun last March for Katanga's reunification with the Congo broke down Tuesday.

Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula parted in discord after a night of futile bargaining. They were served sandwiches and beer during the session.

Tshombe returned to Elisabethville, his secessionist capital. He said he wanted to think things over, but has every intention of meeting again with Adoula sometime, in Leopoldville or elsewhere.

"Much remains to be done," he told newsmen before taking off in a plane of the U.N. Congo Command.

Adoula declared, however, he had proof that Tshombe decided long ago to refuse any accord, no matter what terms were discussed. The premier called on the United Nations for more effective measures to restore unity to the Congo.

French Officials Strive To Bring Peace To Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — French government officials worked tirelessly Tuesday to negotiate peace between Secret Army Organization terrorists and Moslem nationalists at Oran, the last major trouble spot in Algeria.

Officials at the nearby Algerian administrative capital, Rocher Noir, expressed optimism that a deal could be worked out and destruction halted in the west Algerian port city before Moslem-dominated Algeria votes on independence Sunday.

If not, many fear Oran could become the scene of bloody Moslem vengeance on Europeans who stay behind after the self-determination vote.

The negotiations continued as fire fighters fought flames from a spectacular blaze at a dockside fuel dump. The fire was touched off Monday by European terrorists' bombs.

In late afternoon, flames still shot out from the oil reservoir sabotaged by desperate right-wing commandos obeying an order of fugitive ex-Gen. Paul Gardy to turn Oran into scorched earth before independence.

French troops closed the harbpr where the reservoirs are located, but Europeans were assured that mass evacuation by ship to France would be resumed when the flames are under control. The last-ditch terrorism and the fear of Moslem reprisals has brought near panic to Oran's European population.

Authorities estimated three million gallons of fuel were set ablaze in the most spectacular arson attack since the secret army launched its mass destruction campaign last month.

In the city, military loudspeaker vans toured the streets, assuring the population the French army would not abandon Europeans.

18-20 Chinese Divisions, 300 Jets Face Quemoy

By FORREST EDWARDS

QUEMOY (AP) — Communist China in the past three weeks reportedly has poured six to eight new infantry divisions and 120 more jet fighters into a quarter-moon crescent facing this tiny Nationalist fortress only five miles from the Red mainland.

That was the report Tuesday from a top Nationalist commander. He said the Reds now had 18 to 20 infantry divisions, more than 300 fighter planes, and at least 800 artillery pieces massed in the area.

It is a considerably heavier massing of Communist military power than existed before the 1958 crisis, when the Reds pounded Quemoy with half a million high explosive artillery shells in a six-week bombardment, officials say.

Military experts say that bombardment was designed to soften up the Quemoy defenses preparatory to a Red invasion attempt. It failed mainly because, even then, the bulk of the Quemoy defenses were carved out of solid rock. The Communist shells killed or wounded 400 civilians and shattered 3,000 homes but killed only a relatively few military personnel and did little damage to military positions.

This island is in far better position now to withstand an artillery attack and repulse a Red invasion attempt than four years ago.

Headquarters and command posts are imbedded in granite tunnels many feet below the surface. This reporter saw a score of underground storage areas piled high with food, weapons and ammunition. There are hundreds more scattered throughout the 50-square mile island.

Living Costs Remain Stable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The up-and-down cost changes against the family budget balanced out in May to leave average national living costs unchanged at their peak April level.

The Labor Department announced Tuesday its consumers price index remained at 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the same level as the record set a month earlier.

After-tax earnings of factory workers edged up to a record because of more working time and somewhat higher pay rates. The worker heading a family of four averaged $86.05 a week after federal tax deductions. The prior record was $85.70 last December.

From the Commerce Department came a report saying that business activity rose in May despite somewhat mixed trends of major economic indexes and the month-end tailspin of the stock market.

The department reported employment, income, and industrial output all moving higher and home-building activity picking up strongly.

House Passes Mass Immunization Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sent to the Senate by voice vote Tuesday a bill to set up a three-year program of mass immunization against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. It is backed by $36 million in federal funds.

The program to be administered at the state and community level, emphasizes immunization of children under 5, although persons of all ages would be eligible.

Federal grants based largely on population and need would be given to states to purchase vaccine and pay for planning, promotional and organizational work.

Body Organ Bank Goal Of Navy's Researchers

CHICAGO (AP)—The U.S. Navy tissue bank at Bethesda, Md., is investigating methods by which whole body organs can be preserved indefinitely in a deep freeze state.

Lt. Cmdr. R. B. Gresham, director of the tissue bank department, said the primary task and greatest research effort of the bank is the long-term preservation of living tissue, possibly whole organs.

Achievement of this goal would make ready a vast supply of workable material if medical science scores its expected breakthrough in transplanting organs.

Gresham told the annual meeting Tuesday of the American Medical Association the bank has successfully preserved up to eight weeks, live skin, bone marrow, and other living tissue.

The research so far has indicated that slow freezing and rapid thawing rates are the most satisfactory for preserving complicated living cells.

Medical scientists have made slow but steady progress in years of efforts to transplant organs and the technique has been successful on identical twins.

The chief obstacle is the refusal of a living body to accept material different from its own. The transplanted tissue stimulates an antibody response that eventually overpowers and kills it.

Researchers have demonstrated that antibody response can be dulled by various approaches.

The Navy tissue bank, Gresham said, uses freeze-drying to preserve bone, skin, connective tissue, membrane, and cartilage obtained from cadavers. He said this material, which no longer has potential but still has clinical uses, may be stored successfully for more than 10 years.

Various living tissue can be kept alive for a short time when maintained in a nutrient medium a few degrees above freezing, he added.

Officers Renew Stand Favoring Death Penalty

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The Maryland Law Enforcement Officers Association repeated Tuesday its stand in favor of retaining the state's present laws on capital punishment.

The law enforcement officers, at their annual convention, also passed resolutions favoring stiffer penalties for assaults on law officers and advocating the use of seat belts in all automobiles.

Present Maryland laws provide for capital punishment for murder, rape and arson. The law enforcement officers reiterated their stand of previous years, opposing any move to abolish capital punishment.

In calling for legislation to increase penalties for assaulting law officers, association officials said there were more than 400 such assaults in the past year in Baltimore alone.

Surveys show fewer people are keeping written budgets.

Senate Quiz Of Rostow About Document Balked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Tuesday denied senators an opportunity to question Walt W. Rostow about the contents of a disputed policy document which has come under heavy Republican fire.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, who accompanied Rostow to a closed Foreign Relations Committee session lasting more than three hours, invoked the doctrine of executive privilege against disclosure of confidential information.

Rostow is chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff.

Ball said if the committee requested the document, President Kennedy would have to decide whether to make it available.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader, who requested the hearing, told reporters upon emerging that this was just round number one.

"There are spaces to be filled in," Dirksen told newsmen.

However, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., committee chairman, said later that as far as he was concerned the committee had gone into Rostow's views as far as it should.

Dirksen had asked the committee to call Rostow about what he called a "blueprint" of strategy based on the assumption that the Soviet Union is mellowing and that a be-nice-to-Russia policy would bring peace.

While Rostow freely discussed his own views in the lengthy questioning, he was said to have refused to say whether the document itself contained the word "mellowing."

Dirksen said that on the advice of State Department counsel, Abram Chayes, "it was felt that questions relating to the document could not be answered."

Fulbright described the document as one of the working papers being circulated among government agencies. He said he couldn't recall Chayes saying one word during the hearing.

He said he had no intention to ask its submission to the committee.

Fishermen Catch 400 Light Bulbs

PERIGUEUX, France (AP)—Fishermen along a stream near here came up Tuesday with an unusual catch—400 light bulbs.

They came floating down and the fishermen netted them.

The bulbs were turned over to police, who said they were part of the loot from a recent burglary of an electric firm in Perigueux.

News Pictures Sent Across Sea By Cable

LONDON (AP)—News pictures were sent commercially Tuesday for the first time over a new telephone cable circuit linking the general post office in London and Radio Corp. of America in New York.

A news photograph can be transmitted in either direction with consistently good quality. Photos have been sent for years by radio, but sometimes were marred by atmospherics.

Radio will continue in use as a supplementary channel, since the cable's present capacity is limited. The cable system will not be in full operation until faults in the Canada-U.S. leg of the circuit are corrected.

Tawes Sees Only Good In School Prayers

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Tuesday he strongly believed that nothing but good could come from permitting school children to start their day by saying a prayer.

The governor said he was "distressed" to learn of the Supreme Court's ruling that prayer reading in New York state's public schools violated the constitution.

The high court handed down the decision Monday. A 22-word prayer composed by New York school officials was affected by the ruling.

47 Chinese Orphans Will Leave For U.S.

HONG KONG (AP)—A group of 47 Chinese orphans are leaving Hong Kong Wednesday to live with relatives in the United States or to be adopted by American families.

The group is the largest since the orphan replacement program was inaugurated in 1958 by the International Social Services. Apparently the mass exodus of Chinese refugees from the Communist mainland last month gave impetus to the movement by the social welfare organization, which has moved 650 orphans to the United States in the past four years.

None of those leaving by chartered plane was part of the 60,000 May influx, however.

Coast Guard Searching For Boat, Four Aboard

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—The Coast Guard conducted a widespread search by sea and air Tuesday for a Salisbury, Md., family overdue at Chincoteague in their small cabin cruiser since late Monday.

Operator of the boat, The Cindy Gal, was identified as Harry Kambain Sr., of Route 1, Salisbury.

Dow Jones, Inc., Plans $2 Million Maryland Plant

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Dow Jones, Inc., is planning a $2 million building in Montgomery County for production of the eastern edition of the Wall Street Journal and the company's Sunday newspaper, The National Observer, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The plans were outlined to the Montgomery County Council by an attorney for the company.

The plant will be near White Oak, a part of the Washington suburban area.

John W. Neuman, the firm's attorney, made the announcement at a council hearing on abandonment of Stewart Lane, which intersects Route 29 where Dow Jones will build a 35-acre site.

The council then granted Dow Jones' request to abandon the narrow road and build a new one at its own expense.

Approval of the request by the council was the only technicality remaining before Dow Jones takes title to the land from the Contee Co., owners of the Contee Sand and Gravel Co., Newumann said.

Neumann said the new plant will cover about two acres and will employ some 200 persons initially. Most of them will come from Dow Jones' Washington office, where some printing is done now.

Dow Jones will keep the downtown office as the bureau for its two newspapers, Neumann said.

Three-Man Research Submarine Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans for building a self-propelled research submarine capable of taking a three-man crew two miles below the ocean surface were announced Tuesday.

The project, called Deepstar, will be a joint venture of Westinghouse Corp. and undersea explorer Jacques-Yves Cousteau. It is expected to be ready for use late in 1963.

Cousteau already has taken a smaller version of the craft, capable of descending only 1,000 feet, down on 65 dives.

The clam-shaped Deepstar will feature a retractable claw to be used for sampling the ocean floor, retrieving objects and even for welding, Westinghouse officials said.

Reds Build Pillbox On Hitler Bunker

BERLIN (AP) — East German labor brigades Tuesday completed a heavy concrete pillbox on the ruins of Adolf Hitler's old bunker, apparently another part of a fortification in depth of the Communist wall.

The work was completed as West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt declared in a report to the city Parliament that the unbearable wall must go in the interests of peace, and that the order to East German guards to shoot escaping refugees must be revoked.

The newly completed pillbox, with three narrow slits facing westward, stands in the backyard of Hitler's former Reich chancellory. It is about 400 yards from the wall, but commands a wide field of fire toward the border.

Emancipation Proclamation Coming To Md.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The State of New York will lend Maryland the original draft of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation for the commemoration of the Civil War by the tidewater counties beginning Saturday.

The historic document, insured by the Empire State for $1 million, will be received by Gov. Tawes in his Annapolis office at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Accompanying the document will be C. F. Gosnell, New York state librarian, and Enoch Squires, chairman of the New York Civil War Centennial Commission.

Morris L. Radoff, Maryland state archivist, and Park W. T. Loy, chairman of the Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission, will assist Tawes in receiving the proclamation.

The document will be displayed, along with other exhibits of the Civil War era, in the main corridor of the State House.

Many historians say Lincoln drafted the proclamation, which freed some three million slaves, after he visited the battlefield at Antietam in Maryland in late 1862. The proclamation, dated Jan. 1, 1863, declared free the slaves of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

Kambain and his wife and two children left Mare Island, Md., Monday at 8 a. m., headed for Chincoteague by way of the Chesapeake Bay and the inland waterway up the ocean side of Eastern Shore.

Archbishop Shehan, Beall Shocked By Prayer Ruling

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland clergymen and congressmen reacted sharply Tuesday to a Supreme Court ruling against official prayers in public schools.

Both Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan and Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., said they were shocked by the decision.

Beall immediately announced plans to introduce a constitutional amendment permitting prayer in public schools. So did Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, R-Md.

Johnson, of the 1st District, said he feared the ruling would lead to efforts to "delete from our Pledge of Allegiance the portion which says 'one nation under God' and will lead to a marked deterioration of spiritual emphasis in the United States."

Archbishop Shehan said "the action of the court seems to me to be one more step toward the complete secularization of public education in the United States.

"It is bound to have an effect on the whole culture of this nation. It is difficult indeed to reconcile this decision with the court's previous statement 'we are a religious people'."

A similar but not identical case has passed through the Maryland courts and is pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Maryland Court of Appeals, in a case brought by Mrs. Madalyn Murray and her son William J. Murray III, ruled that recitation of the Lord's Prayer in class did not violate the Constitution.

The Supreme Court decision handed down Monday held that a nondenominational prayer approved by representatives of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths in New York violates the Constitution's ban on establishments of religion.

Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan planned to study the full Supreme Court decision before giving an opinion. He did say, however:

"It would be tragic if the state of Maryland . . . should be compelled to forbid its children to bow their heads in humility before the Supreme Being."

Bishop John Wesley Lord, head of the Methodist Church in the District of Columbia and Maryland, criticized the Board of Regents of New York for creating an official prayer.

He also said "the separation of church and state does not require the state to be hostile to religion. But to omit religion conveys the negative suggestion that religion of any kind is unimportant. The Constitution bars indoctrination, but it does not require ignorance."

The Right Rev. Nobel C. Powell, Episcopal bishop of Maryland, said the decision was sobering, thought-provoking and possibly frightening in its implications.

Not all of the reaction in Maryland, however, was against the decision.

The Rev. Irving R. Murray of the First Unitarian Church in Baltimore said he welcomed the decision.

"Religion is cheapened, not sustained, by the tawdry perfunctory attention given it in the public school morning devotions," Murray said.

And Rabbi Samuel Rosenblatt of Beth Tfiloh Congregation and president of the Baltimore Board of Rabbis, said:

"I agree with the decision of the Supreme Court . . . We believe that whatever teaching of religion is done should be done at home."

Workman Injured In House Explosion

ALLEN, Md. (AP) — A 56-year-old Wicomico County man was in critical condition at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury Tuesday after an explosion tore apart a house in which he was working here.

Police identified the victim as Charles Lewis Porter. They said he had been working in the building when something apparently touched off a gas explosion, burning him over 90 per cent of his body.

The house, police said, was still standing, although one entire wall of the two-story frame structure was blown eight feet away and interior walls were blown out.

A minor fire was quickly extinguished.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Premium increases totaling some $725,000 have been approved for some automobile collision and comprehensive policies and will take effect Wednesday.

F. Douglass Sears, state insurance commissioner, said the increases vary according to territory, coverage and type of vehicle, and will apply to insurance written by about 400 companies affiliated with the National Automobile Underwriters Association. He said policies written by large, independent concerns would not be affected by the increases, which will not take effect on existing policies until they come up for renewal.

BALTIMORE (AP) — An essay by a fourth grade student at Fort Garrison Elementary School has resulted in seat belts being installed in 12 school buses.

Edward Dopkins, whose father is president of the Diggs Transportation Co., Inc., said in his essay he would have seat belts installed in all the firm's buses when he took over the company. His father, Michael Dopkin, said his son wouldn't have to wait that long. He said the essay made him realize the immediate need for seat belts and he had already started their installation. He said some 480 belts had been installed at a cost of around $5,000 and that the remainder of his 20 buses would be fitted with them shortly.

FREDERICK (AP) — A summary court-martial has imposed a sentence restricting a Ft. Dietrich soldier to 15 days on the post for dumping a mail bag into a Frederick County stream.

The soldier, Spec. 5 John Petersen of Frederick, was convicted of tossing the bag and its contents into a stream where it was found April 15 by a fisherman. A spokesman at Ft. Dietrich said Petersen told the court he feared the bag would not pass an inspection and hid it in his car. He forgot about it, the spokesman said, then dumped it in the stream when he found it later.

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — The death of a 21-year-old New Jersey man has raised Maryland's traffic death toll for the year to 236, compared with 196 for the same period last year.

The victim, Robert P. Snell, of Haddonfield, N.J., was killed when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Maryland 273 about three miles east of Fair Hill. Two companions in the car were injured slightly in the accident, police said.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Howard McClelland, a 28-year-old escapee from the Maryland House of Correction, was shot eight times during a gun battle with police Monday night.

Authorities said the Baltimore man had escaped from the correctional institution June 19. He had been serving a two-year sentence on a larceny conviction.

The shooting spree started when Police attempted to apprehend McClelland on a Philadelphia street. The victim was admitted to Philadelphia General Hospital in satisfactory condition.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal aid in developing disease-resistant strains of oysters has been proposed by Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.

Boggs asked a Senate Commerce subcommittee to authorize an amendment on a House-passed bill which would give the secretary of the interior power to acquire and distribute such oysters to states paying one-third of the cost. Under the proposed amendment, an appropriation of $500,000 for grants to states on a 2 for 1 matching basis would be made available, with Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia being the principal beneficiaries.

Rain Adequate For Md. Crops

By The Associated Press

The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting service says soil moisture supplies in Western Maryland last week generally were adequate.

Exceptions, said the service, were in the Hancock area and a few other dry spots in Washington County.

Rain caught many fields of hay on the ground in north Central and Western Maryland last week, but in the mountain counties first cuttings of alfalfa were nearly two-thirds completed by June 23.

East of the mountains, 10 to 20 per cent of the alfalfa has been cut a second time and 10 to 15 per cent of the barley harvest had been cut by the end of the week.

The wheat harvest was expected to begin in parts of Western Maryland by the end of June and the service reports that some smut has been reported in Frederick County.

The measure is co-sponsored by Reps. John Dowdy, D-Tex., and Carroll D. Kearns, R-Pa. Congress is the governing body of the District.

Kearns said the hours selected were the peak viewing hours for children.

Mr. And Mrs. R. J. Roach To Mark 65th Anniversary

Open House To Be Today

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Joseph Roach will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary with an open house today at their home, 24 Massachusetts Avenue. It will be held all day, and friends and relatives will be welcome.

The former Miss Emma Florence Whitmire, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David M. Whitmire, Rio, W. Va., became the bride of Mr. Roach, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Scott Roach, Wardensville, W. Va., June 27, 1897.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride with Rev. James Reynolds, United Brethren minister, officiating. The bride was 15 years old and and bridegroom was married the day before his 20th birthday. His family had moved to Virginia when he was seven years old, but returned to Wardensville when he was 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach are the parents of four children, Mrs. Agnes Linn, Mrs. Bessie Burke, Enoch Joseph Roach, all of Cumberland and David Lee Roach of Covington, Va. They have 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Employed as a conductor by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Mr. Roach and his family moved to Cumberland in 1910. Since his retirement his hobbies are gardening and raising chickens. Mrs. Roach's hobby is her housekeeping.

Holy Cross Vicar Is Honored

Members of Holy Cross Episcopal Church honored Rev. William J. Cox and his family with a reception, marking his five years as vicar there. It was held in the parish hall Monday evening.

A program was presented by Miss Kay Bartik, John Goss, Mrs. James Edminston, Mrs. Harry Goss, Mrs. John Bowles, and Mrs. Bernard Wolford with Mr. Harry Goss as master of ceremonies.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hugh Bartik, Mrs. Amos Perdew and Miss Eulah McMakin.

The table was decorated with five candles centered around a floral arrangement by Prentice White. Each candle represented a year that Father Cox has been at Holy Cross Church.

100 attended.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Carole Lee Robison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robison, Keyser, to Louis Thomas E'Nama, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E'Nama, Hatboro, Pa., has been announced.

The ceremony was performed June 2 in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church by Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM., Cap. Miss Carole Hardesty, Keyser; and Robert E'Nama were the attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Keyser High School and Potomac State College. She is employed as a secretary at West Virginia University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cardinal Dougherty High School of Hatboro, and attended Potomac State College. This fall he will continue his studies at West Virginia University.

A New Touch

Instead of the usual central flower arrangement on a buffet, console or chest, flank a mirror or picture on the wall with a pair of candy dishes or crystal compotes filled with flowers. Or, try centering a silver coffee service between a pair of silver nut dishes with low dainty flower arrangements in one or more colors, says the Society of American Florists. You'll be pleasantly surprised by the results.

The American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters have invested more than 65 million dollars in research since reorganization as a national voluntary health agency in 1948.

Society To Sponsor Barbecue

A life membership committee was appointed at the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Church held Friday evening at the church, at which time Mrs. Catherine Purnell assumed her duties as president. The committee consists of Mrs. Lester Rice, Mrs. Edith Nield and Mrs. Selma Gillum. Mrs. Nield thanked the society for her life membership pin.

It was announced that the society will serve lunch at the Summerlot sale, which is to be held on Bedford Road Saturday.

Plans also were made to have a chicken barbecue on the church lawn August 4.

Cards were distributed concerning the Union Grove camp meeting at the Union Grove camp ground July 12-22. Rev. E. Drew Colcott will be the evangelist.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Kyle Sawyers, using as her subject, "Lo I Am With You Always." She also read the Scripture. Mrs. Helen White read an article, "Can I Help Handicapped Persons?" Mrs. Robert Heavner spoke on the subject, "What Can I Do For The Church, based on Membership Vows, when Taken Into the Church?" The group sang, "In the Service of the King." Routine reports were given by Mrs. John Hardinger, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Douglas Heavner. It was reported that 41 sick calls were made.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Purnell and Mrs. Nancy Growden. Fifteen members attended.

Contest Winners Announced

Two contests featured the quarterly dance of the Friendship Club of Memorial Hospital, held Monday evening at the Corriganville fire hall.

Absentee Plant Care

If you're going away on a "quickie" vacation, or trip, for four or five days, here's how you can let your house plants take care of themselves and stay healthy while you're gone. The Society of American Florists says to place all plants on thoroughly soaked bath towels in the bath, kitchen sink or laundry tub exposed to some light but not direct sunlight. Then set the water faucet so that one drop of water will fall every few seconds on the bath towels. The towels will conduct the moisture to the plant's soil, keeping plants in good condition until you return.

Strokes are no longer hopeless, your Heart Association of Maryland says. Invalidism resulting from strokes can be reduced or prevented through prompt treatment and rehabilitation.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Clever Cover-up For Broken Veins

Broken veins can mar even the loveliest of complexions; and, although we know of no cure at this time, the skillful use of cosmetics can alleviate both the veined effect and the unnatural flush that they cause, toning them down to the vanishing point. It is important to practice the technique of application until you perfect it so note each step carefully:

After cleansing your face, apply an opaque type of powder base in a shade that matches your normal skin coloring. Be sparing in the amount you use and smooth it on so evenly that no line of demarcation can be seen at the chin, ears and hairline. If one application is insufficient, apply a second after the first has had time to set. But never try to get coverage with one heavy layer of base or the result is sure to look false. Any veins that refuse to be screened out after this careful application will yield to the artful use of a lipstick brush and some rouge. Using a very light tint of either cream or fluid rouge, fill in the spaces between the veins. Use great care to avoid touching the veins themselves with rouge as that would defeat your purpose.

Allow this application to set for at least ten minutes. Then spread a layer of tissue over the entire face like a mask and with light pressure, firm it against the whole surface. Now peel it off from the top downward.

Next, lavishly press on powder and let it set before removing any excess with light downward strokes of a clean cotton ball. Lastly, take a good look in the mirror. The effect will put to flight any vestige of self-consciousness you may have had over your difficulty.

To prevent any spread of the problem, avoid the use of both hot water and ice on your face. Seek the advice of a doctor before employing facials or massage. Always handle your skin with a feather touch.

The double ring ceremony was performed June 15 by Rev. Dennis Lord of the Grace Methodist Church, Barton. Miss Judy Custer, Keyser; Harry Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Michaels, Westernport, were the attendants.

Two Rooms From One

In modern homes, you can achieve the effect of two rooms from one by using an open shelf room divider, the Society of American Florists points out. It can be used to separate living and dining areas, or to provide a foyer area near the entrance door. Filled with growing green plants, these dividers give the effect of a wall. They not only permit ample air circulation but are pretty to look at from either side. Green plants always are a harmoniously element in any room plan, because green is a great blender in color schemes, SAF says.

Bringing Up Baby®
HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5
Second baby in the house? Here's an interesting idea from a clever mother to curb toddler jealousy. She hit upon the idea of showing off baby #1 to baby #2 instead of vice versa. By telling the baby all about big brother, it made the older child feel important and baby enjoyed being talked to. Worked wonders, claims the mother.
•
Babes in arms or toddlers need the "helping hand" of body-building protein. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are good sources of this important nutrient. Only selected Armour cuts are used. Special processing removes most of the fat, so digestibility is assured. All are pure meat, with just enough broth left in to give a wonderfully smooth, moist texture.
•
Important P. S. Meat protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues.
•
Sign of summer. Prickly heat is one of those minor nuisances that sometimes plague wee ones. Ways to prevent or relieve the rash:
• Baby powder keeps baby dry, helps foil prickly heat.
• Brushing hair upward helps prevent it at nape of neck.
• A couple of tablespoons of baking soda in baby's bath, soothes irritation if baby does get a rash.
•
Sandman story. Baby's room will be cooler for his afternoon nap if you shade it against strong morning sun.
•

Mr. And Mrs. R. J. Roach To Mark 65th Anniversary

Open House To Be Today

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Joseph Roach will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary with an open house today at their home, 24 Massachusetts Avenue. It will be held all day, and friends and relatives will be welcome.

The former Miss Emma Florence Whitmire, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David M. Whitmire, Rio, W. Va., became the bride of Mr. Roach, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Scott Roach, Wardensville, W. Va., June 27, 1897.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride with Rev. James Reynolds, United Brethren minister, officiating. The bride was 15 years old and and bridegroom was married the day before his 20th birthday. His family had moved to Virginia when he was seven years old, but returned to Wardensville when he was 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach are the parents of four children, Mrs. Agnes Linn, Mrs. Bessie Burke, Enoch Joseph Roach, all of Cumberland and David Lee Roach of Covington, Va. They have 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Employed as a conductor by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Mr. Roach and his family moved to Cumberland in 1910. Since his retirement his hobbies are gardening and raising chickens. Mrs. Roach's hobby is her housekeeping.

Holy Cross Vicar Is Honored

Members of Holy Cross Episcopal Church honored Rev. William J. Cox and his family with a reception, marking his five years as vicar there. It was held in the parish hall Monday evening.

A program was presented by Miss Kay Bartik, John Goss, Mrs. James Edminston, Mrs. Harry Goss, Mrs. John Bowles, and Mrs. Bernard Wolford with Mr. Harry Goss as master of ceremonies.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hugh Bartik, Mrs. Amos Perdew and Miss Eulah McMakin.

The table was decorated with five candles centered around a floral arrangement by Prentice White. Each candle represented a year that Father Cox has been at Holy Cross Church.

100 attended.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Carole Lee Robison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robison, Keyser, to Louis Thomas E'Nama, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E'Nama, Hatboro, Pa., has been announced.

The ceremony was performed June 2 in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church by Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM., Cap. Miss Carole Hardesty, Keyser; and Robert E'Nama were the attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Keyser High School and Potomac State College. She is employed as a secretary at West Virginia University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cardinal Dougherty High School of Hatboro, and attended Potomac State College. This fall he will continue his studies at West Virginia University.

A New Touch

Instead of the usual central flower arrangement on a buffet, console or chest, flank a mirror or picture on the wall with a pair of candy dishes or crystal compotes filled with flowers. Or, try centering a silver coffee service between a pair of silver nut dishes with low dainty flower arrangements in one or more colors, says the Society of American Florists. You'll be pleasantly surprised by the results.

The American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters have invested more than 65 million dollars in research since reorganization as a national voluntary health agency in 1948.

Society To Sponsor Barbecue

A life membership committee was appointed at the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Church held Friday evening at the church, at which time Mrs. Catherine Purnell assumed her duties as president. Cards were distributed concerning the Union Grove camp meeting at the Union Grove camp ground July 12-22. Rev. E. Drew Colcott will be the evangelist.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Kyle Sawyers, using as her subject, "Lo I Am With You Always." She also read the Scripture. Mrs. Helen White read an article, "Can I Help Handicapped Persons?" Mrs. Robert Heavner spoke on the subject, "What Can I Do For The Church, based on Membership Vows, when Taken Into the Church?" The group sang, "In the Service of the King." Routine reports were given by Mrs. John Hardinger, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Douglas Heavner. It was reported that 41 sick calls were made.

Using a very light tint of either cream or fluid rouge, fill in the spaces between the veins. Use great care to avoid touching the veins themselves with rouge as that would defeat your purpose.

Allow this application to set for at least ten minutes. Then spread a layer of tissue over the entire face like a mask and with light pressure, firm it against the whole surface. Now peel it off from the top downward.

Next, lavishly press on powder and let it set before removing any excess with light downward strokes of a clean cotton ball. Lastly, take a good look in the mirror. The effect will put to flight any vestige of self-consciousness you may have had over your difficulty.

To prevent any spread of the problem, avoid the use of both hot water and ice on your face. Seek the advice of a doctor before employing facials or massage. Always handle your skin with a feather touch.

Two Rooms From One

In modern homes, you can achieve the effect of two rooms from one by using an open shelf room divider, the Society of American Florists points out. It can be used to separate living and dining areas, or to provide a foyer area near the entrance door. Filled with growing green plants, these dividers give the effect of a wall. They not only permit ample air circulation but are pretty to look at from either side. Green plants always are a harmoniously element in any room plan, because green is a great blender in color schemes, SAF says.

Bringing Up Baby®
HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5
Second baby in the house? Here's an interesting idea from a clever mother to curb toddler jealousy. She hit upon the idea of showing off baby #1 to baby #2 instead of vice versa. By telling the baby all about big brother, it made the older child feel important and baby enjoyed being talked to. Worked wonders, claims the mother.
• Babes in arms or toddlers need the "helping hand" of body-building protein. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are good sources of this important nutrient. Only selected Armour cuts are used. Special processing removes most of the fat, so digestibility is assured. All are pure meat, with just enough broth left in to give a wonderfully smooth, moist texture.
• Important P. S. Meat protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues. ARMOUR
• Sign of summer. Prickly heat is one of those minor nuisances that sometimes plague wee ones. Ways to prevent or relieve the rash:
• Baby powder keeps baby dry, helps foil prickly heat.
• Brushing hair upward helps prevent it at nape of neck.
• A couple of tablespoons of baking soda in baby's bath, soothes irritation if baby does get a rash.
• Sandman story. Baby's room will be cooler for his afternoon nap if you shade it against strong morning sun.
• More on meat protein in another palatable form. Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners boast heaps of juicy meat blended with tasty garden vegetables for good protein content and unusual flavor interest. Beef, Veal, Chicken, Turkey and the new Strained Ham. Try one, try all and watch your baby's appetite rise to the occasion. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union Carbide Chemicals Co., a division of Union Carbide Corp., Monday announced plans to build new facilities at its Institute, W. Va., plant. The new construction will triple the present capacity to produce acrylic acid and esters, the company said.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ratio of paper production to mill capacity in the United States dropped to 91.9 per cent in the week ended June 16 from 93.1 per cent a week earlier and compared with 89.5 per cent in the same week last year, the American Pulp & Paper Association reported Monday. The National Paperboard Association reported the ratio of paperboard production at 98 per cent compared with 94 per cent in the prior week and 92 per cent in the same 1961 week.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last time you or a member of your family stayed in a hospital, the experience was rather typical if you waited — a little or a lot — for a nurse to answer your buzzer.

The nurse, to be sure, was busy But you got the impression she was only in the room for a moment and left a little too hurriedly.

In the front office, hospital administrators are aware of the situation. In many hospitals, not all budgeted positions for nurses are filled. The vacancies exist — but the hospital can't close down wings because of them.

The hospitals just must do the best they can — spreading the nursing staff thin on occasion.

One facet of the nursing situation concerns the poor utilization of the existing supply of nurses.

Should a registered nurse take temperatures, weigh patients, write prescriptions as dictated by doctors, remain in the examining room while the physician examines a female patient?

Should she serve food, run errands to central supply, storerooms, clean such areas as utility rooms, clean water pitchers, distribute linen?

In a diagnosis of the nursing shortage, Dr. Samuel J. Gelman and Joseph B. Smolens, raised these questions — nothing that surveys have shown registered nurses assigned to such tasks.

Smolens, who holds a master of science degree in hospital administration, and Dr. Gelman are assistant and associate directors, respectively, of the Hospital for Joint Diseases in New York.

Reporting in "Modern Hospital," a journal for hospital administrators, the two experts said some of the jobs now assigned to nurses in out-patient departments could be performed by a mature, intelligent woman without an R.N. degree — but with training.

This approach would release the R.N. for the more important and dynamic aspects of nursing — including, of course, the post at the bedside of the patient desperately ill.

"In this regard," the authors said, "we are not advocating replacement of the nurse completely.

"It has been shown, however, that the majority of women who are employed by physicians as secretary-technicians are not nurses, yet after a brief in-service training period they have proved capable of handling the essentially administrative job.

"Their job is quite comparable to the work now being performed by nurses in the out-patient department. The Army discovered this early in World War II and established the vastly useful Medical Administrative Corps."

Dr. Gelman and his associate also report professional nurses being poorly utilized in the nursing office.

They said some in the front office sit all day to check attendance and to call private duty nurses for the next shift.

"Once again, mature, intelligent women could be substituted quite satisfactorily," they said.

Ex-Smokers Stand Stress

CHICAGO (AP)—Former smokers who have the willpower to quit are less likely candidates for heart disease than many smokers or nonsmokers, a medical expert reported Monday.

Dr. Henry I. Russek, a heart specialist, said he reached two conclusions from a detailed survey covering 2,074 doctors, dentists and lawyers.

1. That the smoking habit is a barometer of how many persons respond to stress—the more rugged the situation faced the greater the amount of tobacco consumption.

2. That persons who can quit the tobacco habit and make it stick are more capable of adapting to stress than many who never have smoked or others who continue to smoke.

Russek, consultant in cardiovascular disease, U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Staten Island, N.Y., said the survey indicated stress or emotional factors play a major role in the development of heart disease and added:

"This evidence does not support the view that tobacco is an important agent in the initation or progression of coronary atherosclerosis—hardening of the arteries."

An estimated 9.4 million persons in the United States are employed in industries which are allied with highway transportation.

A person will use approximately four times as much energy while bending over as while he is standing.

LOW COST HOSPITAL PLAN FOR CATHOLICS

Catholic men and women can save on hospital insurance with our 81-year old non-profit society — the Catholic Knights of St. George. Here's an example:

With our 8027 Plan, a Catholic man under 61 pays only $1.85 a month. If he's hospitalized for any accident or sickness covered by the plan, he receives $50 a week for as long as he's hospitalized, up to 104 weeks. Payments of $100 or $150 a week are also available at slight extra cost.

Our 8027 Plan pays in addition to any other insurance. You can spend the money as you wish. The money is paid directly to you for hospital confinement from accidents originating after the moment your policy goes into effect.

Rates are kept low by excluding unusual conditions such as mental ailments, acts of war, injury or sickness in military service, dental treatment, or hospital confinment of less than 24 hours. For the more severe diseases covered, there is a brief 3-month waiting period. The plan is renewable at the option of the insured and the society.

Catholics of advanced ages can also get this plan. The cost is just a little more than for others.

Many other low cost plans are available from our society. Send for complete information including details on our excellent life insurance plans. By charter, applications are limited to Catholics.

Board Accepts County Insurance Plan

A number of recommendations by Henry K. Duke, insurance consultant for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners were accepted yesterday.

Duke submitted a report proposing the comprehensive general liability and comprehensive auto liability covering county operations be increased.

Property damage accidents caused by a moving vehicle, whether a motor vehicle or mobile equipment, would be insured in full. Property damage accidents from other causes would be subject to a $250 deductible amount for each loss. Accidents up to a limit of $100,000 would be covered.

The cost of extending the insurance in this manner would be approximately $1,800 a year. In view of the fact that an uninsured loss of $100,000 from this source would be both a financial and a political disaster, it would be his opinion, Duke said, that acquiring this coverage would deserve serious consideration.

The Workmen's Compensation coverage of the county has been changed to the Gurley Insurance Agency, bidding on Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company on its low bid of $7,793.37 net. The coverage has been under the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company for a number of years.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon made the motion to accept the bid of Nationwide and it was seconded by Commissioner John J. Rowan. Commissioner John Tucker Mason said that the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company had provided excellent service and kept the rate down in the past and also had provided safety course for county employes and he felt the firm should retain the business.

The U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company bid $9,167.53 net and the only other bid was Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Company at $8,356.08. Both these firm's insurance are handled by the Beall Insurance Agency of Frostburg.

Duke's report to the board was that any of the three companies can adequately serve the county and since the payment of dividend in some amount is a virtual certainty, he would recommend the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Company or the Nationwide Insurance Company bid be accepted.

He also pointed out that placement of both the compensation insurance and liability insurance with the same company if it is practical to do so has its advantages.

Commissioner Shinnamon made the motion to change the comprehensive insurance coverage up to $100,000 and Commissioner Rowan seconded the motion. Commissioner Mason said he did not think it was necessary to make the change.

A report by Duke a few months ago concerning the protection of the Board of Election Supervisors voting records was also acted upon yesterday.

Commissioner Shinnamon brought up the matter and the board voted unanimously to request the Election Board to follow Duke's recommendations.

The proposal is for the voting records to be kept in two separate places, one listing in a fire-resistant safe and by this means a catastrophe would be averted in case fire broke out where the voting records are now kept in the Court House.

As Duke explained, insurance on the voting records would not alleviate the possibility of disrupting elections if the records were lost in a blaze.

W. Va. Youths Get Suspended Terms

Two youths who escaped from the West Virginia Forestry Camp near Davis and then stole a car owned by H. L. Payne, 74 Greene Street, yesterday were sentenced in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The youths are Vernon Paul Rawley Jr., and Michael Lee Slayton.

Judge Harris gave the youths one-year suspended sentences to the Maryland Reformatory for Males and ordered they be held in the County Jail here until West Virginia authorities come here to return them for action.

Former Area Resident Is Stab Victim

A former Paw Paw resident was stabbed to death in Brisbane, Australia June 16 and a postal services technician has been charged with his murder.

The victim was William Albert Mason, 37, son of Mrs. Madge Mason, Paw Paw, and the late William Mason.

Being held in connection with the stabbing at Coopers Plains, a Brisbane suburb, is Francis Henry McDonnell, 48.

Police said Mason was found dead on the floor of a house with a number of stab wounds. A motive for the slaying was not disclosed.

Mason, a U. S. citizen, according to the United States consul's office, came to Brisbane several years ago.

The consul's office said a relative of Mason from the United States attended his cremation in a Brisbane crematorium June 19. Authorities there did not know the name of the relative or whether Mason's ashes were returned to the United States.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by a twin brother, Thomas Mason, San Francisco.

A native of Olean, N. Y., Mason spent his summers in Paw Paw after his mother moved there about 25 years ago.

He saw service in the Maritime Service before going to Australia to live.

In 1950, each person in the U.S. spent about 22.8 per cent of his disposable income for food; in 1961 he spent 19.7 per cent.

City Gets Complaints On Grass, Brush

The Engineering Department was charged with seeing that present city ordinances are enforced on excessively high grass and underbrush after a complaint was received from a North End resident by the Mayor and Council Monday.

W. Bruce Douglas, 1607 Holland Street, pointed to high grass and underbrush conditions in the area from Catskill Avenue toward town, terming it a veritable jungle and eyesore. In addition, several massive, dead trees can be found in the area.

In another action, council granted the Auxiliary Police unit permission to sponsor Smith Shows here July 30-August 4.

Three Named To Property Board

The judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit have named three men to the Board of Property Review for Allegany County for two-year terms.

They are John M. Robb, local attorney; Charles E. George, contractor and Harry J. Barton, farmer and businessman. The board sits in hearings in cases when property is involved in proposed highway construction.

The order of court naming the three men was signed by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, Associate Judges W. Earle Cobey, Stuart F. Hamill, Irvine H. Rutledge and D. Kenneth McLaughlin.

The ceremonial chamber where men of the cliff-dwelling Indian tribese gathered was called a kiva.

City Ordinance To Provide More Pay

The Mayor and Council Monday adopted an ordinance providing additional pay for hourly and salaried workers temporarily performing tasks in a higher job classification.

At the same time it advanced the position of comptroller in class in connection with the present plan to hire a person for the job within a short time. The city has been without a fulltime comptroller since April 30 and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery has been acting in that capacity.

Under Monday's ordinance, hourly employes performing duties temporarily in a higher classification will receive five cents more than their permanent hourly classification or the minimum provided in the higher classification.

All salaried employes, while temporarily working in a higher classification, will receive the salary of the higher classification.

In other personnel action, the Civil Service Commission announced an eligible list for stenographer Class 5 as the result of recent examination.

Council named Myrtle V. Shipway as probationary stenographer effective June 18. She was included in the list of eligibles along with Carole R. Folk and Pamela M. McLean.

Council also accepted the resignation of David Allen Martz as a member of the Police Department. He is leaving to join the Howard County Police Department.

Murl S. Boggs was appointed corporal in the Police Department K-9 Corps program effective yesterday. The appointment is temporary pending a Civil Service examination.

Holiday Observance

Offices and departments of the city will be closed Wednesday, July 4, in observance of the holiday, the Mayor and Council ordered yesterday. Regular hours will be resumed Thursday, July 5 at 9 a. m.

City Reopens Poll Books After General Election

The city's voter registration books, which by law have been closed since 20 days before the primary election June 5, reopened yesterday and brought from City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery the reminder that it is the citizen's responsibility to see that he is properly entered on the voting rolls.

Registration in the city is continuous in the basement of City Hall. Regular hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Ullery pointed out that many assume they are registered on both city and Allegany County books when in reality they are registered at just one; some have changed addresses but never notified the office and must vote at the precinct for their old address; some women are registered in their maiden names but since have married and not changed with the result that when they ask for information under their married name, they are found to be not registered.

Ullery said the law gives him the right to remove the name of voters who have died, moved out of town and committed a felony.

Otherwise, the office does not automatically change the records when a person moves to a new address. The voter must report in person and make a written request for a change before the office can do so, Ullery said.

The Mayor and Council Monday heard John David May, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, claim that if all the literature on the council-manager plan mailed out to addresses obtained from city voting roles could have been delivered, the change of government might have been approved.

May said that the Jaycees sent out 7,990 pieces of literature in support of the city manager plan. Of these, 3,100 were returned because the address was wrong, May added.

He suggested that the city consider have a parttime employe to contact those people whose mail was returned for lack of proper address and bring this phase of the records up-to-date.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

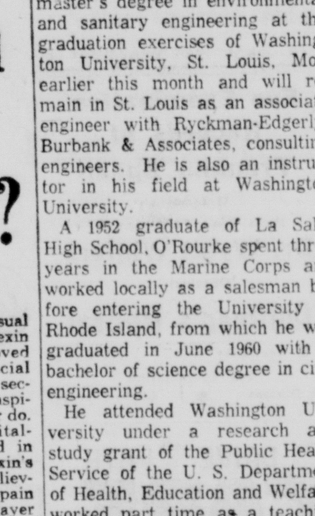

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

County Approves Welfare Workers

Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, yesterday was given approval by the county commissioners to use funds in her current budget for employment of a number of part-time clerical workers this summer.

She explained that the funds are available for payment of these extra workers and that with vacations scheduled for regular workers they can be used to keep the office work up to date.

First canal in the United States was built around the falls of the Connecticut River at South Hadley Falls, Mass., in 1793.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Six of ♥

South's soundly conceived bidding campaign uncovered a hard-to-reach four-spade contract today.

East's opening bid of one heart as the dealer presented his left-hand opponent with an immediate problem. While the normal course of action when loaded down in the enemy's suit is to make a trap pass, the conditions of vulnerability militated against early silence. It might prove awkward to enter the auction later at a higher level. South was reluctant to double, for he did not relish the prospect of having to cope with a two-diamond response from partner.

He therefore decided to overcall simply with one spade, even tho he had only a four-card suit. North's hand presented considerable playing strength despite the lack of high cards, and he offered a single raise. South proceeded directly to four spades on the expectation that dummy would be extremely short in hearts and have several trumps.

West opened his singleton heart and, after winning the trick with his ace, East shifted to a trump in order to slow down the impending cross-ruff. Declarer put up the ace of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds, and then led the king of hearts. West trumped in with the seven of spades and dummy overruffed with the eight.

A diamond was ruffed in the closed hand with the three of spades, and a small club was led. West put up the ace to return his last trump. Declarer entered dummy with the king of clubs to trump another diamond with the king of spades. A heart was ruffed in dummy and a fourth diamond was led to establish the suit as the trick was conceded to West's queen of diamonds.

The dummy's jack of spades and seven of diamonds took the last two tricks. In all, declarer lost a heart, a diamond, and a club to score a well-earned game.

C., and, for two and one half years attended Colegio Bolivar, a private school in Cali, Colombia, South America. She was graduated from Greenville Senior High School this month.

Susan plans to major in art at Furman. One of her paintings of St. Michael's Church, Greenville, of which the Arthurs are members, has been on display in the lobby of The Peoples National Bank in Greenville for the past several months, and, some of her work is being shown at the Greenville Museum of Art, at the present time.

Robert the Bruce, 14th Century king of Scotland was exiled on Rathlin Island off Northern Ireland. Legend holds that Bruce gained new courage there while watching a persevering spider try and try again to spin a web.

City Reopens Poll Books After General Election

The city's voter registration books, which by law have been closed since 20 days before the primary election June 5, reopened yesterday and brought from City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery the reminder that it is the citizen's responsibility to see that he is properly entered on the voting rolls.

Registration in the city is continuous in the basement of City Hall. Regular hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Ullery pointed out that many assume they are registered on both city and Allegany County books when in reality they are registered at just one; some have changed addresses but never notified the office and must vote at the precinct for their old address; some women are registered in their maiden names but since have married and not changed with the result that when they ask for information under their married name, they are found to be not registered.

Ullery said the law gives him the right to remove the name of voters who have died, moved out of town and committed a felony.

Otherwise, the office does not automatically change the records when a person moves to a new address. The voter must report in person and make a written request for a change before the office can do so, Ullery said.

The Mayor and Council Monday heard John David May, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, claim that if all the literature on the council-manager plan mailed out to addresses obtained from city voting roles could have been delivered, the change of government might have been approved.

May said that the Jaycees sent out 7,990 pieces of literature in support of the city manager plan. Of these, 3,100 were returned because the address was wrong, May added.

He suggested that the city consider have a parttime employe to contact those people whose mail was returned for lack of proper address and bring this phase of the records up-to-date.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

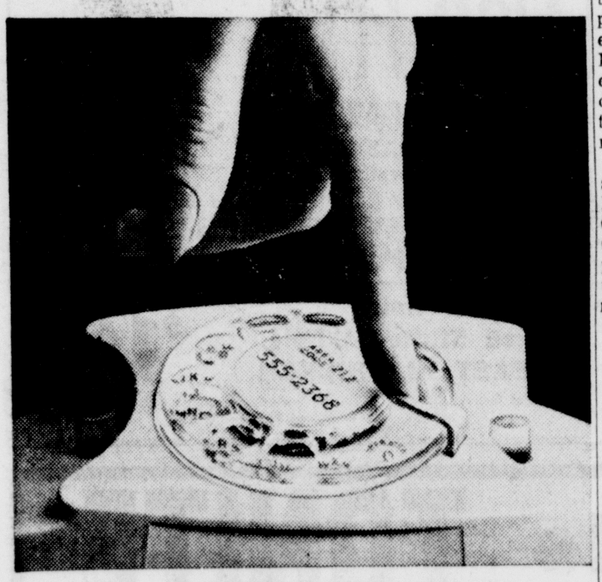

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug store. Now available without prescription.

James T. O'Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. O'Rourke, 625 North Centre Street, received his master's degree in environmental and sanitary engineering at the graduation exercises of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., earlier this month and will remain in St. Louis as an associate engineer with Ryckman-Edgerly-Burbank & Associates, consulting engineers. He is also an instructor in his field at Washington University.

A 1952 graduate of La Salle High School, O'Rourke spent three years in the Marine Corps and worked locally as a salesman before entering the University of Rhode Island, from which he was graduated in June 1960 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

County Approves Welfare Workers

Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, yesterday was given approval by the county commissioners to use funds in her current budget for employment of a number of part-time clerical workers this summer.

She explained that the funds are available for payment of these extra workers and that with vacations scheduled for regular workers they can be used to keep the office work up to date.

First canal in the United States was built around the falls of the Connecticut River at South Hadley Falls, Mass., in 1793.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♥

South's soundly conceived bidding campaign uncovered a hard-to-reach four-spade contract today.

East's opening bid of one heart as the dealer presented his left-hand opponent with an immediate problem. While the normal course of action when loaded down in the enemy's suit is to make a trap pass, the conditions of vulnerability militated against early silence. It might prove awkward to enter the auction later at a higher level. South was reluctant to double, for he did not relish the prospect of having to cope with a two-diamond response from partner.

He therefore decided to overcall simply with one spade, even tho he had only a four-card suit. North's hand presented considerable playing strength despite the lack of high cards, and he offered a single raise. South proceeded directly to four spades on the expectation that dummy would be extremely short in hearts and have several trumps.

West opened his singleton heart and, after winning the trick with his ace, East shifted to a trump in order to slow down the impending cross-ruff. Declarer put up the ace of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds, and then led the king of hearts. West trumped in with the seven of spades and dummy overruffed with the eight.

A diamond was ruffed in the closed hand with the three of spades, and a small club was led. West put up the ace to return his last trump. Declarer entered dummy with the king of clubs to trump another diamond with the king of spades. A heart was ruffed in dummy and a fourth diamond was led to establish the suit as the trick was conceded to West's queen of diamonds.

The dummy's jack of spades and seven of diamonds took the last two tricks. In all, declarer lost a heart, a diamond, and a club to score a well-earned game.

Meter Receipts Down

Parking meter receipts the week of June 17 amounted to $919.50 compared to $954.50 the week of June 10, a decrease of $34.60, Inspector Harry Whisner reported to the Mayor and Council Monday.

Furman Accepts Kin Of Local Residents

Miss Susan Arthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin L. Arthur of Greenville, S. C., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Arthur, Shawnee Avenue, Cumberland, has been accepted as a freshman at Furman University for the coming school term.

The Arthurs are former residents of Cumberland where Susan was a student at Fort Hill. Miss Arthur, also, attended school at Fort Ashby, Keyser, was a student at Bulkeley High School in New London, Conn., B. & L. High School in Batesburg-Leesville, S. C., and, for two and one half years attended Colegio Bolivar, a private school in Cali, Colombia, South America. She was graduated from Greenville Senior High School this month.

Susan plans to major in art at Furman. One of her paintings of St. Michael's Church, Greenville, of which the Arthurs are members, has been on display in the lobby of The Peoples National Bank in Greenville for the past several months, and, some of her work is being shown at the Greenville Museum of Art, at the present time.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD—Well, look who's turning movie actor: News commentator and panelist John Daly of "What's My Line" fame is going to play himself in "Bye Bye Birdie" with Janet Leigh and Dick Van Dyke.

And Columbia producer Freddie Kohlmar has obligingly arranged things so that dulcet-dictioned Daly won't even have to come to Hollywood.

Instead, he takes himself to Washington, D. C., to do his scenes in front of the Pentagon. It's quite possible some of his celebrated relatives will show up to watch him emote. John is married to Virginia Warren, daughter of Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren.

As "happy" as they insist they are, Jill St. John and many-millions millionaire Lance Reventlow, aren't doing much to blow down the gossip of trouble in their hilltop paradise, gift of his mother Barbara Hutton.

Lance, minus Jill, is becoming a regular dropper-in at the Luau where he hangs around with Ronnie Burns, Bruce Kessler and other pals several nights a week.

Meanwhile, Jill is concentrating with extra attention to her career again even to preparing her TV dubut in a "Laramie" chapter.

A surprise from Paris is that Barbara Warner, daughter of Jack Warner, upped and married bandleader Raymond Le Senechal in a quiet ceremony a few days ago. Barbara's former husband was also a Frenchman, Claude Terrail, who owns Paree's famed Tour D'Argent Restaurant.

Le Senechal waves the baton for one of Paris' most popolar dance orchestras. He used to lead the band for Sacha Distel's theatre appearances while Sacha was a hot drawing card as a result of his headlined romance with Brigitte Bardot.

Even though she has won prices for being cooperative, and has been the darling of the fan magazine press for years, you can't blame Janet Leigh if she's changed and is putting her foot down about revealing "all." Her divorce from Tony Curtis took a lot more out of Janet than her chin-up attitude indicated. She was on the verge of nervous collapse before she decided to let the axe drop-and end the long-drawn-out agony of wondering whether Tony was coming home—or he wasn't.

She doesn't want to keep reliving the past.

And she's helping herself along considerably with a new friendship with handsome Bob Brandt, a stockbroker. This little merger I hear, is NOT on margin.

Nutska to Ruska. Shirtley MacLaine may have gotten the freeze in Russia, but she's hot in Hollywood. There are at least three producers who wish the "Mac" were triplets. When she returns, Shirley will be up to her chin in scripts, including the one she starts this fall for Billy Wilder, "Irma La Douce."

Just before Hal Wallis left town he okayed "My Favorite Wife" for Shirley. And Jack Cummings at MGM wants her for Frank O'Connor's story, 'The Masculine Principle."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Marlene Dietrich, a recent smash in Paris, has found another smash in Raf Vallone, the virile Italian who rattled the beams in "View from the Bridge."

I hear you just think you've seen the twist until you see Sal Mineo and cute Jill Haworth gyrating up a storm at their favorite New York spot, Trude Heller's Versailles, in Greenwich Village.

And farther up town, at the Brasserie, Tony Perkins was flashing signals at very beautiful Holly Brook.

Hope Lange is in for a disappointment. She had her heart set on playing the Mexican spitfire in "The Children of Sanchez" but producer Eliott Kastner thinks the role calls for a young Anna Magnani — which Hope is not.

Popular New York Columnist Radie Harris arrives June 29 for her summer of work and siesta at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Welcome to our state of confusion, Radie.

What could be nicer news from the Hall Bartlett "Caretakers" casting bulletins than that Herbert Marshall has been lured out of semi-retirement to play the superintendent of the mental institution.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife shoved one of your recent columns in my face and said "See, Ann agrees with me." It was the letter from the woman who knocked herself out from 5 a. m. until midnight. She had two jobs, two kids and I think two heads. Her signature was "Half Dead."

My wife is usually "Half-Dead," too—and I say it's her own fault. I've begged her not to climb on the walls and wash behind the pictures. I've pleaded with her not to stand on her head to polish the woodwork. Our garbage pails are so clean a doctor could store his surgical equipment in them. Every Sunday she has a ritual—polishing silver. And do you know how we use it? Only when the Duke and Wally come to visit us.

After dinner she washes and massages the dishes until 11:30 p. m. Of course, by the time she gets to bed she's exhausted. I say these crazy-clean nuts do this to themselves. Their husbands are not the villains at all.

—SECOND SIDE

DEAR SECOND SIDE: Here is the Third Side: Experts in the field say that wives who knock themselves out after dinner (sterilizing the dishes, baking, ironing, etc.) may actually be hiding from their husbands and at the same time providing themselves with a martyr-like excuse to fall into bed exhausted.

You should see a marriage counselor (together) and find out why—and what to do about it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teenager who needs help. I took my driving test last week and flunked it. I cried for two solid hours and couldn't eat one bite of dinner.

My sister wised off that I must be an imbecile. I think maybe she's right. She said every nut and his cousin drives a car—and here I'm so stupid I couldn't even pass the test.

I've been practicing for months, Ann, and I really am a good driver. I just didn't know the answers to some of those questions. I'm so embarrassed over this I can't face people. And now I'm afraid to take the test again because if I flunk it a second time I'll just have a nervous breakdown.

Have you ever heard of a normal person flunking a driving test? Please tell me what to do. I'm—SHOOK

DEAR SHOOK: Cheer up, Chicken, you've got plenty of company. A lot of bright people flunk their first driving test.

And what makes you think that everyone who passes is "normal?" Have you ever seen Los Angeles, or Chicago drivers at 4:30 p. m.? This is "normal?"

My advice is to bone up. Reread the manual and memorize the answers. Then, as soon as possible, go down and take the test again. There's no disgrace in failing. The only disgrace is not keeping at it until you make the grade.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been a widow for two years. I'm not a spring chicken but I certainly am not old. I'm very selective about the company I keep and I have gone out with some fine gentlemen.

The man I like best is a bachelor with whom I work. He has asked me out to lunch almost every day for the past year. At first I thought this meant that he was interested, but now I'm not sure. He always brings a newspaper or a magazine along and reads throughout the entire lunch. We hardly exchange a word.

If the man isn't interested in me why does he invite me to lunch every day? If he IS interested, why doesn't he talk to me? Shall I make an issue of it? If so, how? —MUTE COMPANION

DEAR COMPANION: You say nothing about dates in the evening or on weekends. Do you ever have a meal together other than lunch? If so, does he read then, too?

If you are regularly separated by a wall of paper, that wall might as well be 10 feet high and made of solid concrete. Tell him goodbye and happy reading.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosink with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Wilson Is Appointed

William C. Wilson, 226 Cecelia Street, was named a member of the Cumberland Civil Service Commission Monday by the Mayor and Council. He will fill the unexpired term of Fred E. Ryan, who resigned. The term has two years to run. The vote was 4-1 with Commissioner Lucile Roeder dissenting, explaining council had not discussed the appointment as a group.

Lake Gordon is 9 inches below the crest and Lake Koon one-fourth inch above, a report by Ray Nixon, foreman at the water plant, to the Mayor and Council showed Monday. Consumption for the week ending Sunday was 82,620,000 gallons compare dto 99,470,000 the same period a year ago.

County Names Muir Assistant To Investigator

Robert Muir, 28, Lonaconing, yesterday was named temporary assistant county investigator by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action was taken by the board after State's Attorney James S. Getty appeared before them to request the action be taken. The county board has placed $4,000 in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to pay for an assistant to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya. Muir will assume his duties on that date.

Getty explained that Lilya has a large volume of work and the assistant will be helpful in handling many of the matters needing attention in the state's attorney's office.

Muir is very well qualified for the position, Getty explained. He is a former trooper with the State Police and worked some years in the B&O Railroad Company police department. Due to a reduction in the B&O police force Muir was furloughed.

Muir is also qualified to fingerprint persons who are brought into the state's attorney's office on criminal charges, Getty explained.

The appointment is temporary until legislation can be enacted in the next General Assembly to clarify the status of such a position. The county commissioners have the power under existing local laws to name him to the post temporarily.

To Distribute Food

Surplus commodities for residents of the Ridgeley area will be distributed today from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Ridgeley Council Building, it was announced by Mayor Charles F. Fryer, who added that persons are to supply their own containers.

Many food manufacturers prefer to buy their eggs dried or frozen rather than in the shell. They say dried and frozen eggs are compact, easy to handle, and can be held for some time with little deterioration.

Instead, he takes himself to Washington, D. C., to do his scenes in front of the Pentagon. It's quite possible some of his celebrated relatives will show up to watch him emote. John is married to Virginia Warren, daughter of Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren.

As "happy" as they insist they are, Jill St. John and many-millions millionaire Lance Reventlow, aren't doing much to blow down the gossip of trouble in their hilltop paradise, gift of his mother Barbara Hutton.

Lance, minus Jill, is becoming a regular dropper-in at the Luau where he hangs around with Ronnie Burns, Bruce Kessler and other pals several nights a week.

Meanwhile, Jill is concentrating with extra attention to her career again even to preparing her TV dubut in a "Laramie" chapter.

A surprise from Paris is that Barbara Warner, daughter of Jack Warner, upped and married bandleader Raymond Le Senechal in a quiet ceremony a few days ago. Barbara's former husband was also a Frenchman, Claude Terrail, who owns Paree's famed Tour D'Argent Restaurant.

Le Senechal waves the baton for one of Paris' most popolar dance orchestras. He used to lead the band for Sacha Distel's theatre appearances while Sacha was a hot drawing card as a result of his headlined romance with Brigitte Bardot.

Even though she has won prices for being cooperative, and has been the darling of the fan magazine press for years, you can't blame Janet Leigh if she's changed and is putting her foot down about revealing "all." Her divorce from Tony Curtis took a lot more out of Janet than her chin-up attitude indicated. She was on the verge of nervous collapse before she decided to let the axe drop-and end the long-drawn-out agony of wondering whether Tony was coming home—or he wasn't.

She doesn't want to keep reliving the past.

And she's helping herself along considerably with a new friendship with handsome Bob Brandt, a stockbroker. This little merger I hear, is NOT on margin.

Nutska to Ruska. Shirtley MacLaine may have gotten the freeze in Russia, but she's hot in Hollywood. There are at least three producers who wish the "Mac" were triplets. When she returns, Shirley will be up to her chin in scripts, including the one she starts this fall for Billy Wilder, "Irma La Douce."

Just before Hal Wallis left town he okayed "My Favorite Wife" for Shirley. And Jack Cummings at MGM wants her for Frank O'Connor's story, 'The Masculine Principle."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Marlene Dietrich, a recent smash in Paris, has found another smash in Raf Vallone, the virile Italian who rattled the beams in "View from the Bridge."

I hear you just think you've seen the twist until you see Sal Mineo and cute Jill Haworth gyrating up a storm at their favorite New York spot, Trude Heller's Versailles, in Greenwich Village.

And farther up town, at the Brasserie, Tony Perkins was flashing signals at very beautiful Holly Brook.

Hope Lange is in for a disappointment. She had her heart set on playing the Mexican spitfire in "The Children of Sanchez" but producer Eliott Kastner thinks the role calls for a young Anna Magnani — which Hope is not.

Popular New York Columnist Radie Harris arrives June 29 for her summer of work and siesta at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Welcome to our state of confusion, Radie.

What could be nicer news from the Hall Bartlett "Caretakers" casting bulletins than that Herbert Marshall has been lured out of semi-retirement to play the superintendent of the mental institution.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife shoved one of your recent columns in my face and said "See, Ann agrees with me." It was the letter from the woman who knocked herself out from 5 a. m. until midnight. She had two jobs, two kids and I think two heads. Her signature was "Half Dead."

My wife is usually "Half-Dead," too—and I say it's her own fault. I've begged her not to climb on the walls and wash behind the pictures. I've pleaded with her not to stand on her head to polish the woodwork. Our garbage pails are so clean a doctor could store his surgical equipment in them. Every Sunday she has a ritual—polishing silver. And do you know how we use it? Only when the Duke and Wally come to visit us.

After dinner she washes and massages the dishes until 11:30 p. m. Of course, by the time she gets to bed she's exhausted. I say these crazy-clean nuts do this to themselves. Their husbands are not the villains at all.

—SECOND SIDE

DEAR SECOND SIDE: Here is the Third Side: Experts in the field say that wives who knock themselves out after dinner (sterilizing the dishes, baking, ironing, etc.) may actually be hiding from their husbands and at the same time providing themselves with a martyr-like excuse to fall into bed exhausted.

You should see a marriage counselor (together) and find out why—and what to do about it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teenager who needs help. I took my driving test last week and flunked it. I cried for two solid hours and couldn't eat one bite of dinner.

My sister wised off that I must be an imbecile. I think maybe she's right. She said every nut and his cousin drives a car—and here I'm so stupid I couldn't even pass the test.

I've been practicing for months, Ann, and I really am a good driver. I just didn't know the answers to some of those questions. I'm so embarrassed over this I can't face people. And now I'm afraid to take the test again because if I flunk it a second time I'll just have a nervous breakdown.

Have you ever heard of a normal person flunking a driving test? Please tell me what to do. I'm—SHOOK

DEAR SHOOK: Cheer up, Chicken, you've got plenty of company. A lot of bright people flunk their first driving test.

And what makes you think that everyone who passes is "normal?" Have you ever seen Los Angeles, or Chicago drivers at 4:30 p. m.? This is "normal?"

My advice is to bone up. Reread the manual and memorize the answers. Then, as soon as possible, go down and take the test again. There's no disgrace in failing. The only disgrace is not keeping at it until you make the grade.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been a widow for two years. I'm not a spring chicken but I certainly am not old. I'm very selective about the company I keep and I have gone out with some fine gentlemen.

The man I like best is a bachelor with whom I work. He has asked me out to lunch almost every day for the past year. At first I thought this meant that he was interested, but now I'm not sure. He always brings a newspaper or a magazine along and reads throughout the entire lunch. We hardly exchange a word.

If the man isn't interested in me why does he invite me to lunch every day? If he IS interested, why doesn't he talk to me? Shall I make an issue of it? If so, how? —MUTE COMPANION

DEAR COMPANION: You say nothing about dates in the evening or on weekends. Do you ever have a meal together other than lunch? If so, does he read then, too?

If you are regularly separated by a wall of paper, that wall might as well be 10 feet high and made of solid concrete. Tell him goodbye and happy reading.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosink with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

County Names Muir Assistant To Investigator

Robert Muir, 28, Lonaconing, yesterday was named temporary assistant county investigator by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action was taken by the board after State's Attorney James S. Getty appeared before them to request the action be taken. The county board has placed $4,000 in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to pay for an assistant to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya. Muir will assume his duties on that date.

Getty explained that Lilya has a large volume of work and the assistant will be helpful in handling many of the matters needing attention in the state's attorney's office.

Muir is very well qualified for the position, Getty explained. He is a former trooper with the State Police and worked some years in the B&O Railroad Company police department. Due to a reduction in the B&O police force Muir was furloughed.

Muir is also qualified to fingerprint persons who are brought into the state's attorney's office on criminal charges, Getty explained.

The appointment is temporary until legislation can be enacted in the next General Assembly to clarify the status of such a position. The county commissioners have the power under existing local laws to name him to the post temporarily.

To Distribute Food

Surplus commodities for residents of the Ridgeley area will be distributed today from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Ridgeley Council Building, it was announced by Mayor Charles F. Fryer, who added that persons are to supply their own containers.

Many food manufacturers prefer to buy their eggs dried or frozen rather than in the shell. They say dried and frozen eggs are compact, easy to handle, and can be held for some time with little deterioration.

Cites Lack Of Students For W. Va. Colleges

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) —An official of the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents said Monday that most areas of the state seeking two-year branch colleges do not appear able to meet basic requirements necessary for their success.

Executive Director Elizabeth V. Hallanan told the association at its summer conference at Blackwater Falls State Park that areas in and around Greenbrier, Hancock, Logan, Mingo, McDowell, Mason and Wyoming Counties probably do not have a sufficient number of college - bound high school graduates to meet essential minimum enrollment requirements.

"The minimum number of students recommended by most authorities in the United States is 200," Miss Hallanan said.

On the basis of statistics showing percentages of high school students who go to college, Miss Hallanan said Greenbrier County would have had about 68 college-bound students in 1960, Hancock 65, Logan 99, Mingo 79, McDowell 144, Mason 36 and Wyoming 72.

"It is to be observed with interest that none of these counties have a sufficient number of students for a two-year branch college," she said. "Only by meeting this requirement can a branch hope to offer a well - rounded program."

Miss Hallanan also said "serious consideration should be given to the 'wholly self supporting' requirement as set forth in the legislation authorizing branch colleges" prior to their creation. "Even with generous financial support from the community, the cost to a student could be prohibitive," she said.

Another necessity would be adequate full-time residence instruction, she said. Unless residence instruction is provided (in communities offering extension courses, including Logan, Williamson, Welch and Pineville) only the name of the program would be changed" in creating a branch college.

After receiving the report, the association decided only to make the report available to college and university governing boards for guidance in establishing branches.

A special study committee of the State Board of Education recently endorsed the idea of branch colleges for certain areas in West Virginia.

West Virginia University established a branch at Parkersburg before the State Board of Education turned the matter over to the association for study. The branch, now in its second year, expects an enrollment of about 250 for the fall term.

A motion to send the report to the governing boards was made by Fairmont College President Eston K. Feaster.

WVU President Paul A. Miller asked the association to take a stand either for or against branch colleges. He described the association's failure to take a stand as a "dangerous mood."

Miss Hallanan's report noted that the Parkersburg branch of WVU is in a building the Wood County Board of Education no longer considers adequate as a junior high school and is operating on a budget of only $88,000.

Miss Hallanan's report also said some communities have vocational education programs in such fields and trades and industries, business and distributive education and "are not now without educational services."

She recommended that the State Board of Education carefully examine questions of enrollment, facilities and "clear educational needs" before authorizing branches.

Some dragonflies have bright red bodies with a splash of carmine or blotches of gold and black on the wings. On others the thorax is grass green and the abdomen bright blue with dark markings.

33-Year-Old Letter Is Returned

PARSONS, W. Va. — A letter mailed here more than 33 years ago has been returned unopened to the office that sent it.

A letter containing a tax receipt was mailed from the office of the Sheriff of Tucker County to J. E. McCray in Pierce, W. Va. The worn envelope clearly showed the postmark, Parsons, W. Va., Dec. 22, 1928, 6:39 p.m., with the return address in the upper left hand corner, Sheriff of Tucker County, Parsons, W. Va. Riley Harper, Sheriff, Sylvanus Harper, Deputy Sheriff.

On June 13, 1962 a letter from Postmaster, Claims and Inquiry Section, Boston, Mass., was sent to the Postmaster, Stanley Hehle at Parsons, enclosing the unopened 33-year old letter of Mr. McCray's and a letter of explanation as follows:

"The enclosed letter postmarked December 22, 1928 was forwarded to this office for processing. It has a return card of the Sheriff of Tucker County, Parsons, W. Va. and is addressed to Mr. J. E. Cray, Pierce, W. Va. (The name McCray is correct). The letter was picked up from the top of a mail box at 268 Seminole Avenue, Waltham, Mass. by a carrier.

Frederick Malouf, who resides at 268 Seminole Ave. states that he found it near his flag pole. It had apparently blown in from the street, and other than this, he knows nothing about the letter.

The 1961 Directory of Post Offices does not list Pierce, W. Va. We are therefore forwarding this letter for return to the office of the Sheriff of Tucker County, with an explanation."

The letter was signed by Ephraim Martin, postmaster.

Judgment For Preston County Firm Upheld

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Supreme Court upheld, in effect, Monday a Preston County Circuit Court decision that awarded a $25,465 judgment to the Preston County Coke Co.

The high court refused to review the case upon request by the Preston County Light & Power Co. which furnishes electricity to customers in Preston and Monongalia Counties.

On Dec. 8, 1961, the Preston Court had ruled that the Preston Light Co. owed the money to the coke firm for alleged underpayment for electricity purchases from January through May, 1961.

New rates had been put into effect Jan. 1, 1961 by the coke company, however the power company continued to pay old rates agreed upon in May, 1956. The power company contended the old rates were still in effect since the new rates were not approved by the Public Service Commission and that the required 30 days notice was not given.

The lower court ruled that the coke company had made its intentions known both before the PSC and elsewhere.

Cites Lack Of Students For W. Va. Colleges

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) —An official of the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents said Monday that most areas of the state seeking two-year branch colleges do not appear able to meet basic requirements necessary for their success.

Executive Director Elizabeth V. Hallanan told the association at its summer conference at Blackwater Falls State Park that areas in and around Greenbrier, Hancock, Logan, Mingo, McDowell, Mason and Wyoming Counties probably do not have a sufficient number of college - bound high school graduates to meet essential minimum enrollment requirements.

"The minimum number of students recommended by most authorities in the United States is 200," Miss Hallanan said.

On the basis of statistics showing percentages of high school students who go to college, Miss Hallanan said Greenbrier County would have had about 68 college-bound students in 1960, Hancock 65, Logan 99, Mingo 79, McDowell 144, Mason 36 and Wyoming 72.

"It is to be observed with interest that none of these counties have a sufficient number of students for a two-year branch college," she said. "Only by meeting this requirement can a branch hope to offer a well - rounded program."

Miss Hallanan also said "serious consideration should be given to the 'wholly self supporting' requirement as set forth in the legislation authorizing branch colleges" prior to their creation. "Even with generous financial support from the community, the cost to a student could be prohibitive," she said.

Another necessity would be adequate full-time residence instruction, she said. Unless residence instruction is provided (in communities offering extension courses, including Logan, Williamson, Welch and Pineville) only the name of the program would be changed" in creating a branch college.

After receiving the report, the association decided only to make the report available to college and university governing boards for guidance in establishing branches.

A special study committee of the State Board of Education recently endorsed the idea of branch colleges for certain areas in West Virginia.

West Virginia University established a branch at Parkersburg before the State Board of Education turned the matter over to the association for study. The branch, now in its second year, expects an enrollment of about 250 for the fall term.

A motion to send the report to the governing boards was made by Fairmont College President Eston K. Feaster.

WVU President Paul A. Miller asked the association to take a stand either for or against branch colleges. He described the association's failure to take a stand as a "dangerous mood."

Miss Hallanan's report noted that the Parkersburg branch of WVU is in a building the Wood County Board of Education no longer considers adequate as a junior high school and is operating on a budget of only $88,000.

Miss Hallanan's report also said some communities have vocational education programs in such fields and trades and industries, business and distributive education and "are not now without educational services."

She recommended that the State Board of Education carefully examine questions of enrollment, facilities and "clear educational needs" before authorizing branches.

33-Year-Old Letter Is Returned

PARSONS, W. Va. — A letter mailed here more than 33 years ago has been returned unopened to the office that sent it.

A letter containing a tax receipt was mailed from the office of the Sheriff of Tucker County to J. E. McCray in Pierce, W. Va. The worn envelope clearly showed the postmark, Parsons, W. Va., Dec. 22, 1928, 6:39 p.m., with the return address in the upper left hand corner, Sheriff of Tucker County, Parsons, W. Va. Riley Harper, Sheriff, Sylvanus Harper, Deputy Sheriff.

On June 13, 1962 a letter from Postmaster, Claims and Inquiry Section, Boston, Mass., was sent to the Postmaster, Stanley Hehle at Parsons, enclosing the unopened 33-year old letter of Mr. McCray's and a letter of explanation as follows:

"The enclosed letter postmarked December 22, 1928 was forwarded to this office for processing. It has a return card of the Sheriff of Tucker County, Parsons, W. Va. and is addressed to Mr. J. E. Cray, Pierce, W. Va. (The name McCray is correct). The letter was picked up from the top of a mail box at 268 Seminole Avenue, Waltham, Mass. by a carrier.

Frederick Malouf, who resides at 268 Seminole Ave. states that he found it near his flag pole. It had apparently blown in from the street, and other than this, he knows nothing about the letter.

The 1961 Directory of Post Offices does not list Pierce, W. Va. We are therefore forwarding this letter for return to the office of the Sheriff of Tucker County, with an explanation."

The letter was signed by Ephraim Martin, postmaster.

Judgment For Preston County Firm Upheld

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Supreme Court upheld, in effect, Monday a Preston County Circuit Court decision that awarded a $25,465 judgment to the Preston County Coke Co.

The high court refused to review the case upon request by the Preston County Light & Power Co. which furnishes electricity to customers in Preston and Monongalia Counties.

On Dec. 8, 1961, the Preston Court had ruled that the Preston Light Co. owed the money to the coke firm for alleged underpayment for electricity purchases from January through May, 1961.

New rates had been put into effect Jan. 1, 1961 by the coke company, however the power company continued to pay old rates agreed upon in May, 1956. The power company contended the old rates were still in effect since the new rates were not approved by the Public Service Commission and that the required 30 days notice was not given.

The lower court ruled that the coke company had made its intentions known both before the PSC and elsewhere.

Health Department Gets Complaint

Jay J. Pile, 947 Weires Avenue, LaVale, has submitted a letter to the Allegany County Health Department complaining about a sewage problem on Nottingham Drive behind and parallel to Weires Avenue.

He commented that the area will not take septic tank drainage and some other solution must be found. A copy of the letter was sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Last year Americans spent $16 billion on beef, pork, veal, and lamb.

Tax Collections Now Top $2 Million

A last-week upsurge in state and county tax collections has sent the total so far this month to above $2,000,000 received in the office of William B. Orndorff, county tax collector, at the Court House.

The collector's office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. through Friday and from 8:30 a.m. until noon on Saturday. June collections are entitled to a five per cent discount on county taxes.

Clerks from the collector's office also will visit the Westernport Town Hall from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Korean Vets Still Eligible For Schooling

Projections prepared by the Veterans Administration indicate that there are 150,000 to 200,000 Korean Conflict veterans still eligible to take advantage of the educational provisions of the Korean GI Bill, F. E. Quinn, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office, Baltimore, said today.

These veterans have only about two-and-a-half years in which to complete their training or education. The law provides that all education and training of non-disabled Korean veterans will end by January 31, 1965.

Since the Korean GI Bill program started, more than 2,372,000 Korean Conflict veterans have either gone to college or taken below-college-level training or on-the-job or on-the-farm courses.

Mr. Quinn said there are about 100,000 Korean veterans still in training under these programs now. However, surveys of those eligible and interested have indicated that as many as 200,000 veterans may enter the program before it comes to an end.

They will have to cram their entire courses into two-and-a-half years between now and the deadline cut-off date of January 31, 1965.

Mr. Quinn said that those planning to enter classrooms should not delay. Those already in class will have to accelerate their courses if they hope to finish their studies before the close of the program.

Russia reportedly supplied almost all of Cuba's wheat and most of her wheat flour, beef, pork, and condensed milk during 1961.

Cadet Edward L. Shafferman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Shafferman, 1116 Bedford Street, is attending the Air Force ROTC Training Unit at Lockbourne AF Base, Columbus, Ohio, as part of his Reserve Officer Training at college. Following graduation from the University of Maryland he will be eligible for appointment as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

Lone Oak Road Speeding Cited

John D. Millar, RFD 5, Lone Oak Road, yesterday submitted a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in which he lamented the fact that road improvements bring with them an increase in speeding.

Mr. Millar asked whether the county commissioners or some other county or state agency might reduce speeding on Lone Oak Road in Cresaptown. He noted that since the establishment of the traffic light at the intersection of Winchester Road and U.S. Route 220 in Cresaptown, the volume of traffic on Lone Oak Road and Brant Road has increased. He attributed most of the increase to motorists attempting to avoid the traffic light.

He commented that it was too bad that the admirable effort of improving county roads should bring the undesired speeding. Drivers just don't speed on bad roads, he observed.

Health Department Gets Complaint

Jay J. Pile, 947 Weires Avenue, LaVale, has submitted a letter to the Allegany County Health Department complaining about a sewage problem on Nottingham Drive behind and parallel to Weires Avenue.

He commented that the area will not take septic tank drainage and some other solution must be found. A copy of the letter was sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Last year Americans spent $16 billion on beef, pork, veal, and lamb.

Korean Vets Still Eligible For Schooling

Projections prepared by the Veterans Administration indicate that there are 150,000 to 200,000 Korean Conflict veterans still eligible to take advantage of the educational provisions of the Korean GI Bill, F. E. Quinn, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office, Baltimore, said today.

These veterans have only about two-and-a-half years in which to complete their training or education. The law provides that all education and training of non-disabled Korean veterans will end by January 31, 1965.

Since the Korean GI Bill program started, more than 2,372,000 Korean Conflict veterans have either gone to college or taken below-college-level training or on-the-job or on-the-farm courses.

Mr. Quinn said there are about 100,000 Korean veterans still in training under these programs now. However, surveys of those eligible and interested have indicated that as many as 200,000 veterans may enter the program before it comes to an end.

They will have to cram their entire courses into two-and-a-half years between now and the deadline cut-off date of January 31, 1965.

Mr. Quinn said that those planning to enter classrooms should not delay. Those already in class will have to accelerate their courses if they hope to finish their studies before the close of the program.

Russia reportedly supplied almost all of Cuba's wheat and most of her wheat flour, beef, pork, and condensed milk during 1961.

Lone Oak Road Speeding Cited

John D. Millar, RFD 5, Lone Oak Road, yesterday submitted a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in which he lamented the fact that road improvements bring with them an increase in speeding.

Mr. Millar asked whether the county commissioners or some other county or state agency might reduce speeding on Lone Oak Road in Cresaptown. He noted that since the establishment of the traffic light at the intersection of Winchester Road and U.S. Route 220 in Cresaptown, the volume of traffic on Lone Oak Road and Brant Road has increased. He attributed most of the increase to motorists attempting to avoid the traffic light.

He commented that it was too bad that the admirable effort of improving county roads should bring the undesired speeding. Drivers just don't speed on bad roads, he observed,

Engineering Student Dropout Is Disgrace

Dr. Robert W. Van Houten describes the increasing number of "dropouts" among engineering students in the U. S. as a "national disgrace." The president of Newark College of Engineering told the American Society for Engineering Education, which he also heads, that about half of those who enter engineering colleges in the U. S. never graduate.

The situation is aggravated by a steady decline in engineering enrollments, Dr. Van Houten says, and as a result schools are able to satisfy only 50 per cent of industry's annual demand for 80,000 new engineers.

The picture becomes even more alarming in the light of a recent finding by the National Science Foundation that Russia is graduating three times as many engineers each year as the United States. This country's shortage of engineers could tip the balance of brain power against the free world.

Educators and government officials are studying the problem, but thus far have been unable either to pinpoint its causes or to suggest a solution. If the situation is not corrected and the trend reversed, what Dr. Van Houten calls a national disgrace may become a national calamity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Dodo

In the struggle for existence, Man has reduced mountains, harnessed streams, emptied forests of trees, created deserts and destroyed men and animals. This has often been called progress.

I like dirt roads and said that I would fight hard to prevent anyone from putting a black top on my dirt road. Said another, "You cannot stop progress." But if spoiling the beauty of a rural scene is progress, let there be no progress. For who can fail to be moved by the pussy-willow emerging in the Springtime or the old-fashioned lilac growing alongside a stone wall or the smell of the Earth after a Spring rain?

Of course, there are some who are moved by nothing but a belly-dancer and we must leave such to Senator McClellan's investigators. For the question of demand and supply enters here; if there is a demand for bums to satisfy bums, there will undoubtedly be a supply. Life is like that and no legislation has yet been discovered to impose morals or even a sense of decency upon those who prefer vice and hooliganism.

Among the progresses made over the centuries by man has been the extermination of wild life throughout the world. This process is continuing in many countries not only because man needs to eat flesh but because, since it is no longer pleasant for man to kill man, he spends days, if he can afford it, shooting wild animals who have done him no harm and whose life is as valuable as the shooter's. This is called sport and is quite a business for those who engage in it.

Besides, we use all sorts of poisons to kill bugs and parasites. And the poisons are eaten by birds and animals and then they die. And if enough of them die, there will be no pollination of plants and we shall die on our petard. Farmers have learned all about that and some are returning to the organic habits of their ancestors. When the earthworm disappears the product is not the same.

The American whooping crane, the grizzly bear and the rhinoceros are in danger. The World Wildlife Fund reports that 200 species of birds and mammals have been exterminated directly or indirectly by man. And the report says that they can never be re-created.

If this is progress, we do not need progress. If Man in his march toward a higher civilization, needs to destroy everything that is beautiful and unsynthetic upon this Earth, then he is as savage as those tribes that killed their aged to make room for the new-born.

Progress is a wonderful thing but when, in a world of overproduction, human beings starve and animals perish for lack of water, we have learned little more than Marco Polo knew.

For if you will read Marco Polo carefully and have before you a map with pins, you will find that many places that he mentioned as verdant and delightful are now in deserts. In fact, I once calculated that the desert moved about 200 miles south of the Marco Polo line. That is a man-made desert, because it was man who destroyed the forests and therefore left wild life without protection and food. Shall man, in the present population explosion, increase the desert areas of this Earth? Even the 17-year locust refuses to come to New York.

It is something to think about these days as we look to the future. We have, in the United States, been profligate in the destruction of wild life, in use of our natural resources and in the pollution of our rivers, even out to the sea, where oil and other waste materials are being dumped, killing fish and those animals and birds that prefer to live in or near water. We do not know what to do with our waste.

When I was a boy, the Hudson River was a beautiful stream in which boys swam and men fished. Today, the part of the river which I see in New York, is filthy beyond imagination. Its color approaches the ugliness of the Yellow River at its mouth. It carries into the ocean tons of disgusting debris. Has not civilization discovered a better way of handling man's waste materials than to turn our rivers into cesspools or into carriers of animal-killing chemicals?

Communists' Build-up Has Defensive Look

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

A little more is now known about the Chinese Communists' military build-up in Fukien province, on the Formosa Strait. A very large force of about 400,000 men is now deployed there, disposed in depth along the coast for approximately 120 miles from the Amoy-Quemoy area northwards. MiG-19 air units have also moved into the Fukien airfields.

The best hunch, which is all anyone can have as yet, remains that the purpose of the build-up is primarily defensive. The reinforcement of Fukien began in March, considerably after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek began talking seriously about a return to the mainland this year.

The extended Communist deployment from the Amoy-Quemoy area northwards has a defensive look, so far as it can be judged, which is not very far. The disposition of the force in depth, from the coastline inwards to the north-south mountain chain that divides Fukien from the rest of China, again looks like a precautionary measure. It could be aimed, in fact, to prevent a popular rising that might otherwise be sparked by the arrival of Nationalist air-dropped troops on the mainland.

Nonetheless, a great uncertainty remains. The Peking government may be exclusively motivated by fear of a landing by Chiang in a time of deep and increasing peasant wretchedness and discontent. But Peking's defensive plans may all too easily include a spoiling attack on the offshore islands in the Formosa Strait, and particularly on Quemoy. Such an attack would be intended to throw Chiang Kai-shek off balance and thus forestall him.

During the campaign, President Kennedy voiced the opinion that Quemoy and the other offshore islands were superfluous positions which might well be abandoned. In so doing, it should be noted, the President was merely echoing the view of the late John Foster Dulles, whose finest feat as Secretary of State was the successful defense of these same islands in the Quemoy crisis in 1958.

The Communists' first attack on Quemoy was made in 1949, when the Nationalist armies were still in flight to Formosa. Substantial Nationalist forces had then been left behind on Quemoy. The Communist attack, which was ill-prepared, was repulsed by the Nationalists with a total Communist loss of close to 20,000 men. Hence the offshore islands remained in Nationalist hands; but in the Truman years hardly any troops were stationed on Quemoy, which Chiang Kai-shek then regarded as indefensible and therefore expendable.

The Dulles-Eisenhower "unleashing" of Chiang Kai-shek was the signal, however, for a powerful build-up by Chiang of large military forces on the offshore islands. This was the origin of Chiang's commitment to defend the islands.

Secretary Dulles did not impede the build-up; but in the first offshore islands crisis he compelled Chiang to evacuate the most exposed of these positions, the Tachen islets. After the second offshore islands crisis in 1958, Dulles also pleaded with Chiang personally and sent emissaries to plead for a retreat from Quemoy and the Matsu islands.

This is worth recalling, because Secretary Dulles also persuaded the reluctant President Eisenhower to run great risks to defend these same islands, which he begged Chiang to evacuate as soon as they were no longer threatened.

In other words, Dulles had no fear of a voluntary withdrawal, carried out when the threat to the islands had been repelled. But he judged that the whole situation in Asia would come to pieces like a rotton melon dropped from a third-story window, if the Chinese Communists were permitted to seize the offshore islands at gunpoint.

By the time President Kennedy took office, the Asian situation had deteriorated seriously, because of the collapse of the Eisenhower policy in Laos and the rising threat to South Viet Nam. This was the somber context of the review of the offshore islands problem conducted by the President in person, with all his highest advisors, just twelve months ago. The question, of course, was whether to try to compel Chiang to evacuate.

There was no great likelihood that Kennedy's pressure on Chiang would succeed where the pressure of Dulles had failed. Chiang might have been faced with an American disclaimer of responsibility for the offshore islands, but this would have amounted to an invitation to a Communist attack. In view of the deteriorated Asian situation, a major Asian retreat, or seeming retreat, appeared to be extremely dangerous, for just the reasons that made Dulles take a hard line in the 1958 Quemoy crisis. Hence President Kennedy did nothing.

In consequence, the President will be confronted with a choice like the 1958 choice, if the Communist build-up in Fukien leads on to a third assault on Quemoy. As already noted, the best hunch still is that the Peking leaders do not plan an assault. But the possibility of an assault is quite strong enough to justify analysis of the factors in the problem; and this will be attempted in a further report.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ATHLETE — Byron "Whizzer" White, the newest appointee to the U. S. Supreme Court, is a famous athlete, having been a luminary in football. He's still a relatively young man, and apparently he's trying to compensate in any way he can for the lack of exercise in his new job.

A law clerk of one of the Justices heard a strange noise in the Supreme Court building, and jumped up from his desk to find out what it was.

There was Mr. Justice White, dribbling a basketball down the marble corridor on his way from his office to the court's gym.

MISSED OPPORTUNITY — An attractive clerk-typist in the office of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, has just missed out on a possible movie career. During the filming of "Advise and Consent," the story about Washington politics, the young lady was given a small speaking part.

She was to say "Good morning," Senator," when Walter Pidgeon, playing the part of a solon, walked into his office. She photographed well and was included in the original version of the film.

However, on the sound track, the Virginia-born miss sounded too southern to be the secretary of a Senator supposed to be from the Midwest. Try as she might, every time she spoke the line it came out "Good Mawnin' Senatuh."

The director had to switch the role to another Capitol Hill secretary—from the Midwest—because the movie-going public is not aware that many Senators go outside of their own state to pick efficient office help.

Carry An Emergency Kit For Insect Allergy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most insect bites are more annoying than serious. The exception occurs in humans allergic to the insect. These people should be desensitized because sudden death may follow severe reactions. This type of therapy is effective in 85 per cent of those treated.

Bees, wasps, hornets, and yellow jackets produce the most violent reactions to perosn once sensitized to stinging insects. Sensitization usually occurs after the victim has been stung once or twice. A second, third, or subsequent sting is followed by pain where the barb was inserted, plus generalized redness of the skin, a feeling of intense heat throughout the body, headache, aching joints, hives, and itching.

Dizziness, weakness, nausea, and abdominal cramps ensue when sensitivity is great. This is followed by shortness of breath, a feeling of constriction in the chest, asthma, and collapse. These symptoms may arise within a few minutes and shock develops unless emergency treatment is given.

The desensitization plan takes a long time and is suggested only for those who have experienced severe local or generalized allergic reactions. Injections are given initially at weekly intervals and then every four weeks over a three year period.

But there is no way to predict what type of reaction will arise; consequently, everyone who is sensitive should carry an emergency kit for handling insect allergy. Dr. Joseph H. Shaffer of Detroit recommends that it contain:

A tweezer to remove the bee sting; an isuprel tablet to dissolve in the mouth; an epinephrine inhaler, to be ued for difficult breathing; a tourniquet to apply on the arm or leg above the sting; and an antiseptic towelette to cleanse it area. Cold or ice packs slow absorption of the venom and an antihistaminic ointment soothes itching. Call the physician at once.

HIGH POCKETS

A. F. writes: I understand diverticulas of the lower colon are common in the middle-aged. Is it possible to get these pockets higher up in the intestine?

REPLY

Yes, but this is unusual. When these lesions develop in the small intestine, they are more likely to be singular than multiple, as in the lower bowel.

Rh NEGATIVE

M. K. writes: Is Rh negative considered a rare blood type?

REPLY

No, even though only 15 per cent of our population is Rh negative.

HEPATITIS EXPOSURE

R. K. writes: One of our neighbors developed hepatitis and their doctor gave the other members of the family shots of some kind. What were these injections for?

REPLY

Gamma globulin is used occasionally to protect those exposed to hepatitis.

VENESECTION

M. A. S. writes: I was reading in a medical book that years ago doctors treated all kinds of diseases, such as infections and dropsy, by bleeding the patient. What was this supposed to do?

REPLY

The old-timers believed venesection would remove the poison causing the disease. The ensuing weakness often was mistaken for relaxation.

NERVOUS STOMACH

I.C. writes: Is a tranquilizer good for mild gastritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided the stomach disorder stems from a nervous or an emotional disorder.

CYSTITIS AND DIABETES

J. P. writes: Is it the usual thing for a diabetic to get cystitis?

REPLY

No, but infections of the bladder are common and diabetics are not immune. When a diabetic develops this condition, it is difficult to treat unless the urine is free of sugar.

TOMORROW: Rabies from contaminated dust.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Harold Ross, founder of the New York Magazine, received a letter one morning from a famous short story writer. Engraved on the letterhead were not only the author's name and address but laudatory quotes from summaries of the writer's work. Ross stewed about this for a week, then had some letterheads of his own printed just so he could answer the famous short story writer in similar style. Ross had HIS name and address engraved on each sheet, plus these two quoted tributes to himself: 1. "A splendid fellow" — Alexander Woollcott. 2. "Among those present was Harold Ross" — Account of a murder trial in the New York Journal.

A meek little gentleman was having a hard time deciding whether or not to buy a poodle that had struck his fancy. He finally told the owner of the kennel, "At moments like this, I rely on my own judgment. And in my judgment, I'd better ask my wife."

Many Factors Contribute To Defeat Of Administration's Key Farm Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The New York Herald Tribune got even with JFK last week. Just before the crucial farm vote, it plastered on page one with photos, the story of a glamorous swimming-pool party staged by the Robert F. Kennedys at which the hostess and some of the guests got dunked.

Not all the details were reported, even by the Herald Trib, but it was the kind of party which doesn't go down well with Congress or a country worried over the stock market, farm surpluses, and unemployment. Southern Congressmen were especially interested in the fact that Ethel Kennedy, sister-in-law of the President, twisted with Harry Belafonte, well-known Negro singer.

The swimming-pool story, together with other factors, was enough to switch the narrow margin of votes which Administration leaders thought were lined up for the farm bill.

At a previous party, Teddy Kennedy, now a candidate for the Senate in Massachusetts, got dunked in his brother Bobby's pool, then, dripping like a wet collie dog, proceeded to invite the ladies to dance.

At last week's swimming-pool party, Ethel Kennedy balanced a table on a plank over one end of the pool and invited Col. John Glenn, the astronaut, and "Whizzer" White, newly appointed Supreme Court justice, to sit at the table with her. Justice White wisely and politely declined. Colonel Glenn did not, but escaped a dunking. Arthur Schlesinger, Mrs. Kennedy, and Mrs. Spencer Davis all landed in the water.

Other factors contributed to the Herald Tribune swimming-pool story.

Helter-Skelter Democracy

The techniques of Democracy are sometimes helter-skelter. And the public, which must obey the laws that Congress passes, never knows how last-minute may be the margins or how important the personalities which decide and influence the voting.

In the case of the farm bill it was not only the Attorney General's party, but the personality of Rep. Harold Cooley, the North Carolina Democrat who heads the House Agriculture Committee, which partly influence the farm vote. Some called "aye" against the bill in resentment against Cooley. ("Aye" killed the bill by sending it back to committee.) They were especially resentful when Cooley alloted only one minute and a haif to venerable Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia to speak on an amendment.

Growled Rep. Burr Harrison of Virginia afterward: "Limiting Howard Smith to only a minute and a half was too much to take."

Five of the Virginia Democrats voted against the Administration. If they had voted the other way, it would have tied the vote and let Speaker McCormack break the tie in favor of Kennedy.

Quirks Of Legislation

There were other quirks of fate which decided the voting on one of the key bills of this Congress.

Neal Smith, highly respected Democrat from the Iowa Corn Belt, got mad at some of the amendments and cast his vote against the Administration. He faces a tough re-election battle with a goodlooking Republican lady running against him.

Alvin O'Konsky of Wisconsin was one of the few Republicans who had been counted on as favoring the farm bill. But though he had been instrumental in getting the Agriculture Department to extend feed grain support prices to Wisconsin, the Agriculture Department let Sen. Bill Proxmire, who had opposed the Administration on parts of the farm bill, make the announcement. Naturally, O'Konsky got mad. He voted against the Administration.

A vote on the bill was expected at 6 p. m. but as debate continued, and as amendment after amendment was read by the clerk, tempers got frayed and the constructive legislative process became impossible. Amendments were read by the clerk and voted on without discussion.

Silly Amendment

One amendment by Robert Griffin, Republican of Traverse City, the cherry capital of Michigan, provided that the number of personnel in the Agriculture Department should not be larger than the number of farmers in the United States. With a roar the House accepted it. Even Chairman Cooley, floor manager for the bill, concurred.

Then Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic leader, got sore. He demanded a division vote. The amendment was defeated.

Some of the debate was equally silly, as the House of Representatives, arm of the most important free legislature in the world, considered a bill which was to eliminate stockpiles and regulate one of the most important industries in the nation.

After the vote, Kenneth Birkhead, assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, phoned to break the news to the man who had worked a solid year to formulate the bill.

"It was the hardest phone call," said Birkhead, "I've ever made, except when I phoned mother to say that father had died."

It was hot. At midnight, the marquee lights were out. A cab driver tossed a rubber ball to a Negro doorman on West 47th Street. The doorman made a stab, missed it, and the ball bounded down the sidewalk in front of the Baltimore Theatre. A man in tan slacks came out of a dark alley with his jacket over his arm. He caught the ball.

He went through the elaborate motions of ham pitcher, including the full stop, and heaved it to the doorman. Then he smiled, got into his little Porsche, and drove away. Over the theatre, the sign said: "Art Carney in Take Her, She's Mine."

Carney has came out of all of the alleys of life alone. He started with a slender talent for imitating the voices and mannerisms of the great: Churchill, Roosevelt, Hitler, Gandhi, Stalin. He practiced and polished and perfected his gift until it glittered. Now Mr. Carney is one of the fine actors of our time.

He is a lot more than Ed Norton, Who worked in the sewers while Ralph Cramden drove a bus. He is more than Frank Michaelson, who is the father in "Take Her, She's Mine." I have watched him rehearse funny parts in television, Carney is bigger than any of them.

Still, he is a loner. The lights were out when he left the Biltmore a few nights ago. All the other actors had gone. He had remained in his dressing room, helping his assistant, Clarence, cover the dressing table with with blue pliofilm, sipping a honey from a jar, changing to washable slacks and plaid sports shirt, and making notes in a little book.

No one recognized him. Offstage, he is a straight slender man with a good face and brownish hair in tight waves. He looks like the neighbor whose name nobody can remember; like the church usher who took up the collection last Sunday; the food checker at the Supermarket; the patron at the corner tavern who plays darts for beers.

In reality, Art Carney is shy. At a cocktail party he is the one perspiring in a corner. His friends--real friends--can be counted on the fingers of one thumb. I know two: Bill McCaffery, his manager, and Sidney Fields of The Mirror. He lives in a big house in Westchester which is a full block away from the road, screened by trees.

He has a lovely wife and three children. I have never seen Mrs. Carney in a nightclub. Carney agonized for a week before sending a son to a private school. The public school sessions had been cut down due to over-registration. He was afraid that the move would look ostentatious.

Carney is a long-distance listener. He courts opinions as though they were valid, and he pretends to have few of his own. And yet, when he steps into the spotlight, the eyes take on a sparkle and the voice becomes assured and rich, the gestures are lean and flawless and he plays his audience as though they were so many harmonic strings on an instrument he invented.

In "Take Her, She's Mine," he is the fretful father whose daughter is about to leave home for a distant college. The situation could have been written from memory by Danny Thomas or Robert Young, but Carney does not — and will not — portray the bumbling, stumbling stupid daddy. He comes through as an observant father gifted with wit and a deep affection for a child who is about to step off the edge of home into the empty spaces of life.

Oh, he's funny all right. All Carney has to do to be funny is show up. But when he wants to abrase the hearts of parents in the audience he does it swiftly and without mercy and you find yourself slinking into your seat mumbling: "He's aiming at me." He, and the Ephrons who wrote the play, understand the martini type parents with the olive-sized brains and the pimento eyes.

He moved the little Porsche down 47th to the express highway and on up the Hudson, sniffing the cool night breeze and humming off-key nonsense. When he arrived home, it was 1 a.m. and everyone was in bed. The loner was truly alone again.

Tomorrow, he would get out of bed and, like the human squirrel he is, Art Carney would work hard to store more acorns for his family. He is easy to direct; he shows up on time; he doesn't drink; he thinks that temperament is something a wife shows when she hits her finger with a hammer.

He saves money and he says that glamour is the name of a magazine. He is as humble as a clergyman at prayer, and just as confident of the future . . .

Engineering Student Dropout Is Disgrace

Dr. Robert W. Van Houten describes the increasing number of "dropouts" among engineering students in the U. S. as a "national disgrace." The president of Newark College of Engineering told the American Society for Engineering Education, which he also heads, that about half of those who enter engineering colleges in the U. S. never graduate.

The situation is aggravated by a steady decline in engineering enrollments, Dr. Van Houten says, and as a result schools are able to satisfy only 50 per cent of industry's annual demand for 80,000 new engineers.

The picture becomes even more alarming in the light of a recent finding by the National Science Foundation that Russia is graduating three times as many engineers each year as the United States. This country's shortage of engineers could tip the balance of brain power against the free world.

Educators and government officials are studying the problem, but thus far have been unable either to pinpoint its causes or to suggest a solution. If the situation is not corrected and the trend reversed, what Dr. Van Houten calls a national disgrace may become a national calamity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Dodo

In the struggle for existence, Man has reduced mountains, harnessed streams, emptied forests of trees, created deserts and destroyed men and animals. This has often been called progress.

I like dirt roads and said that I would fight hard to prevent anyone from putting a black top on my dirt road. Said another, "You cannot stop progress." But if spoiling the beauty of a rural scene is progress, let there be no progress. For who can fail to be moved by the pussy-willow emerging in the Springtime or the old-fashioned lilac growing alongside a stone wall or the smell of the Earth after a Spring rain?

Of course, there are some who are moved by nothing but a belly-dancer and we must leave such to Senator McClellan's investigators. For the question of demand and supply enters here; if there is a demand for bums to satisfy bums, there will undoubtedly be a supply. Life is like that and no legislation has yet been discovered to impose morals or even a sense of decency upon those who prefer vice and hooliganism.

Among the progresses made over the centuries by man has been the extermination of wild life throughout the world. This process is continuing in many countries not only because man needs to eat flesh but because, since it is no longer pleasant for man to kill man, he spends days, if he can afford it, shooting wild animals who have done him no harm and whose life is as valuable as the shooter's. This is called sport and is quite a business for those who engage in it.

Besides, we use all sorts of poisons to kill bugs and parasites. And the poisons are eaten by birds and animals and then they die. And if enough of them die, there will be no pollination of plants and we shall die on our petard. Farmers have learned all about that and some are returning to the organic habits of their ancestors. When the earthworm disappears the product is not the same.

The American whooping crane, the grizzly bear and the rhinoceros are in danger. The World Wildlife Fund reports that 200 species of birds and mammals have been exterminated directly or indirectly by man. And the report says that they can never be re-created.

If this is progress, we do not need progress. If Man in his march toward a higher civilization, needs to destroy everything that is beautiful and unsynthetic upon this Earth, then he is as savage as those tribes that killed their aged to make room for the new-born.

Progress is a wonderful thing but when, in a world of overproduction, human beings starve and animals perish for lack of water, we have learned little more than Marco Polo knew.

For if you will read Marco Polo carefully and have before you a map with pins, you will find that many places that he mentioned as verdant and delightful are now in deserts. In fact, I once calculated that the desert moved about 200 miles south of the Marco Polo line. That is a man-made desert, because it was man who destroyed the forests and therefore left wild life without protection and food. Shall man, in the present population explosion, increase the desert areas of this Earth? Even the 17-year locust refuses to come to New York.

It is something to think about these days as we look to the future. We have, in the United States, been profligate in the destruction of wild life, in use of our natural resources and in the pollution of our rivers, even out to the sea, where oil and other waste materials are being dumped, killing fish and those animals and birds that prefer to live in or near water. We do not know what to do with our waste.

When I was a boy, the Hudson River was a beautiful stream in which boys swam and men fished. Today, the part of the river which I see in New York, is filthy beyond imagination. Its color approaches the ugliness of the Yellow River at its mouth. It carries into the ocean tons of disgusting debris. Has not civilization discovered a better way of handling man's waste materials than to turn our rivers into cesspools or into carriers of animal-killing chemicals?

Communists' Build-up Has Defensive Look

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

A little more is now known about the Chinese Communists' military build-up in Fukien province, on the Formosa Strait. A very large force of about 400,000 men is now deployed there, disposed in depth along the coast for approximately 120 miles from the Amoy-Quemoy area northwards. MiG-19 air units have also moved into the Fukien airfields.

The best hunch, which is all anyone can have as yet, remains that the purpose of the build-up is primarily defensive. The reinforcement of Fukien began in March, considerably after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek began talking seriously about a return to the mainland this year.

The extended Communist deployment from the Amoy-Quemoy area northwards has a defensive look, so far as it can be judged, which is not very far. The disposition of the force in depth, from the coastline inwards to the north-south mountain chain that divides Fukien from the rest of China, again looks like a precautionary measure. It could be aimed, in fact, to prevent a popular rising that might otherwise be sparked by the arrival of Nationalist air-dropped troops on the mainland.

Nonetheless, a great uncertainty remains. The Peking government may be exclusively motivated by fear of a landing by Chiang in a time of deep and increasing peasant wretchedness and discontent. But Peking's defensive plans may all too easily include a spoiling attack on the offshore islands in the Formosa Strait, and particularly on Quemoy. Such an attack would be intended to throw Chiang Kai-shek off balance and thus forestall him.

During the campaign, President Kennedy voiced the opinion that Quemoy and the other offshore islands were superfluous positions which might well be abandoned. In so doing, it should be noted, the President was merely echoing the view of the late John Foster Dulles, whose finest feat as Secretary of State was the successful defense of these same islands in the Quemoy crisis in 1958.

The Communists' first attack on Quemoy was made in 1949, when the Nationalist armies were still in flight to Formosa. Substantial Nationalist forces had then been left behind on Quemoy. The Communist attack, which was ill-prepared, was repulsed by the Nationalists with a total Communist loss of close to 20,000 men. Hence the offshore islands remained in Nationalist hands; but in the Truman years hardly any troops were stationed on Quemoy, which Chiang Kai-shek then regarded as indefensible and therefore expendable.

The Dulles-Eisenhower "unleashing" of Chiang Kai-shek was the signal, however, for a powerful build-up by Chiang of large military forces on the offshore islands. This was the origin of Chiang's commitment to defend the islands.

Secretary Dulles did not impede the build-up; but in the first offshore islands crisis he compelled Chiang to evacuate the most exposed of these positions, the Tachen islets. After the second offshore islands crisis in 1958, Dulles also pleaded with Chiang personally and sent emissaries to plead for a retreat from Quemoy and the Matsu islands.

This is worth recalling, because Secretary Dulles also persuaded the reluctant President Eisenhower to run great risks to defend these same islands, which he begged Chiang to evacuate as soon as they were no longer threatened.

In other words, Dulles had no fear of a voluntary withdrawal, carried out when the threat to the islands had been repelled. But he judged that the whole situation in Asia would come to pieces like a rotton melon dropped from a third-story window, if the Chinese Communists were permitted to seize the offshore islands at gunpoint.

By the time President Kennedy took office, the Asian situation had deteriorated seriously, because of the collapse of the Eisenhower policy in Laos and the rising threat to South Viet Nam. This was the somber context of the review of the offshore islands problem conducted by the President in person, with all his highest advisors, just twelve months ago. The question, of course, was whether to try to compel Chiang to evacuate.

There was no great likelihood that Kennedy's pressure on Chiang would succeed where the pressure of Dulles had failed. Chiang might have been faced with an American disclaimer of responsibility for the offshore islands, but this would have amounted to an invitation to a Communist attack. In view of the deteriorated Asian situation, a major Asian retreat, or seeming retreat, appeared to be extremely dangerous, for just the reasons that made Dulles take a hard line in the 1958 Quemoy crisis. Hence President Kennedy did nothing.

In consequence, the President will be confronted with a choice like the 1958 choice, if the Communist build-up in Fukien leads on to a third assault on Quemoy. As already noted, the best hunch still is that the Peking leaders do not plan an assault. But the possibility of an assault is quite strong enough to justify analysis of the factors in the problem; and this will be attempted in a further report.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ATHLETE — Byron "Whizzer" White, the newest appointee to the U. S. Supreme Court, is a famous athlete, having been a luminary in football. He's still a relatively young man, and apparently he's trying to compensate in any way he can for the lack of exercise in his new job.

A law clerk of one of the Justices heard a strange noise in the Supreme Court building, and jumped up from his desk to find out what it was.

There was Mr. Justice White, dribbling a basketball down the marble corridor on his way from his office to the court's gym.

MISSED OPPORTUNITY — An attractive clerk-typist in the office of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, has just missed out on a possible movie career. During the filming of "Advise and Consent," the story about Washington politics, the young lady was given a small speaking part.

She was to say "Good morning," Senator," when Walter Pidgeon, playing the part of a solon, walked into his office. She photographed well and was included in the original version of the film.

However, on the sound track, the Virginia-born miss sounded too southern to be the secretary of a Senator supposed to be from the Midwest. Try as she might, every time she spoke the line it came out "Good Mawnin' Senatuh."

The director had to switch the role to another Capitol Hill secretary—from the Midwest—because the movie-going public is not aware that many Senators go outside of their own state to pick efficient office help.

Many Factors Contribute To Defeat Of Administration's Key Farm Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The New York Herald Tribune got even with JFK last week. Just before the crucial farm vote, it plastered on page one with photos, the story of a glamorous swimming-pool party staged by the Robert F. Kennedys at which the hostess and some of the guests got dunked.

Not all the details were reported, even by the Herald Trib, but it was the kind of party which doesn't go down well with Congress or a country worried over the stock market, farm surpluses, and unemployment. Southern Congressmen were especially interested in the fact that Ethel Kennedy, sister-in-law of the President, twisted with Harry Belafonte, well-known Negro singer.

The swimming-pool story, together with other factors, was enough to switch the narrow margin of votes which Administration leaders thought were lined up for the farm bill.

At a previous party, Teddy Kennedy, now a candidate for the Senate in Massachusetts, got dunked in his brother Bobby's pool, then, dripping like a wet collie dog, proceeded to invite the ladies to dance.

At last week's swimming-pool party, Ethel Kennedy balanced a table on a plank over one end of the pool and invited Col. John Glenn, the astronaut, and "Whizzer" White, newly appointed Supreme Court justice, to sit at the table with her. Justice White wisely and politely declined. Colonel Glenn did not, but escaped a dunking. Arthur Schlesinger, Mrs. Kennedy, and Mrs. Spencer Davis all landed in the water.

Other factors contributed to the Herald Tribune swimming-pool story.

Helter-Skelter Democracy

The techniques of Democracy are sometimes helter-skelter. And the public, which must obey the laws that Congress passes, never knows how last-minute may be the margins or how important the personalities which decide and influence the voting.

In the case of the farm bill it was not only the Attorney General's party, but the personality of Rep. Harold Cooley, the North Carolina Democrat who heads the House Agriculture Committee, which partly influence the farm vote. Some called "aye" against the bill in resentment against Cooley. ("Aye" killed the bill by sending it back to committee.) They were especially resentful when Cooley alloted only one minute and a half to venerable Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia to speak on an amendment.

Growled Rep. Burr Harrison of Virginia afterward: "Limiting Howard Smith to only a minute and a half was too much to take."

Five of the Virginia Democrats voted against the Administration. If they had voted the other way, it would have tied the vote and let Speaker McCormack break the tie in favor of Kennedy.

Carry An Emergency Kit For Insect Allergy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most insect bites are more annoying than serious. The exception occurs in humans allergic to the insect. These people should be desensitized because sudden death may follow severe reactions. This type of therapy is effective in 95 per cent of those treated.

Bees, wasps, hornets, and yellow jackets produce the most violent reactions to perosn once sensitized to stinging insects. Sensitization usually occurs after the victim has been stung once or twice. A second, third, or subsequent sting is followed by pain where the barb was inserted, plus generalized redness of the skin, a feeling of intense heat throughout the body, headache, aching joints, hives, and itching.

Dizziness, weakness, nausea, and abdominal cramps ensue when sensitivity is great. This is followed by shortness of breath, a feeling of constriction in the chest, asthma, and collapse. These symptoms may arise within a few minutes and shock develops unless emergency treatment is given.

The desensitization plan takes a long time and is suggested only for those who have experienced severe local or generalized allergic reactions. Injections are given initially at weekly intervals and then every four weeks over a three year period.

But there is no way to predict what type of reaction will arise; consequently, everyone who is sensitive should carry an emergency kit for handling insect allergy. Dr. Joseph H. Shaffer of Detroit recommends that it contain:

A tweezer to remove the bee sting; an isuprel tablet to dissolve in the mouth; an epinephrine inhaler, to be ued for difficult breathing; a tourniquet to apply on the arm or leg above the sting; and an antiseptic towelette to cleanse it area. Cold or ice packs slow absorption of the venom and an antihistaminic ointment soothes itching. Call the physician at once.

HIGH POCKETS

A. F. writes: I understand diverticulas of the lower colon are common in the middle-aged. Is it possible to get these pockets higher up in the intestine?

REPLY

Yes, but this is unusual. When these lesions develop in the small intestine, they are more likely to be singular than multiple, as in the lower bowel.

Rh NEGATIVE

M. K. writes: Is Rh negative considered a rare blood type?

REPLY

No, even though only 15 per cent of our population is Rh negative.

HEPATITIS EXPOSURE

R. K. writes: One of our neighbors developed hepatitis and their doctor gave the other members of the family shots of some kind. What were these injections for?

REPLY

Gamma globulin is used occasionally to protect those exposed to hepatitis.

VENESECTION

M. A. S. writes: I was reading in a medical book that years ago doctors treated all kinds of diseases, such as infections and dropsy, by bleeding the patient. What was this supposed to do?

REPLY

The old-timers believed venesection would remove the poison causing the disease. The ensuing weakness often was mistaken for relaxation.

NERVOUS STOMACH

I.C. writes: Is a tranquilizer good for mild gastritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided the stomach disorder stems from a nervous or an emotional disorder.

CYSTITIS AND DIABETES

J. P. writes: Is it the usual thing for a diabetic to get cystitis?

REPLY

No, but infections of the bladder are common and diabetics are not immune. When a diabetic develops this condition, it is difficult to treat unless the urine is free of sugar.

TOMORROW: Rabies from contaminated dust.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Harold Ross, founder of the New York Magazine, received a letter one morning from a famous short story writer. Engraved on the letterhead were not only the author's name and address but laudatory quotes from summaries of the writer's work. Ross stewed about this for a week, then had some letterheads of his own printed just so he could answer the famous short story writer in similar style. Ross had HIS name and address engraved on each sheet, plus these two quoted tributes to himself: 1. "A splendid fellow" — Alexander Woollcott. 2. "Among those present was Harold Ross" — Account of a murder trial in the New York Journal.

A meek little gentleman was having a hard time deciding whether or not to buy a poodle that had struck his fancy. He finally told the owner of the kennel, "At moments like this, I rely on my own judgment. And in my judgment, I'd better ask my wife."

Earl Wilson Hurls No-Hitter As Boston Nips Los Angeles, 2-0

Bosox Hurler Belts Home Run To Aid Cause

Tosses 1st Complete Game To Defeat Angels' Belinsky

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston fastballer Earl Wilson fired a no-hitter at the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night and hit his second major league homer in a 2-0 Red Sox victory.

Wilson's homer, a blast into the left field screen, was his second in the major leagues and his second of the season. It was the first hit given up by Belinsky who also was charged with an unearned run on a total of three hits during the seven innings he worked.

Belinsky walked three and struck out 10 before being removed for a pinchhitter. Reliefer Dean Chance pitched the eighth inning, giving up Boston's fourth and fifth hits, both singles.

Wilson Is Mobbed

Wilson was mobbed by players, fans and Fenway Park attendants when he got Los Angeles slugger Lee Thomas to fly deep to center field to end the game.

It was Wilson's first complete game of the season and gave him his sixth victory against two defeats.

Wilson, winning his third decision in succession and his sixth game in his last seven decisions, faced only 31 Los Angeles batters. He set down the last 11 Angels in order to preserve his no hit, no run game.

After walking Thomas to open the second, he passed Earl Averill and Eddie Yost in succession with one out in the fifth. However, Wilson got Joe Koppe on a long fly that carried to within four feet of the left field wall and Belinsky on a fly to shallow center to end the inning.

Strands Billy Moran

After Albie Pearson had flied out to open the sixth, Wilson walked Los Angeles infielder Billy Moran but stranded him on second as he entered his 11-men-in-succession streak.

The no-hitter was the first in Fenway Park since Detroit's Jim Bunning threw one at the Red Sox on July 20, 1958. It was the first Red Sox no-hitter since the retired Mel Parnell blanked Chicago here on July 14, 1956.

Infield Hit Wins Contest In Ninth

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Two bunts and an infield single that traveled half way to the pitcher's mound in the ninth inning broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Chicago's John Buzhardt and Baltimore's Milt Pappas an gave the Orioles a 1-0 victory over the White Sox Tuesday night.

Baltimore's John Powell led off the last of the ninth inning with a single to center. Dave Nicholson ran for him. Ron Hansen laid down a sacrifice bunt and Chicago catcher Camilo Carreon elected to try and get Nicholson at second. His throw was late and both runners were safe.

Then Hobie Landrith laid down another bunt. Buzhardt threw to third base and again Nicholson beat the throw. The bases now were loaded with none out. Landrith's bunt was scored as a hit.

Charlie Lau then pinch-hit for Pappas and popped a pitch halfway to the mound. Buzhardt charged it but could not pick up the ball and Nicholson scored. Lau was credited with a single.

Pappas allowed only four hits in picking up his eighth win against three defeats. Buzhardt, who last won with a shutout over the Orioles on June 3, lost his fourth straight game for a 6-8 record.

Tigers' Homers Beat Tribe, 6-0

Colavito Belts Grand-Slammer

DETROIT (UPI)—Rocky Colavito hit the sixth grand slam homer of his career and Jim Bunning hurled four-hit ball to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-0 victory over the league leading Cleveland Indians Tuesday night in the first game of a twi-nighter.

Colavito slammed his 15th homer of the season in the eighth inning after Bill Bruton's single, a walk and Woody Held's throwing error loaded the bases with one away.

The homer came off loser Pedro Ramos who, until the seventh, had been breezing along on a one-hitter.

Dick McAuliffe broke up an intense mound duel between Bunning and Ramos in the seventh when he hit a two-run homer off Ramos.

McAuliffe's blast snapped the Tigers scoreless streak at 31 innings. The Tigers were held scoreless for the last 16 innings in Sunday's record breaking marathon with New York and were blanked for nine innings Monday for the Yankees.

Salvation Army snapped a three-game losing streak in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday, walloping Rotary, 21-9, in the first game of a twin bill at Penn Avenue field to spoil the debut of new Rotary manager Herman Snoots.

Snoots, taking over the Rotary reins from Lonnie Jackson who resigned, was formerly a coach for the Elks. He previously managed a little league team at Brunswick before being transferred to Cumberland.

Bill Deffinbaugh picked up the win when Salvation Army overcame a 9-8 deficit with five runs in the fifth and eight more in the sixth inning.

Ed Hendrickson smashed out a triple, double and two singles and Rip Colihan had a double and three singles to pace the S.A. attack. Terry Deremer chipped in with three hits and Dave Miltenberger had a triple and single.

George Showalter, the losing pitcher, had two hits for the Rotary. The results:

Budd Signs Eagles Pact

Forsakes Another Olympics Effort

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Forsaking another shot at the Olympics for "my first love, football," Frank Budd, Villanova's great sprinter, has signed to play for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Vince McNally, general manager of the Eagles, said Tuesday Budd signed a standard NFL contract with no promises—at least publicly—that he'll be retained unless he makes the squad.

A reliable source confided, however, that the former all-New Jersey high school tailback received a bonus and assurance he'll be kept around for at least a season if he shows any signs of being pro football material.

The Eagles weren't exactly buying a "pig in a poke" in making Budd their seventh draft choice this year and signing the 100-yard dash world record holder. Although he didn't play college football, Budd scored 98 points as a single wing tailbck in his senior year at Asbury Park, N.J., high school.

Bucs Defeat Mets, 5 To 2

Pittsburgh Hands N.Y. 50th Loss

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Relief pitchers Earl Francis and ElRoy Face combined talents Tuesday night to help the Pittsburgh Pirates hand the New York Mets their 50th loss of the season, 5-2.

Francis entered the game in the third inning after southpaw Joe Gibbon jammed the fingers on his pitching hand while sliding into second base. Francis sailed along on a one-hitter until the eighth when the Mets scored a run on three hits and a passed ball.

Face relieved Francis at that stage and struck out Gil Hodges for the last out of the inning. He breezed through the ninth to preserve the triumph.

Francis was only in one serious jam prior to the eighth. That was in the fifth inning when the Mets loaded the bases on a single and two walks. Francis ended the threat by getting Felix Mantilla on a fly ball to center.

Phillies 6, Colts 4

Hamilton, pitching his first major league shutout, gave up singles in the first and second innings of the opener, worked himself out of a tough spot in the eighth to preserve it, and won his fifth of the year when the Phils scored both of their runs off former teammate Dick Farrell in the second inning.

Farrell gave up only three hits, all in the same inning, and wild-pitched one Phil run home. Clay Dalrymple's double, a run-scoring single by Don Demeter, a single by Frank Torre, followed by a forceout and the wild pitch, accounted for all of the scoring.

The Phils, leading 2-0, chased starter Jim Golden with three runs in the fourth inning of the nightcap. Two scored on Dalrymple's triple and another on Mahaffey's single.

Also coming home with 74s yesterday were Ken Kettle of Bethesda, James Ball, Baltimore and Melvin Rifman, Randallstown. They trail the two leaders Larry Ringer of LaPlata and Bill Watson, Catonsville, who shot 71s to hold a three-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the 36-hole finale.

The second round will get underway at 8 o'clock this morning followed by a trophy luncheon at Varsity Grill on the campus this afternoon.

The four top golfers in the Maryland tournament will qualify to go to the National Jaycees Tournament at Huntington, W. Va., August 18.

Other locals in the tournament did not fare so well. Warren Lancaster of Maplehurst shot a 79, Harold Appel of Cumberland fired a 102 and Gary Orr of Oakland had a 95.

Twins Blank Yankees, 5-0

Pascual Whiffs 12 New Yorkers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Richie Rollins drove in four runs with a pair of homers and Camilo Pascual overpowered the New York Yankees with 12 strikeouts Tuesday night for a 5-0 victory that boosted the Minnesota Twins within a half-game of first place.

Rollins, bidding for the all-star third-base berth, enjoyed a brilliant night with successive two-run homers plus two singles which raised his batting average to .337.

Pascual was in command throughout. He did not walk a batter and scattered nine singles in registering his 11th victory compared with four defeats. His total of 101 strikeouts is tops in the American League.

The hard-throwing Minnesota right-hander was especially effective against the "heart" of the Yankees' lineup, fanning Roger Maris three times and cleanup hitter John Blanchard twice. Pascual also struck out pinch-hitter Mickey Mantle with the bases full in the ninth.

The 25-year-old righthander, who had absorbed six straight losses before Tuesday night's breakthrough, limited the Senators to six hits and the one run he gave up was unearned.

Kansas City nicked Washington starter and loser Tom Cheney for both its runs in the first five innings. In the first, Jose Tartabull singled, stole second and went to third on a wild throw, then came home on Gino Cimoli's single.

Cimoli walked in the third inning and came all the way around on Manny Jiminez' double.

Earl Wilson Hurls No-Hitter As Boston Nips Los Angeles, 2-0

Tosses 1st Complete Game To Defeat Angels' Belinsky

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston fastballer Earl Wilson fired a no-hitter at the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night and hit his second major league homer in a 2-0 Red Sox victory.

Wilson's homer, a blast into the left field screen, was his second in the major leagues and his second of the season. It was the first hit given up by Belinsky who also was charged with an unearned run on a total of three hits during the seven innings he worked.

Belinsky walked three and struck out 10 before being removed for a pinchhitter. Reliefer Dean Chance pitched the eighth inning, giving up Boston's fourth and fifth hits, both singles.

Wilson Is Mobbed

Wilson was mobbed by players, fans and Fenway Park attendants when he got Los Angeles slugger Lee Thomas to fly deep to center field to end the game.

It was Wilson's first complete game of the season and gave him his sixth victory against two defeats.

Wilson, winning his third decision in succession and his sixth game in his last seven decisions, faced only 31 Los Angeles batters. He set down the last 11 Angels in order to preserve his no hit, no run game.

After walking Thomas to open the second, he passed Earl Averill and Eddie Yost in succession with one out in the fifth. However, Wilson got Joe Koppe on a long fly that carried to within four feet of the left field wall and Belinsky on a fly to shallow center to end the inning.

Strands Billy Moran

After Albie Pearson had flied out to open the sixth, Wilson walked Los Angeles infielder Billy Moran but stranded him on second as he entered his 11-men-in-succession streak.

The no-hitter was the first in Fenway Park since Detroit's Jim Bunning threw one at the Red Sox on July 20, 1958. It was the first Red Sox no-hitter since the retired Mel Parnell blanked Chicago here on July 14, 1956.

Infield Hit Wins Contest In Ninth

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Two bunts and an infield single that traveled half way to the pitcher's mound in the ninth inning broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Chicago's John Buzhardt and Baltimore's Milt Pappas an gave the Orioles a 1-0 victory over the White Sox Tuesday night.

Baltimore's John Powell led off the last of the ninth inning with a single to center. Dave Nicholson ran for him. Ron Hansen laid down a sacrifice bunt and Chicago catcher Camilo Carreon elected to try and get Nicholson at second. His throw was late and both runners were safe.

Then Hobie Landrith laid down another bunt. Buzhardt threw to third base and again Nicholson beat the throw. The bases now were loaded with none out. Landrith's bunt was scored as a hit.

Charlie Lau then pinch-hit for Pappas and popped a pitch halfway to the mound. Buzhardt charged it but could not pick up the ball and Nicholson scored. Lau was credited with a single.

Pappas allowed only four hits in picking up his eighth win against three defeats. Buzhardt, who last won with a shutout over the Orioles on June 3, lost his fourth straight game for a 6-8 record.

Tigers' Homers Beat Tribe, 6-0

Colavito Belts Grand-Slammer

DETROIT (UPI)—Rocky Colavito hit the sixth grand slam homer of his career and Jim Bunning hurled four-hit ball to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-0 victory over the league leading Cleveland Indians Tuesday night in the first game of a twi-nighter.

Colavito slammed his 15th homer of the season in the eighth inning after Bill Bruton's single, a walk and Woody Held's throwing error loaded the bases with one away.

The homer came off loser Pedro Ramos who, until the seventh, had been breezing along on a one-hitter.

Dick McAuliffe broke up an intense mound duel between Bunning and Ramos in the seventh when he hit a two-run homer off Ramos.

McAuliffe's blast snapped the Tigers scoreless streak at 31 innings. The Tigers were held scoreless for the last 16 innings in Sunday's record breaking marathon with New York and were blanked for nine innings Monday for the Yankees.

Budd Signs Eagles Pact

Forsakes Another Olympics Effort

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Forsaking another shot at the Olympics for "my first love, football," Frank Budd, Villanova's great sprinter, has signed to play for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Vince McNally, general manager of the Eagles, said Tuesday Budd signed a standard NFL contract with no promises—at least publicly—that he'll be retained unless he makes the squad.

A reliable source confided, however, that the former all-New Jersey high school tailback received a bonus and assurance he'll be kept around for at least a season if he shows any signs of being pro football material.

The Eagles weren't exactly buying a "pig in a poke" in making Budd their seventh draft choice this year and signing the 100-yard dash world record holder. Although he didn't play college football, Budd scored 98 points as a single wing tailbck in his senior year at Asbury Park, N.J., high school.

Bucs Defeat Mets, 5 To 2

Pittsburgh Hands N.Y. 50th Loss

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Relief pitchers Earl Francis and ElRoy Face combined talents Tuesday night to help the Pittsburgh Pirates hand the New York Mets their 50th loss of the season, 5-2.

Francis entered the game in the third inning after southpaw Joe Gibbon jammed the fingers on his pitching hand while sliding into second base. Francis sailed along on a one-hitter until the eighth when the Mets scored a run on three hits and a passed ball.

Face relieved Francis at that stage and struck out Gil Hodges for the last out of the inning. He breezed through the ninth to preserve the triumph.

Francis was only in one serious jam prior to the eighth. That was in the fifth inning when the Mets loaded the bases on a single and two walks. Francis ended the threat by getting Felix Mantilla on a fly ball to center.

Hamilton, pitching his first major league shutout, gave up singles in the first and second innings of the opener, worked himself out of a tough spot in the eighth to preserve it, and won his fifth of the year when the Phils scored both of their runs off former teammate Dick Farrell in the second inning.

Farrell gave up only three hits, all in the same inning, and wild-pitched one Phil run home. Clay Dalrymple's double, a run-scoring single by Don Demeter, a single by Frank Torre, followed by a forceout and the wild pitch, accounted for all of the scoring.

The Phils, leading 2-0, chased starter Jim Golden with three runs in the fourth inning of the nightcap. Two scored on Dalrymple's triple and another on Mahaffey's single.

Also coming home with 74s yesterday were Ken Kettle of Bethesda, James Ball, Baltimore and Melvin Rifman, Randallstown. They trail the two leaders Larry Ringer of LaPlata and Bill Watson, Catonsville, who shot 71s to hold a three-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the 36-hole finale.

The second round will get underway at 8 o'clock this morning followed by a trophy luncheon at Varsity Grill on the campus this afternoon.

The four top golfers in the Maryland tournament will qualify to go to the National Jaycees Tournament at Huntington, W. Va., August 18.

Other locals in the tournament did not fare so well. Warren Lancaster of Maplehurst shot a 79, Harold Appel of Cumberland fired a 102 and Gary Orr of Oakland had a 95.

Twins Blank Yankees, 5-0

Pascual Whiffs 12 New Yorkers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Richie Rollins drove in four runs with a pair of homers and Camilo Pascual overpowered the New York Yankees with 12 strikeouts Tuesday night for a 5-0 victory that boosted the Minnesota Twins within a half-game of first place.

Rollins, bidding for the all-star third-base berth, enjoyed a brilliant night with successive two-run homers plus two singles which raised his batting average to .337.

Pascual was in command throughout. He did not walk a batter and scattered nine singles in registering his 11th victory compared with four defeats. His total of 101 strikeouts is tops in the American League.

The hard-throwing Minnesota right-hander was especially effective against the "heart" of the Yankees' lineup, fanning Roger Maris three times and cleanup hitter John Blanchard twice. Pascual also struck out pinch-hitter Mickey Mantle with the bases full in the ninth.

The 25-year-old righthander, who had absorbed six straight losses before Tuesday night's breakthrough, limited the Senators to six hits and the one run he gave up was unearned.

Kansas City nicked Washington starter and loser Tom Cheney for both its runs in the first five innings. In the first, Jose Tartabull singled, stole second and went to third on a wild throw, then came home on Gino Cimoli's single.

Cimoli walked in the third inning and came all the way around on Manny Jiminez' double.

Football Bowl Friday To Use New 1962 Rules

Top College Seniors To Play In Contest

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Friday's All-America Football Bowl game will be the first played under 1962 intercollegiate rules, it was announced Tuesday. But the only apparent difference to the spectator or television viewer will be on punts that land inside the 10-yard line.

This year's major rule change allows the downing of punts inside the 10. Formerly the ball was moved out to the 20.

The American Football Coaches Association also announced that it will use this second annual midsummer game matching the nation's top college seniors as a tryout for a variation of the "wild card" substitution rule.

In this game, East coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State and West coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota can substitute two men after every play. The existing "wild card" rule allows substitution of one man after every play.

The coaches association is proposing the two-man substitution to the collegiate rules committee and wants to see it in action.

Double workouts on the University of Buffalo campus Tuesday by both 30-man squads wound up scheduled two-a-day sessions. Single workouts are the order for the rest of the week.

The game will mark the first clash between Warmath and Hayes, who have been in the Big Ten conference for years. Ohio State and Minnesota haven't played during Hayes' 11 years with the Buckeyes or Warmath's eight years at Minnesota.

The East has the speed and polish with backs like Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Ohio State's Bob Ferguson and quarterback Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State.

Ritter's, Elks Lose Chair Tilts

The league-leading VFW tossers backed Jack Eckard's four-hit pitching with a 12-hit attack to defeat the Elks, 9-3, at Celanese field yesterday while runner-up Moose edged Ritter's, 4-3, in eight innings at Fort Hill in the Rocking Chair Softball League

The Vets exploded for seven runs in the first two innings with Jimmy Eckard banging out a pair of triples and a single to lead the assault. Vern Penner hit a three-run homer and a double and Barney Spearman collected a single and a two-bagger for the winners.

Bill Cook collected two of the Elks' four bingles, as the losers dropped their 10th decision.

Pete Cecil, who banged out four hits in as many plate appearances, smashed a lead-off home run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give the Moose its one-run decision over Ritter's.

Hayden Phillips tossed a five-hitter in besting a pair of Ritter's hurlers. Odell Warnick took the loss in relief of starter Don Decker.

Ritter's tied the score with three runs in the seventh to send the game into overtime. Two singles and three Moose errors led to the tying rally.

Dapper Giants Defeat Cubs For Third Win, 17-2

The Giants exploded for 10 runs in the first inning and coasted to an easy 17-2 triumph over the Cubs in a Dapper Division game at Post Field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

Steve Clark notched his first mound victory with a four-hitter, striking out 11 Cubs, as he received the benefit of a 19-hit Giants attack.

Jeff Bailey belted two doubles and a triple, Rusty Kunis cracked a homer and three-bagger, Jack Willetts hit a double and two singles and Bobby Harden and Gary Parks smacked triples in the extra-base bombardment. The victory was the third in four games for the Giants while the Cubs went down to defeat for the fourth straight time.

Yankees Sell Cerv To Houston Colts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees sold veteran outfielder Bob Cerv to the Houston Colts Tuesday night for the $20,000 waiver price.

It was the third time the Yankees had peddled Cerv in his 11-year major league career. He was traded to the Kansas City Athletics in 1956 and re-acquired by the Yankees in a deal in 1960. At the conclusion of the 1960 season, Cerv was placed on the American League's expansion list by the Yankees and was picked by the Los Angeles Angels, who traded him back to New York early last season.

Athletics Purchase Consolo From Angels

BOSTON (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics, moving to fill an injury-plagued infield, Tuesday acquired Billy Consolo from the Los Angeles Angels for the waiver price of $20,000.

Consolo was expected to take the shortstop assignment of ailing Kansas City regular Dick Howser.

Valmy Thomas Is Suspended

INT Catcher Given 30 Days For Fracas

COLUMBUS (UPI) — George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, Tuesday suspended catcher Valmy Thomas of Rochester in the International League until July 17.

The suspension grew out of an incident June 16 in a game at Jacksonville, Fla.

Thomas was accused of attacking umpire Ted Lopat after the official had ejected him from the game. Lopat, who later threatened to resign over the incident, said Thomas shoved him and struck him on the chin and lip.

Thomas was playing for Jacksonville at the time, but was traded the next day to Rochester. He originally drew a three-day suspension and a $100 fine from International League President Tommy Richardson, and Lopat, claiming the penalty was not severe enough, threatened to resign.

Trautman last week imposed an indefinite suspension on the former major league catcher. Tuesday's action set the suspension at 30 days, making it retroactive to June 17.

Halimi Regains European Title

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Alfonse Halimi of France regained his European bantamweight championship Tuesday night when he outpointed Pierre Rollo of Italy in a 15-round bout before a crowd of 15,000. Halimi weighed 116½, Rollo 117.

Halimi was in command all the way and Austrian referee Kurt Rad had an easy job. The Algerian-born Parisian — former world bantamweight champion — won nine rounds on The Associated Press card. Three were even and Rollo won three.

AFL To Appeal Anti-Trust Suit

BOSTON (AP) — The American Football League voted Tuesday to appeal its $10 million anti-trust suit against the rival National Football League.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss made the announcement at the league's off-seaso meeting.

He said the vote of the eight-memben executive committee to appeal was unanimous.

U.S. District Court Judge Roszel Thomsen ruled in Baltimore June 12 that the NFL had no monopoly. The judge said the older professional football league had the power to exclude the AFL from virtually any city it desired.

Indians Sign Hurler

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians Tuesday announced the signing of Roger Walters Jr., 17, Mansfield, to a farm club contract.

Walters, a right-handed pitcher, will report in the spring of 1963 to Dubuque of the Midwest League.

Gus Triandos Rejoins Baltimore; Robinson Sent Out

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, in need of right-handed hitting strength, reactivated catcher Gus Triandos Tuesday.

To make room for the injury-prone Triandos the Orioles got waivers on outfielder Earl Robinson and sent him to Rochester of the International League. Robinson had been troubled by a sore right elbow and was used sparingly since mid-May. He was hitting .286 in 63 times at bat.

Triandos was put on the disabled list when he broke his right index finger May 22 in Cleveland. It was his fourth serious injury in four seasons.

Football Bowl Friday To Use New 1962 Rules

Top College Seniors To Play In Contest

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Friday's All-America Football Bowl game will be the first played under 1962 intercollegiate rules, it was announced Tuesday. But the only apparent difference to the spectator or television viewer will be on punts that land inside the 10-yard line.

This year's major rule change allows the downing of punts inside the 10. Formerly the ball was moved out to the 20.

The American Football Coaches Association also announced that it will use this second annual mid-summer game matching the nation's top college seniors as a tryout for a variation of the "wild card" substitution rule.

In this game, East coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State and West coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota can substitute two men after every play. The existing "wild card" rule allows substitution of one man after every play.

The coaches association is proposing the two-man substitution to the collegiate rules committee and wants to see it in action.

Double workouts on the University of Buffalo campus Tuesday by both 30-man squads wound up scheduled two-a-day sessions. Single workouts are the order for the rest of the week.

The game will mark the first clash between Warmath and Hayes, who have been in the Big Ten conference for years. Ohio State and Minnesota haven't played during Hayes' 11 years with the Buckeyes or Warmath's eight years at Minnesota.

The East has the speed and polish with backs like Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Ohio State's Bob Ferguson and quarterback Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State.

The West, winners of last year's 30-20 inaugural, relies on the preponderance of linemen like 255-pound Merlin Olson and 250-pound Clark Miller, a pair of tackles from Utah State. Warmath could start a line averaging more than 240 pounds.

Moose, Vets Notch Wins

Ritter's, Elks Lose Chair Tilts

The league-leading VFW tossers backed Jack Eckard's four-hit pitching with a 12-hit attack to defeat the Elks, 9-3, at Celanese field yesterday while runner-up Moose edged Ritter's, 4-3, in eight innings at Fort Hill in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The Vets exploded for seven runs in the first two innings with Jimmy Eckard banging out a pair of triples and a single to lead the assault. Vern Penner hit a three-run homer and a double and Barney Spearman collected a single and a two-bagger for the winners.

Bill Cook collected two of the Elks' four bingles, as the losers dropped their 10th decision.

Pete Cecil, who banged out four hits in as many plate appearances, smashed a lead-off home run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give the Moose its one-run decision over Ritter's.

Hayden Phillips tossed a five-hitter in besting a pair of Ritter's hurlers. Odell Warnick took the loss in relief of starter Don Decker.

Ritter's tied the score with three runs in the seventh to send the game into overtime. Two singles and three Moose errors led to the tying rally.

Vernon Shrout hit a double for Ritter's while Cecil had four hits for the Moose. The results:

Dapper Giants Defeat Cubs For Third Win, 17-2

The Giants exploded for 10 runs in the first inning and coasted to an easy 17-2 triumph over the Cubs in a Dapper Division game at Post Field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

Steve Clark notched his first mound victory with a four-hitter, striking out 11 Cubs, as he received the benefit of a 19-hit Giants attack.

Jeff Bailey belted two doubles and a triple, Rusty Kunis cracked a homer and three-bagger, Jack Willetts hit a double and two singles and Bobby Harden and Gary Parks smacked triples in the extra-base bombardment. The victory was the third in four games for the Giants while the Cubs went down to defeat for the fourth straight time.

Everly had two of the losers' four bingles.

Another Dapper Division contest between the Phillies and Orioles at East Side field was postponed yesterday because of rain and wet grounds. The contest was reset for 10 a.m. on Saturday at East Side. The results:

Yankees Sell Cerv To Houston Colts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees sold veteran outfielder Bob Cerv to the Houston Colts Tuesday night for the $20,000 waiver price.

It was the third time the Yankees had peddled Cerv in his 11-year major league career. He was traded to the Kansas City Athletics in 1956 and re-acquired by the Yankees in a deal in 1960. At the conclusion of the 1960 season, Cerv was placed on the American League's expansion list by the Yankees and was picked by the Los Angeles Angels, who traded him back to New York early last season.

Athletics Purchase Consolo From Angels

BOSTON (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics, moving to fill an injury-plagued infield, Tuesday acquired Billy Consolo from the Los Angeles Angels for the waiver price of $20,000.

Consolo was expected to take the shortstop assignment of ailing Kansas City regular Dick Howser.

Valmy Thomas Is Suspended

INT Catcher Given 30 Days For Fracas

COLUMBUS (UPI) — George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, Tuesday suspended catcher Valmy Thomas of Rochester in the International League until July 17.

The suspension grew out of an incident June 16 in a game at Jacksonville, Fla.

Thomas was accused of attacking umpire Ted Lopat after the official had ejected him from the game. Lopat, who later threatened to resign over the incident, said Thomas shoved him and struck him on the chin and lip.

Thomas was playing for Jacksonville at the time, but was traded the next day to Rochester. He originally drew a three-day suspension and a $100 fine from International League President Tommy Richardson, and Lopat, claiming the penalty was not severe enough, threatened to resign.

Trautman last week imposed an indefinite suspension on the former major league catcher. Tuesday's action set the suspension at 30 days, making it retroactive to June 17.

Halimi Regains European Title

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Alfonse Halimi of France regained his European bantamweight championship Tuesday night when he outpointed Pierre Rollo of Italy in a 15-round bout before a crowd of 15,000. Halmi weighed 116½, Rollo 117.

Halimi was in command all the way and Austrian referee Kurt Rad had an easy job. The Algerian-born Parisian — former world bantamweight champion — won nine rounds on The Associated Press card. Three were even and Rollo won three.

AFL To Appeal Anti-Trust Suit

BOSTON (AP) — The American Football League voted Tuesday to appeal its $10 million anti-trust suit against the rival National Football League.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss made the announcement at the league's off-seaso meeting.

He said the vote of the eight-memben executive committee to appeal was unanimous.

U.S. District Court Judge Roszel Thomsen ruled in Baltimore June 12 that the NFL had no monopoly. The judge said the older professional football league had the power to exclude the AFL from virtually any city it desired.

Indians Sign Hurler

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians Tuesday announced the signing of Roger Walters Jr., 17, Mansfield, to a farm club contract.

Walters, a right-handed pitcher, will report in the spring of 1963 to Dubuque of the Midwest League.

Gus Triandos Rejoins Baltimore; Robinson Sent Out

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, in need of right-handed hitting strength, reactivated catcher Gus Triandos Tuesday.

To make room for the injury-prone Triandos the Orioles got waivers on outfielder Earl Robinson and sent him to Rochester of the International League. Robinson had been troubled by a sore right elbow and was used sparingly since mid-May. He was hitting .286 in 63 times at bat.

Triandos was put on the disabled list when he broke his right index finger May 22 in Cleveland. It was his fourth serious injury in four seasons.

Cardinals Whip Chicago, 15-3

Four Homers Pace Redbirds' Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals exploded for their season high of nine runs in the eighth inning Tuesday and romped to a 15-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Four homers highlighted a 15-hit bombardment by the Redbirds off loser Dick Ellsworth (4-11) and three successors.

Gene Oliver hit his No. 5 with two on to climax a four-run first-inning uprising. Bill White soloed for No. 13 in the fourth and the big eighth was brought to a crashing crescendo when Carley James slammed his No. 2 with one on and Ken Boyer got a solo shot for his No. 10.

Billie Moffitt Beats Top-Seeded Margaret Smith At Wimbledon

Upset Labeled One Of Biggest In Net History

18-Year-Old U.S. Girl Wins Opening Match 1-6, 6-3, 7-5

By JOHN FARROW

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean Moffitt, a slim 18-year-old from Long Beach, Calif., knocked out top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5 Tuesday in one of the biggest upsets in the history of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships.

Never before had a top-seed been eliminated from the women's singles on the opening day—and this is the 76th Wimbledon championship.

Miss Moffitt, standing only 5-feet-6, was dwarfed in just about everything but fighting spirit by her tall Australian opponent. Miss Smith is about 5-10 and packs a power game to match her size.

The fighting Californian led nine other American girls into the next stage of the championship. Six other Americans were eliminated, including Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.

Sought "Grand Slam"

Miss Smith, holder of the Australian, French and Italian titles, was a 4-5 favorite to add the Wimbledon and U.S. crowns and thus achieve a tennis "grand slam"—a goal also sought by her countryman, Rod Laver, in the men's division.

Miss Moffitt, No. 3 in U.S. rankings, was joined by America's first and second ranked players—Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., seeded second, and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif., seeded eighth.

Misses Moffitt and Hard both gained the third round, having drawn first round byes as did Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica Calif. Those who went into the second round included Mrs. Susman, Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., Gwyn Thomas of Cleveland, Justina Bricka of St. Louis, Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Flo., and Victoria Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Hard Scores

Miss Hard crushed Mrs. Ruth Illingworth of Britain 6-0, 6-2 and Miss Caldwell won over Florence De La Courte of France 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Miss Richey defeated Donna Floyd of Arlington, Va., 11-9, 10-8. Miss Bricka crushed Paule Courteix of France 6-3, 6-1. Miss Alvarez won over Anne Smith of New Zealand 9-7, 6-8, 6-3. Miss Thomas received a default from Freda Walton of Britain. Miss Palmer defeated Pilar Barril of Spain 6-1, 6-1.

Besides Miss Floyd, American losers were Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del.; the veteran Mrs. Margaret du Pont of Joseph, Ore.; Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.; Carol Ann Loop of Arcadia, Calif., and Mrs. Pat Stewart Edrich of Indianapolis.

Miss Varner fell before Maria Bueno of Brazil, the poker-faced little court killer who won two Wimbledon titles before being sidelined by illness a year ago. The score was 6-3, 6-4. Mrs. du Pont was the victim of Christine Truman, the British amazon, 6-2, 6-4.

Eight Teams Advance

Miss Arnold lost to Almust Sturm, a tall, good-looking German fraulein, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3. Miss Loop was beaten by Jane LeHane of Australia 6-3, 6-1. Miss Edrich lost to Susan Wade of Britain 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

In addition to women's singles, Tuesday's program was devoted to first matches in men's doubles and completion of some men's singles battles halted by darkness Monday. In one of these, Ed Rubinoff of Miami, Fla., lost to Jorgen Ulrich of Denmark 6-3, 7-5, 6-8, 1-6, 6-2.

Eight U.S. men, headed by Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., advanced to the second round Monday.

Win Via Forfeit

Gilmore claimed a forfeit victory over Franklin in the scheduled Twilight Baseball League game yesterday at Westernport. The game was rescheduled after being postponed last week.

ONE FOR THE RECORD—It's a world record catch of a Wahoo, at Cat Cay, in the Bahamas. The fish weighed 159 pounds, 10 pounds over the previous record. It was hooked by a Philippine angler. The son of the skipper of a charter boat poses with the big fish.

54 Golfers Enter CCC Invitational

Midge Kauffman Is Late Entry

Cumberland Country Club officials began to compile pairings for the 54 golfers entered in the 12th CCC Invitational Tournament for the Old Export Bowl which will get underway at the Christie Road course on Thursday.

Miss Midge Kauffman, Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, was one of the late entries for this year's tournament. Miss Kauffman was defeated in the Baltimore City Golf Tournament by Mrs. Maurice Glick and was able to participate in the local affair.

Also among the entries is Mrs. Frank Cush, the 1961 Maryland State Women's champion who did not defend her title this year.

Seventeen local women are entered in the 36-hole tournament for the new bowl this year. The second Old Export Bowl, offered by the Cumberland Brewing Company, was retired last year by Mrs. Robert Hughes of Richmond, Va. Miss Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, won the first bowl.

The golfers have been divided into three divisions, 17 in the first group with handicaps through 15, 20 in the second group with handicaps of 16 through 21, and 17 in the third group with handicaps of 21 to 25.

Nine women from the Country Club of Maryland will be here for the 12th consecutive year, local officials said.

Cumberland Legion Tops Westernport Nine, 6-4

Lefty John Sloan Whiffs 12; Locals Cop Second Victory

Lefty John Sloan, getting stronger as the game progressed, pitched Fort Cumberland Post to its second straight victory in the Mountain District Junior American Legion League yesterday at Westernport, beating Victory Post's tossers, 6-4, on an eight-hitter.

Sloan whiffed 12 Westernport batters, 11 of them in the last five innings, and walked only one batter as he gave Cumberland a strong start in defense of the title won last year by the locals. The loss was the first for Westernport which opened its season yesterday. Cumberland opened last Saturday with a 7-3 triumph over Farrady Post of Frostburg.

Bill Norris paced the Cumberland nine at the plate with a three-bagger and a single while Mike Long cracked out three straight singles for the winners. Winfield obtained two of Westernport's eight hits.

Donnie Raines was the losing pitcher, giving up 10 hits in going the route for Victory Post. The results:

Westernport	200	011	000—4 8 0

John Sloan and Joe Ranker. Don Raines and Motz.

K. Of C. Edges Jaycees, 1-0, In Frostburg Loop

The league-leading Knights of Columbus scored their seventh straight win in the Frostburg Little League yesterday, edging the Jaycees, 1-0, in a game in which both teams obtained only one hit.

Four straight walks off loser Dennis Clark gave the K. of C. its only run in the fifth inning. Clark and winner Keith Schell each allowed one hit and struck out 15 batters in the hurlers' duel. Schell got the K. of C. single while George Reider had the only single for the Jaycees.

The loss was the fourth in seven decisions for the Jaycees this season. The results:

K. of C.	000	010—	1 1 1
Jaycees	000	000—	0 1 1

Keith Schell and Frank Willetts. Dennis Clark and Dan Edwards.

Colts Return John Anderson

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Colts returned pitcher John Anderson to Rochester of the International League Tuesday for $12,500.

The departure of Anderson, who was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals from Rochester a year ago, left the Colt roster total at 23, two below the limit.

Tri-State Bows To Orioles, 4-2

The LaVale Orioles picked up their fifth victory of the season yesterday, defeating the Tri-State Memorial tossers, 4-2, in a Pen Mar Little League game at Cresaptown.

Terry Horn tossed a three-hitter for the winners to edge Bobby Deremer in a hurlers' duel. Horn obtained three of the winners' five hits, including a three-bagger. Howard Custer had a triple for Tri-State.

The Corriganville at Barrelville and Cresaptown vs. Wellersburg tilts yesterday were postponed because of rain. The Corriganville at Barrelville game was reset for Friday at 6 p.m. It marked the second time the two teams were rained out. Barrelville was leading 1-0 on June 5 when rain washed out the game after 3½ innings. The results:

LaVale Orioles	100	201—	4 5 0
Tri-State Memorial	002	000—	2 3 4

Terry Horn and Allan Krimm, Lorn Phillips (4). Bobby Deremer and Larry Beachy.

Billie Moffitt Beats Top-Seeded Margaret Smith At Wimbledon

Upset Labeled One Of Biggest In Net History

18-Year-Old U.S. Girl Wins Opening Match 1-6, 6-3, 7-5

By JOHN FARROW

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean Moffitt, a slim 18-year-old from Long Beach, Calif., knocked out top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5 Tuesday in one of the biggest upsets in the history of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships.

Never before had a top-seed been eliminated from the women's singles on the opening day—and this is the 76th Wimbledon championship.

Miss Moffitt, standing only 5-feet-6, was dwarfed in just about everything but fighting spirit by her tall Australian opponent. Miss Smith is about 5-10 and packs a power game to match her size.

The fighting Californian led nine other American girls into the next stage of the championship. Six other Americans were eliminated, including Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.

Sought "Grand Slam"

Miss Smith, holder of the Australian, French and Italian titles, was a 4-5 favorite to add the Wimbledon and U.S. crowns and thus achieve a tennis "grand slam"—a goal also sought by her countryman, Rod Laver, in the men's division.

Miss Moffitt, No. 3 in U.S. rankings, was joined by America's first and second ranked players—Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., seeded second, and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif., seeded eighth.

Misses Moffitt and Hard both gained the third round, having drawn first round byes as did Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica Calif. Those who went into the second round included Mrs. Susman, Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., Gwyn Thomas of Cleveland, Justina Bricka of St. Louis, Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Flo., and Victoria Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Hard Scores

Miss Hard crushed Mrs. Ruth Illingworth of Britain 6-0, 6-2 and Miss Caldwell won over Florence De La Courte of France 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Miss Richey defeated Donna Floyd of Arlington, Va., 11-9, 10-8. Miss Bricka crushed Paule Courteix of France 6-3, 6-1. Miss Alvarez won over Anne Smith of New Zealand 9-7, 6-8, 6-3. Miss Thomas received a default from Freda Walton of Britain. Miss Palmer defeated Pilar Barril of Spain 6-1, 6-1.

Besides Miss Floyd, American losers were Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del.; the veteran Mrs. Margaret du Pont of Joseph, Ore.; Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.; Carol Ann Loop of Arcadia, Calif., and Mrs. Pat Stewart Edrich of Indianapolis.

Miss Varner fell before Maria Bueno of Brazil, the poker-faced little court killer who won two Wimbledon titles before being sidelined by illness a year ago. The score was 6-3, 6-4. Mrs. du Pont was the victim of Christine Truman, the British amazon, 6-2, 6-4.

Eight Teams Advance

Miss Arnold lost to Almust Sturm, a tall, good-looking German fraulein, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3. Miss Loop was beaten by Jane LeHane of Australia 6-3, 6-1. Miss Edrich lost to Susan Wade of Britain 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

In addition to women's singles, Tuesday's program was devoted to first matches in men's doubles and completion of some men's singles battles halted by darkness Monday. In one of these, Ed Rubinoff of Miami, Fla., lost to Jorgen Ulrich of Denmark 6-3, 7-5, 6-8, 1-6, 6-2.

Eight U.S. men, headed by Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., advanced to the second round Monday.

Win Via Forfeit

Gilmore claimed a forfeit victory over Franklin in the scheduled Twilight Baseball League game yesterday at Westernport. The game was rescheduled after being postponed last week.

ONE FOR THE RECORD—It's a world record catch of a Wahoo, at Cat Cay, in the Bahamas. The fish weighed 159 pounds, 10 pounds over the previous record. It was hooked by a Philippine angler. The son of the skipper of a charter boat poses with the big fish.

54 Golfers Enter CCC Invitational

Midge Kauffman Is Late Entry

Cumberland Country Club officials began to compile pairings for the 54 golfers entered in the 12th CCC Invitational Tournament for the Old Export Bowl which will get underway at the Christie Road course on Thursday.

Miss Midge Kauffman, Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, was one of the late entries for this year's tournament. Miss Kauffman was defeated in the Baltimore City Golf Tournament by Mrs. Maurice Glick and was able to participate in the local affair.

Also among the entries is Mrs. Frank Cush, the 1961 Maryland State Women's champion who did not defend her title this year.

Seventeen local women are entered in the 36-hole tournament for the new bowl this year. The second Old Export Bowl, offered by the Cumberland Brewing Company, was retired last year by Mrs. Robert Hughes of Richmond, Va. Miss Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, won the first bowl.

The golfers have been divided into three divisions, 17 in the first group with handicaps through 15, 20 in the second group with handicaps of 16 through 21, and 17 in the third group with handicaps of 21 to 25.

Nine women from the Country Club of Maryland will be here for the 12th consecutive year, local officials said.

Altogether nine clubs from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia are being represented in the two-day tournament.

Phillies Defeat Colts Twice, 2-0, 6-4

Cumberland Legion Tops Westernport Nine, 6-4

Lefty John Sloan Whiffs 12; Locals Cop Second Victory

Lefty John Sloan, getting stronger as the game progressed, pitched Fort Cumberland Post to its second straight victory in the Mountain District Junior American Legion League yesterday at Westernport, beating Victory Post's tossers, 6-4, on an eight-hitter.

Sloan whiffed 12 Westernport batters, 11 of them in the last five innings, and walked only one batter as he gave Cumberland a strong start in defense of the title won last year by the locals. The loss was the first for Westernport which opened its season yesterday. Cumberland opened last Saturday with a 7-3 triumph over Farrady Post of Frostburg.

Bill Norris paced the Cumberland nine at the plate with a three-bagger and a single while Mike Long cracked out three straight singles for the winners. Winfield obtained two of Westernport's eight hits.

Donnie Raines was the losing pitcher, giving up 10 hits in going the route for Victory Post. The results:

Cumberland	003	020	010—6 10 3
Westernport	200	011	000—4 8 0

John Sloan and Joe Ranker. Don Raines and Motz.

K. Of C. Edges Jaycees, 1-0, In Frostburg Loop

The league-leading Knights of Columbus scored their seventh straight win in the Frostburg Little League yesterday, edging the Jaycees, 1-0, in a game in which both teams obtained only one hit.

Four straight walks off loser Dennis Clark gave the K. of C. its only run in the fifth inning. Clark and winner Keith Schell each allowed one hit and struck out 15 batters in the hurlers' duel. Schell got the K. of C. single while George Reider had the only single for the Jaycees.

The loss was the fourth in seven decisions for the Jaycees this season. The results:

K. of C.	000	010—	1 1 1
Jaycees	000	000—	0 1 1

Keith Schell and Frank Willetts. Dennis Clark and Dan Edwards.

Colts Return John Anderson

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Colts returned pitcher John Anderson to Rochester of the International League Tuesday for $12,500.

The departure of Anderson, who was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals from Rochester a year ago, left the Colt roster total at 23, two below the limit.

Tri-State Bows To Orioles, 4-2

The LaVale Orioles picked up their fifth victory of the season yesterday, defeating the Tri-State Memorial tossers, 4-2, in a Pen Mar Little League game at Cresaptown.

Terry Horn tossed a three-hitter for the winners to edge Bobby Deremer in a hurlers' duel. Horn obtained three of the winners' five hits, including a three-bagger. Howard Custer had a triple for Tri-State.

The Corriganville at Barrelville and Cresaptown vs. Wellersburg tilts yesterday were postponed because of rain. The Corriganville at Barrelville game was reset for Friday at 6 p.m. It marked the second time the two teams were rained out. Barrelville was leading 1-0 on June 5 when rain washed out the game after 3½ innings. The results:

LaVale Orioles	100	201—	4 5 0
Tri-State Memorial	002	000—	2 3 4

Terry Horn and Allan Krimm, Lorn Phillips (4). Bobby Deremer and Larry Beachy.

Dan Angels Cop Third Win, Top Braves, 10 To 6

Father Arthur Bastress' Angels captured their third victory of the season in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League, beating the Braves, 10-6, yesterday at Constitution Park.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Braves who have yet to win a game this year.

Larry Crabtree struck out five, walked three and allowed six hits in going the route for the Angels. McLean was the loser.

Vince Thompson hit a double and single and had four runs batted in to pace the Angels at the plate. Karl Muller had a triple and single for the Braves.

Rick Twigg excelled at first base for the Angels and Steve Friend starred at shortstop for the Braves. The results:

Stocks Open Strong, Hit Snag, Close On Downside

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks made an ambitious start on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday but couldn't hold their lead.

Although more of them showed gains for the day than showed declines—554 against 501—the leading issues which make up the averages showed enough losses to bring both to their lows for the year.

Dow-Jones industrial average closed at 535.76, off 1.01, and again at a new low since Oct. 25, 1958. Standard & Poor's was at 52.32, down a slight 0.13, again a low since late 1960.

For traders and investors who have been looking hopefully for signs of an upturn in the fidgety market, the first hour was bright. Stocks showed momentum from their rising level of the last hour Monday, and levels were up.

But at the close, it was a story which has grown tiresome to investors. AT&T, up 70 cents at the opening, was off 88 cents to $100.38; Bethlehem Steel, up 13 cents during the day, was down 13 cents Chrysler, up 88 cents at the opening, down 63 cents; DuPont, once up $2, down $1; Standard of New Jersey, up 38 cents, ended off 25 cents; U.S. Steel, after an early rise of 13 cents, off 63 cents to $41.63.

Thus for the second day in a row, the market closed with the D-J average down in the 535 range, but showing little sign of ability to rise from it.

The market pattern for the day was almost the direct opposite of the previous day's. Not only was volume substantially lighter—4,630,000 shares against 7,090,000 the previous day — but where the market had been stronger in the last hour Monday it was weaker Tuesday.

Stocks Open Strong, Hit Snag, Close On Downside

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks made an ambitious start on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday but couldn't hold their lead.

Although more of them showed gains for the day than showed declines—554 against 501—the leading issues which make up the averages showed enough losses to bring both to their lows for the year.

Dow-Jones industrial average closed at 535.76, off 1.01, and again at a new low since Oct. 25, 1958. Standard & Poor's was at 52.32, down a slight 0.13, again a low since late 1960.

For traders and investors who have been looking hopefully for signs of an upturn in the fidgety market, the first hour was bright. Stocks showed momentum from their rising level of the last hour Monday, and levels were up.

But at the close, it was a story which has grown tiresome to investors. AT&T, up 70 cents at the opening, was off 88 cents to $100.38; Bethlehem Steel, up 13 cents during the day, was down 13 cents Chrysler, up 88 cents at the opening, down 63 cents; DuPont, once up $2, down $1; Standard of New Jersey, up 38 cents, ended off 25 cents; U.S. Steel, after an early rise of 13 cents, off 63 cents to $41.63.

Thus for the second day in a row, the market closed with the D-J average down in the 535 range, but showing little sign of ability to rise from it.

The market pattern for the day was almost the direct opposite of the previous day's. Not only was volume substantially lighter—4,630,000 shares against 7,090,000 the previous day — but where the market had been stronger in the last hour Monday it was weaker Tuesday.

Cards Of Thanks

We would like to express our thanks and appreciations for all contributions, flowers and kindness extended to us in memory of our dearly beloved father, Edward Harry Martin.

The children of the late Harry Martin.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alonzo C. Fleegle who passed away 6 years ago today, June 27 1956.

Loving thoughts of him so dear,
Often brings a silent tear.
He lives with us in memory still,
Not just for today, but always will.
Sadly missed by Wife, Son and Daughter.

We would like to express our thanks and appreciations for all contributions, flowers and kindness extended to us in memory of our dearly beloved father, Edward Harry Martin.

The children of the late Harry Martin.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alonzo C. Fleegle who passed away 6 years ago today, June 27 1956.

Loving thoughts of him so dear,
Often brings a silent tear.
He lives with us in memory still,
Not just for today, but always will.

Fishing Rodeo This Saturday At Oldtown

Hundreds of local youngsters are expected to try to land "that big one" and win valuable prizes at the 14th annual Fishing Rodeo Saturday at the Battie Mixon fishing pond at Oldtown.

The event, sponsored by the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Cumberland Outdoor Club and city Recreation Department, will get underway at 10 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m. Prizes for various sizes and kinds of fish will be awarded at conclusion of the fishing period.

The city's supervised playgrounds are making plans for sending delegations and a special program for handicapped youngsters is being arranged.

Approximately 100 prizes have been donated by local merchants and the sponsoring organizations have begun to gather them. In addition three trophies are to be awarded. The Outdoor Club will give the P. O. Weber Memorial Trophy for the largest bass; the Oldtown Club the Battie Mixon Trophy for the largest catfish; and the Oldtown VFW a trophy for the largest bluegill.

The exact number of fish to be stocked is not known but Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said fish will arrive here within a couple of days. When stocking is completed, that section of the old canal will be closed and posted through the cooperation of Charles H. Milton Jr. chief game warden, who also has removed the limits on size and ruled that participants will not need a fishing license during the Fishing Rodeo.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, said it is hoped that the rodeo will be a "family affair" and that families will spend the day and bring picnic lunches. The area is being cleared by the Oldtown Club and a few picnic tables will be available.

George D. Walter, commissioner of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, will be master of ceremonies.

American carpets are truly international. It is possible for a single carpet to contain fibers from Argentina, New Zealand, Iran, Indian, Scotland and North Africa since the wool produced in these countries stands wear better than that from U.S. sheep.

HONORED—Junior R. Haines, Keyser, guidance director for Mineral county schools, has been selected to attend a nine-week Counseling and Guidance Training Institute at West Virginia University. Major purpose of the program is to improve professional competencies in the identification of able secondary school counselors. The institute will end August 17.

Girl Scouts Prepare For 'Roundup'

A patrol which will represent Shawnee Council at the Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Lake Champlain in Vermont July 18-31 has been undergoing intensive training for months.

The local patrol will be among 10,000 Girl Scout and Adult leaders at the roundup which is part of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting. Campers, from 14 through 17 years of age, will be joined by approximately Girl Guide Rangers, equivalent of Girl Scouts, from 20 countries. The Roundup, third sponsored by Girl Scouts, is the largest event for teenage girls in the free world.

A "city" of 6,000 multicolored tents will be erected in the 250-acre Button Bay State Park and adjacent areas, located about 25 miles southwest of Burlington, Vermont.

The eight members of the local patrol and their four alternates who have been undergoing training for the event are as follows:

Deborah Lee Boden, Cumberland, patrol leader; Martha Kazlo, Westernport, assistant patrol leader; Arna Arnold, Romney; Sandra Kay Harvey, Swanton; Carter Mason, LaVale; Sally Powers, Cumberland; Sandra Serf, Cumberland; and Kathleen Sullivan, Cumberland, campers. Alternates are Jane Zimowski, Cumberland; Anna Belle Thomas, Oakland; Roberta Rizer, Frostburg; and Beverly Smith, LaVale.

Pitching tents, sleeping on the ground, cooking over charcoal and making a table have all been part of their training.

Recently, the group had its last practice camp at Camp Harry Biggs near Swanton. When camp was broken, tents were packed for shipping. Patrol baggage and individual duffle bags will leave here Thursday by motor carrier.

The group will have one final get-together at the Fortney Cottage on Deep Creek Lake Friday and Saturday.

The patrol has chosen "Harmonettes" as its name which ties in with the close harmony they will exhibit in their demonstration.

Group Protests Appointment

A letter was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the LaVale Century Club in which the organization voiced its disappointment with the recent naming of a Frostburg man to the board of trustees of the County Library.

The LaVale group pointed out that the organization had been among the leaders in working for establishment of the library system and felt that there had been no necessity for such haste in naming someone to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Jeannette Johnson, who has moved out of the county.

The LaVale club has recommended three persons for consideration in making future appointments to the library board. They are George Newman, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mrs. David Whitworth, 801 Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale; and Mrs. William A. Cook, Cash Valley Road. Newman resided in LaVale until he moved to Cumberland.

ACCEPTS POST—Miss Linda Kay Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Cook, 94 East Hampshire Street, Piedmont, has accepted a position with the Jefferson County Board of Education. She will teach the Fourth Grade at Wright Denny Elementary School in Charles Town. Miss Cook was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education last month from Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, and is now employed on the administrative staff at Charles Town General Hospital. She is a graduate of Piedmont High School and Potomac State College, Keyser. Her new duties will begin in September.

Fishing Rodeo This Saturday At Oldtown

Hundreds of local youngsters are expected to try to land "that big one" and win valuable prizes at the 14th annual Fishing Rodeo Saturday at the Battie Mixon fishing pond at Oldtown.

The event, sponsored by the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Cumberland Outdoor Club and city Recreation Department, will get underway at 10 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m. Prizes for various sizes and kinds of fish will be awarded at conclusion of the fishing period.

The city's supervised playgrounds are making plans for sending delegations and a special program for handicapped youngsters is being arranged.

Approximately 100 prizes have been donated by local merchants and the sponsoring organizations have begun to gather them. In addition three trophies are to be awarded. The Outdoor Club will give the P. O. Weber Memorial Trophy for the largest bass; the Oldtown Club the Battie Mixon Trophy for the largest catfish; and the Oldtown VFW a trophy for the largest bluegill.

The exact number of fish to be stocked is not known but Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said fish will arrive here within a couple of days. When stocking is completed, that section of the old canal will be closed and posted through the cooperation of Charles H. Milton Jr. chief game warden, who also has removed the limits on size and ruled that participants will not need a fishing license during the Fishing Rodeo.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, said it is hoped that the rodeo will be a "family affair" and that families will spend the day and bring picnic lunches. The area is being cleared by the Oldtown Club and a few picnic tables will be available.

George D. Walter, commissioner of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, will be master of ceremonies.

Girl Scouts Prepare For 'Roundup'

A patrol which will represent Shawnee Council at the Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Lake Champlain in Vermont July 18-31 has been undergoing intensive training for months.

The local patrol will be among 10,000 Girl Scout and Adult leaders at the roundup which is part of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting. Campers, from 14 through 17 years of age, will be joined by approximately Girl Guide Rangers, equivalent of Girl Scouts, from 20 countries. The Roundup, third sponsored by Girl Scouts, is the largest event for teenage girls in the free world.

A "city" of 6,000 multicolored tents will be erected in the 250-acre Button Bay State Park and adjacent areas, located about 25 miles southwest of Burlington, Vermont.

The eight members of the local patrol and their four alternates who have been undergoing training for the event are as follows:

Deborah Lee Boden, Cumberland, patrol leader; Martha Kazlo, Westernport, assistant patrol leader; Arna Arnold, Romney; Sandra Kay Harvey, Swanton; Carter Mason, LaVale; Sally Powers, Cumberland; Sandra Serf, Cumberland; and Kathleen Sullivan, Cumberland, campers. Alternates are Jane Zimowski, Cumberland; Anna Belle Thomas, Oakland; Roberta Rizer, Frostburg; and Beverly Smith, LaVale.

Pitching tents, sleeping on the ground, cooking over charcoal and making a table have all been part of their training.

Recently, the group had its last practice camp at Camp Harry Biggs near Swanton. When camp was broken, tents were packed for shipping. Patrol baggage and individual duffle bags will leave here Thursday by motor carrier.

The group will have one final get-together at the Fortney Cottage on Deep Creek Lake Friday and Saturday.

The patrol has chosen "Harmonettes" as its name which ties in with the close harmony they will exhibit in their demonstration.

Group Protests Appointment

A letter was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the LaVale Century Club in which the organization voiced its disappointment with the recent naming of a Frostburg man to the board of trustees of the County Library.

The LaVale group pointed out that the organization had been among the leaders in working for establishment of the library system and felt that there had been no necessity for such haste in naming someone to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Jeannette Johnson, who has moved out of the county.

The LaVale club has recommended three persons for consideration in making future appointments to the library board. They are George Newman, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mrs. David Whitworth, 801 Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale; and Mrs. William A. Cook, Cash Valley Road. Newman resided in LaVale until he moved to Cumberland.

ACCEPTS POST—Miss Linda Kay Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Cook, 94 East Hampshire Street, Piedmont, has accepted a position with the Jefferson County Board of Education. She will teach the Fourth Grade at Wright Denny Elementary School in Charles Town. Miss Cook was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education last month from Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, and is now employed on the administrative staff at Charles Town General Hospital. She is a graduate of Piedmont High School and Potomac State College, Keyser. Her new duties will begin in September.

Ruling On Law Aids Group In Pollution Fight

Legal Opinion Said 'Major Breakthrough'

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Water Pollution Control Commission has been given a legal arm in its efforts to regulate the discharge of waste material of companies connected into municipal sewage systems.

Earlier this month, the commission requested an opinion from the attorney general's office on whether the agency's regulations enabled them to control waste matter from a coin-operated laundry which went into a municipal sewage system.

The attorney general told the commission it may "establish standards, or utilize present standards, to control the quality of a discharge from an industrial operation into a municipal sanitary sewage system."

Paul W. McKee, director of the Pollution Control Department, said Tuesday "we consider the opinion of the attorney general a major breakthrough."

He said the commission formerly believed that once a company hooked into a municipal sewage system, the responsibility for control of wastes was with the municipality.

He said if municipalities were responsible, then pollution control would come under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Health.

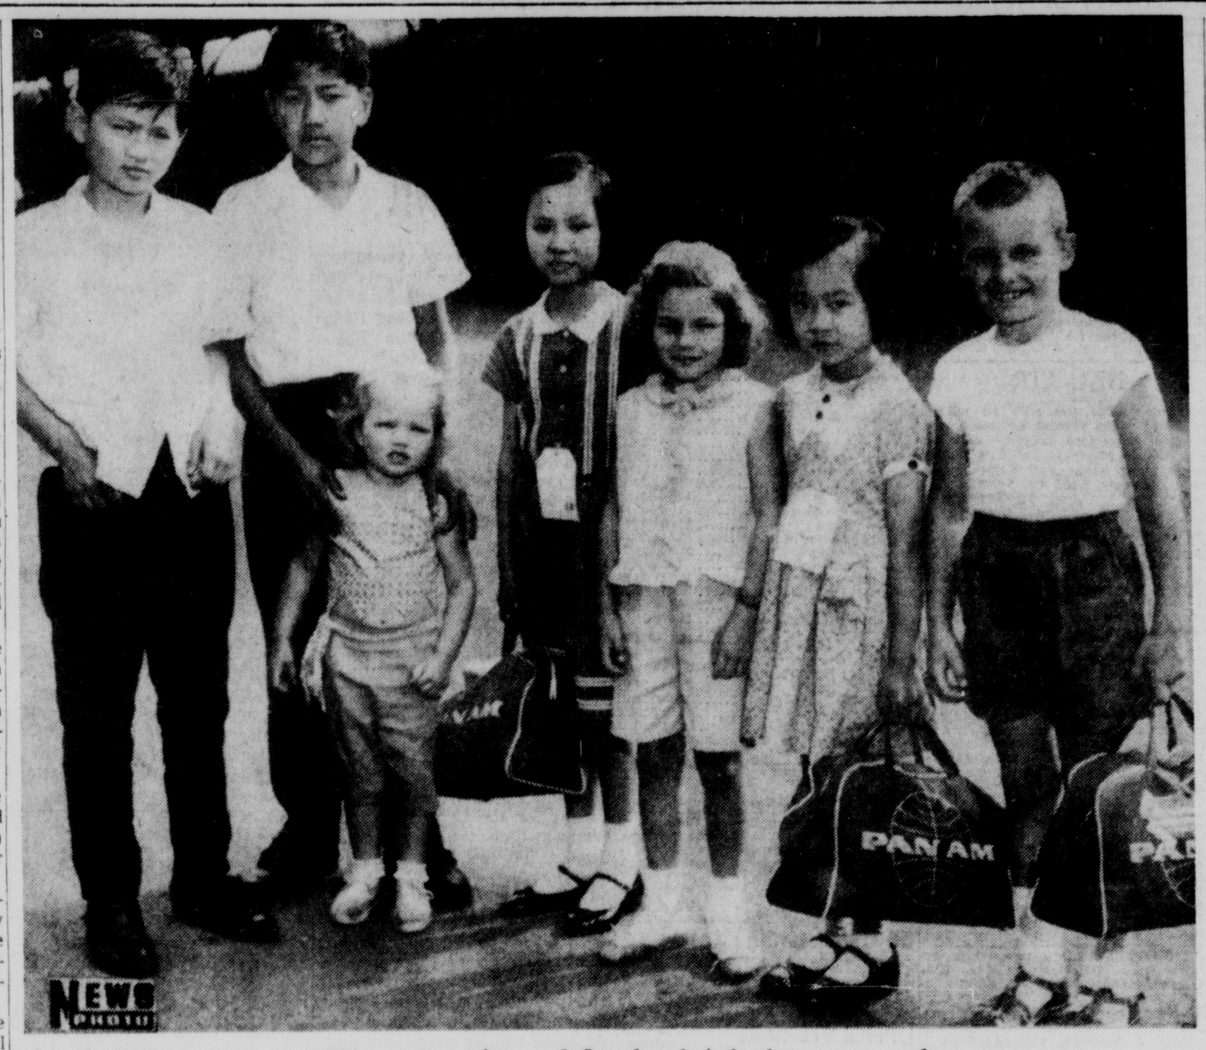

McKee said the Health Department has been handicapped in getting municipalities to control wastes because the cities lack the money and their systems are unable to handle the increased load.

"With this ruling," McKee said, "we can see that the industry treats the waste before it is discharged into the municipal system."

He said though the opinion was asked in reference to coin-operated laundries, the ruling could have a far-reaching effect on other industries which must discharge wastes.

McKee said many municipalities, in order to attract new industry, would promise sewage facilities which would not meet the state's standards when saddled with the increased workload.

He said in the past the companies would give the responsibility of waste treatment to the municipality, but now the commission has a legal arm which it can use to put the responsibility back on the the companies.

PE Business Continuing To Improve

Report Is Given At Board Meeting

General business conditions in this area are "continuing to improve" was voiced yesterday by R. G. MacDonald, president of the Potomac Edison Company, during its annual board of directors meeting in Frederick.

These business improvements, he said, are reflected in the firm's increased kilowatt - hour sales for the year. Results for the first five months show an improvement of 13 per cent in kilowatt-hour sales over the same period last year, the utility company president reported.

The largest gain, he said, came in the sale of power to industrial customers, who this year used 19 per cent more electricity than during the same period in 1961.

This increased power use came both from new industries which have begun production in this area and from older established industrial customers who have increased production and expanded their operations.

Other sales figures showed an increase of eight per cent in the kilowatt-hours used by residential customers and a 10 per cent in power used by commercial customers.

President MacDonald said that construction of company service-improvement projects throughout the four-state area will proceed at a more rapid rate if good weather conditions prevail.

Referring to its advertising program, he said the company has received two first prizes in a competition conducted by a nation-wide utility association — one for a Civil War Centennial promotion program designed to increase tourist travel and area development interest, and one for a PE program conducted for electric appliances dealers throughout this area.

Also, national recognition was received for special awards given the local utility by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa. and the United States Civil War Centennial Commission.

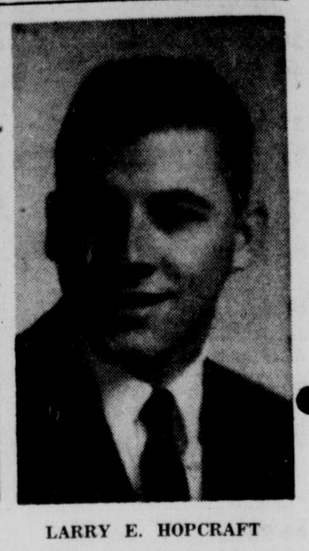

At yesterday's meeting the board re-elected Earle S. Thompson, chairman of the board; R. G. MacDonald, president; Charles D. Lyon, A. J. Bowen, M. J. Urner, E. Wallace Wilkinson, vice presidents.

Also J. M. McCardell, secretary-treasurer; Allan M. Creed, comptroller; Galen C. Smith, assistant comptroller; W. Eugene Sanders and Edgar H. Koons, Jr. assistant secretaries; A. Robert Moss, assistant treasurer; Stanley S. Seip, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

Owen E. Hitchins and John J. McMullen, current members of the PE board from Cumberland, were re-elected directors.

Three principals and 16 teachers who retired at the close of the 1961-62 school year have devoted more than 800 years to education, according to a report prepared for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners by County School Supt. Ralph R. Webster.

Appeal Filed In Moorefield Slaying Case

Rexroad Claims Trial Not Fair

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — John Rexroad, a Moorefield service station operator, appealed to the State Supreme Court Tuesday from his conspiracy conviction in the death of a Virginia man.

Rexroad was one of five men indicted in the case. He was sentenced to 5 to 18 years imprisonment and given five years of probation after a Hardy County Circuit Court jury convicted him June 28, 1961, on a charge of conspiracy to commit second degree murder.

The charge resulted from the death of Eldridge Lee Ritter of Stephens City, Va., in July 1960. Ritter died from loss of blood. His right arm had been cut and apparently had been raked on the broken window of his car.

Rexroad's attorneys contended in the Supreme Court petition that he did not receive a fair trial. They said the lower court overruled a motion for a mistrial after Ritter's widow, seated at the counsel table, cried out on several occasions, and at one point a woman juror cried with her.

Machen Backs High Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hervey Machen, chairman of the Maryland Legislative Committee on the Potomac River, says he favors construction of a high dam on the Potomac above Washington.

Machen, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Prince Georges County, made it clear Tuesday he was speaking for himself and not for the committee. He said he doesn't expect the committee to reach a decision until fall.

The committee met Tuesday to discuss river-development proposals with Army Engineers. It will confer with Maryland planning officials and health experts Wednesday.

A high dam near Seneca, Md., would flood land in Maryland and Virginia and would cover a part of the C&O Canal.

Machen said he favors a high dam at Seneca "unless someone proves beyond doubt that an alternative plan will provide an adequate water supply for future needs."

Bakery, Bar Hit By Fire

Major property damage was caused early this morning in a two-alarm fire which apparently originated in the rear of Dave Caporale's Bakery, 136 North Mechanic Street.

Firemen at Central station received a call at 12:48 a. m. and moments later West Side firemen were called to assist in fighting the fire.

Heavy smoke which spread from the partitions of the bakery to the next door business establishment, The Hi-Dee Bar, 138 North Mechanic, was detected in downtown Cumberland and attracted many people to the scene.

It is believed the fire originated in the rear of the bakery where the flames broke through the roof and were quenched by the firemen.

Heavy property damage was caused in both establishments. City police checked a three-story apartment house next to the bar but apparently no one was there.

Effie Shanholtz who occupies the apartment was reported to have been at work at the Amcelle plant at the time of the fire.

Gas masks were used by firemen who entered the burning buildings to determine where the fire was. A smoke ejector was also used to clear heavy smoke from the burning buildings.

Ruling On Law Aids Group In Pollution Fight

Legal Opinion Said 'Major Breakthrough'

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Water Pollution Control Commission has been given a legal arm in its efforts to regulate the discharge of waste material of companies connected into municipal sewage systems.

Earlier this month, the commission requested an opinion from the attorney general's office on whether the agency's regulations enabled them to control waste matter from a coin-operated laundry which went into a municipal sewage system.

The attorney general told the commission it may "establish standards, or utilize present standards, to control the quality of a discharge from an industrial operation into a municipal sanitary sewage system."

Paul W. McKee, director of the Pollution Control Department, said Tuesday "we consider the opinion of the attorney general a major breakthrough."

He said the commission formerly believed that once a company hooked into a municipal sewage system, the responsibility for control of wastes was with the municipality.

He said if municipalities were responsible, then pollution control would come under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Health.

McKee said the Health Department has been handicapped in getting municipalities to control wastes because the cities lack the money and their systems are unable to handle the increased load.

"With this ruling," McKee said, "we can see that the industry treats the waste before it is discharged into the municipal system."

He said though the opinion was asked in reference to coin-operated laundries, the ruling could have a far-reaching effect on other industries which must discharge wastes.

McKee said many municipalities, in order to attract new industry, would promise sewage facilities which would not meet the state's standards when saddled with the increased workload.

He said in the past the companies would give the responsibility of waste treatment to the municipality, but now the commission has a legal arm which it can use to put the responsibility back on the the companies.

PE Business Continuing To Improve

Report Is Given At Board Meeting

General business conditions in this area are "continuing to improve" was voiced yesterday by R. G. MacDonald, president of the Potomac Edison Company, during its annual board of directors meeting in Frederick.

These business improvements, he said, are reflected in the firm's increased kilowatt - hour sales for the year. Results for the first five months show an improvement of 13 per cent in kilowatt-hour sales over the same period last year, the utility company president reported.

The largest gain, he said, came in the sale of power to industrial customers, who this year used 19 per cent more electricity than during the same period in 1961.

This increased power use came both from new industries which have begun production in this area and from older established industrial customers who have increased production and expanded their operations.

Other sales figures showed an increase of eight per cent in the kilowatt-hours used by residential customers and a 10 per cent in power used by commercial customers.

President MacDonald said that construction of company service-improvement projects throughout the four-state area will proceed at a more rapid rate if good weather conditions prevail.

Referring to its advertising program, he said the company has received two first prizes in a competition conducted by a nation-wide utility association — one for a Civil War Centennial promotion program designed to increase tourist travel and area development interest, and one for a PE program conducted for electric appliances dealers throughout this area.

Also, national recognition was received for special awards given the local utility by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa. and the United States Civil War Centennial Commission.

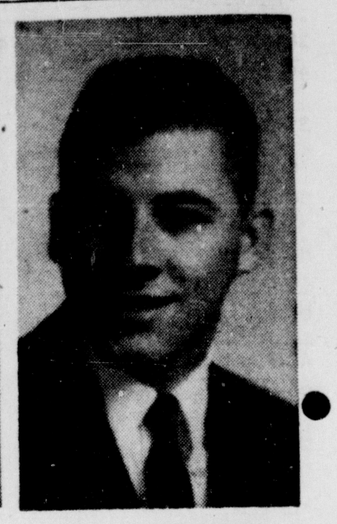

At yesterday's meeting the board re-elected Earle S. Thompson, chairman of the board; R. G. MacDonald, president; Charles D. Lyon, A. J. Bowen, M. J. Urner, E. Wallace Wilkinson, vice presidents.

Also J. M. McCardell, secretary-treasurer; Allan M. Creed, comptroller; Galen C. Smith, assistant comptroller; W. Eugene Sanders and Edgar H. Koons, Jr. assistant secretaries; A. Robert Moss, assistant treasurer; Stanley S. Seip, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

Owen E. Hitchins and John J. McMullen, current members of the PE board from Cumberland, were re-elected directors.

Appeal Filed In Moorefield Slaying Case

Rexroad Claims Trial Not Fair

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — John Rexroad, a Moorefield service station operator, appealed to the State Supreme Court Tuesday from his conspiracy conviction in the death of a Virginia man.

Rexroad was one of five men indicted in the case. He was sentenced to 5 to 18 years imprisonment and given five years of probation after a Hardy County Circuit Court jury convicted him June 28, 1961, on a charge of conspiracy to commit second degree murder.

The charge resulted from the death of Eldridge Lee Ritter of Stephens City, Va., in July 1960. Ritter died from loss of blood. His right arm had been cut and apparently had been raked on the broken window of his car.

Rexroad's attorneys contended in the Supreme Court petition that he did not receive a fair trial. They said the lower court overruled a motion for a mistrial after Ritter's widow, seated at the counsel table, cried out on several occasions, and at one point a woman juror cried with her.
